DEA 'Taste of Dwight'

- Updates -

Since announcing plans to hold the first "Taste of Dwight," the DEA has made several updates concerning the schedule of the event, as well as vendor-related issues. "Taste of Dwight," which plans to highlight local businesses around Dwight, as well as provide a time of fun activities for the community, will take place August 10, from 2 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., at Renfrew Park, Dwight.

Kicking off the live entertainment will be Sarah and Luke at 2 p.m., followed by Marcos Mendez, Scott Marek, Linds and Chad, and, finally, Pete Jive. Each will perform for about an hour, so there will be music throughout the entire event.

From 3 p.m. to 7 p.m., Kids Corner, which will have games, a scavenger hunt, and plenty of fun activities for children, will be available.

There will also be a beer garden, in addition to plenty of non-alcoholic beverages being sold by various vendors.

Harvest Days Home Run Derby Tryouts will take place from 12 p.m. to 3 p.m., and will then be followed by three, hour-long Co-ed softball games.

There will be plenty of delicious food on hand from Dwight restaurants, allowing you to 'taste' some hometown favorites for a fee.

Vendors will begin set up at 12 noon.

To ensure guests visit the booths, the DEA is sponsoring Vendor Bingo. People at the event must visit the booth to fill the square on a card. This card will be provided by the DEA, and is a great way to starting a conversation.

Cost to set up a 10' by 10' booth varies, depending on the type of business. For non-profit organizations, the booth is free. For non-food businesses and other organizations, the space is free to those with existing Dwight Economic Alliance memberships or a new membership. Restaurants need not pay for booth space, but DEA will receive a percentage of sales, which is detailed in the registration form.

In order to make things easier for restaurants selling food, the DEA will sell food tickets to be used for all transactions during the event. This will ensure staff will not need to deal with cash directly.

Even if, as a vendor, there is not anything readily suitable to sell, it is still a great platform to use to market the business to new and old customers.

Any interested vendors, or anyone wanting to volunteer, should contact Shayla at 815-252-8946.

SHERRI RHOADES, LEFT, will be the new director of the Prairie Creek Public Library in Dwight as Kristin Glatz, center, will be retiring from that position. Bev Jensen, right, is retiring after 20 years of dedicated service to the library.

Library Open House August 4

Kristin Glatz, Bev Jensen to Retire;
Sherri Rhoades, New Director

by Bridget De Waard

On August 4, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., the Prairie Creek Public Library in Dwight will be having an Open House for the community to come and visit with Kristin Glatz and Bev Jensen, who are both retiring from their positions at the library this year.

It will also be an opportunity to welcome Sherri Rhoades, who will be taking over Kris' position as the new Library Director. The Open House, which has been planned by the Library Board, will include refreshments served by the Dwight Woman's Club, and plenty of do-you-remember, according to Glatz.

All three ladies sat down last Wednesday, gathered around a table in the children's section of the library they have all come to call their home away from home over the years. Fond memories were shared as the women looked back over the time they had shared with each other, their staff, and the community they served.

Kristin Glatz, the current Director of the Prairie Creek Library, got her start as a volunteer at the old library in 1984. She began her official library career under Jane Broeksmit, and has been at Prairie Creek ever since. "I never went to work," Glatz commented, "I went to be with friends, and books."

Bev Jensen has been employed at the library for around 20 years, also getting her start as a volunteer only to be recruited later into a full-time staff member. She began her library career in 1994 under Anne Martin.

One of Glatz' favorite things about working at the library has been getting to work with children as they first began to discover the endless possibilities reading had to offer with every new book they opened. Her unique position as Director also gave her the opportunity to work directly with community members, which meant she would get to see and interact with patrons each day, even outside the Library.

"I will also miss being able to order books," Glatz continued, who enjoyed picking out new and exciting reading material for library guests to explore.

For Bev, it will be working with the people she has grown to consider a family, in addition to having the ability to get a firsthand look at new books as they came into the library. "One of our running jokes was always that we needed to get bigger tote bags; working at the library meant you would be taking three books home when you already had ten books at home."

When asked about plans for their retirement, both were excited at the simple prospect of having more time to enjoy doing things they loved, and just not having to go to work. Glatz was

The adjacent photos were snapped Sunday afternoon at the Marathon station on Northbrook Drive, where 3.079 caused vehicles to wait for their turn at the pumps. The low prices remained in effect Monday at several of the stations.

Bennett to Replace Harms on November Ballot

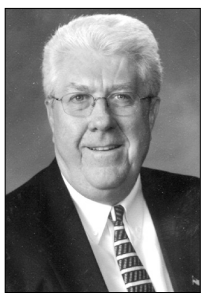

The 106th Representative District Committee met July 27 in Paxton for the purpose of selecting a replacement for Representative Josh Harms on the November General Election ballot. The committee is composed of the Republican County Chairmen, or their surrogates, of the five counties that comprise the district. The five are Ford, Iroquois, Livingston, Vermilion and Woodford counties.

The committee unanimously selected

Tom Bennett of Gibson City, the Republican chairman for Ford County. Bennett, the chairman of the Parkland College Board of Trustees, is the IT Service Manager at State Farm Insurance in Bloomington.

The committee said it was honored to make the selection from a great group of applicants. They stated it was a difficult decision because all of the applicants would have served the district with distinction.

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Should You Be a "Hands-on" Investor?

If you want to send your children or grandchildren to college, retire comfortably and achieve other important life goals, you will have to invest — it's that simple. But the process of investing can sometimes seem anything but simple. What can you do to gain confidence that you are making the right investment moves?

The answer may depend on how involved you want to be with your investment decisions. Initially, you might think that you would like to be totally "hands on." After all, how you save and invest your money is unquestionably a highly personal matter. And once you start exploring the investment world, you may find it fascinating, as it entails virtually every human endeavor imaginable: business, politics, science, the environment, and so on. But if you want to completely run your own show, you will need to put in a lot of work — such as studying the financial markets, staying up-to-date on changing investment environments and monitoring your portfolio to make sure it is still appropriate for your financial needs and goals.

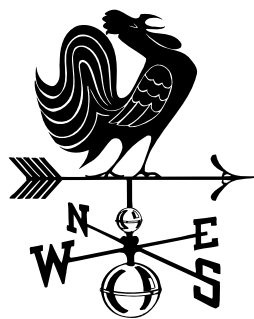

Most people find that they do not have the time or expertise to manage this investment process on their own, which is why they turn to professional financial advisors. The key advantage in working with an advisor is that he or she knows your risk tolerance, goals and family situation, and can help you create a personalized, long-term investment strategy. A good financial advisor will communicate with you regularly and make recommendations. A financial advisor can offer you a variety of strategies and types of investments — such as stocks, bonds and mutual funds — to help you work toward your goals. Ultimately, though, you will be the one to make the "buy" or "sell" decisions.

Some investors prefer to leave even the buy-and-sell decisions to professionals. Most financial advisors offer advisory programs that take care of this for you. With these programs, you choose a professionally managed portfolio of investments. The programs typically offer a wide range of portfolios, so you can choose one that's appropriate based on your needs, goals and risk tolerance. Each portfolio contains a broad range of investments that are selected by professional analysts and represent a variety of asset classes. Advisory programs also offer a sophisticated rebalancing process designed to keep your assets allocated appropriately, which can help keep you on track toward your specific financial goals.

Whether you choose to make your own decisions in consultation with a financial advisor or to invest in an advisory program — or both — you really should learn as much as possible about your investments. Whichever method you decide is best for you, remember that investing involves risk, and investment performance is never guaranteed. So make sure you're asking the right questions, such as: What are the risk characteristics? How has a particular investment vehicle performed relative to others in its category? What are the tax implications of owning and selling a specific investment vehicle? What are the costs and fees associated with each choice?

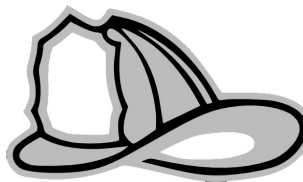

As you may have heard many times, knowledge is power — and that's certainly true in the investment arena.

Library Open House Monday, August 4

Kristin Glatz, Bev Jensen to Retire; Sherri Rhoades, New Director

looking forward to putting less sewing projects on hold and enjoying her coffee in the mornings; Jensen couldn't wait to delve deeper into her historical and genealogical interests.

The biggest changes to the library since they have been there have involved updates to the way the library is run, to the emergence of new competition in the form of eBooks. "Organization of the interlibrary loan has changed drastically since I have been here," Glatz commented. "It used to involve putting mail in a bag, and now, with computers, it just takes a click."

In addition, computers have updated the way the card catalog operates, which meant the ladies no longer had to spend countless days and nights handfiling typewritten cards which attempted to help lead patrons to books they were trying to find. The new system allows patrons much more privacy, and they even have the ability to put books on hold from home.

"Computers have also streamlined the checking in/out process," Glatz commented, as the library's entire circulation is on computer. "I loved learning how to do new things once we got the computers," Jensen said. "It made things much easier and faster."

"The thing I have been most proud of while being the acting Director was the expansion of large print and young adult book sections," Glatz said. "The library Director is basically the CEO of the library," she continued. "You deal with the Library Board, purchase books, various administrative tasks; even take out the garbage."

Sherri Rhoades, who is the current leader of the Summer Reading Program, is taking over Glatz' role as Director at the library. She has been employed there over the past eight years, and has always been involved with the library because of her family's love of reading, so when an opening came about she jumped at the opportunity. "I'm really looking forward to being more involved with the patrons and getting to supply the library with materials," Rhoades said of her new position. "I'm just excited at the chance to have a more in-depth role."

"We have a top of the line library here in Dwight. We don't really have a Community Center, and our library has become a core gathering place for the people of this community," Glatz said. "When we were looking for someone to fill my shoes, it was essential that we find someone who not only loved the library, but loved the community as well, and that is definitely Sherri. She puts 200% into everything she does."

Glatz was also extremely thankful for the wonderful staff, in addition to the board, which she described as, "fabulous."

"They cared deeply about the staff as well as the patrons," she said.

And, last, but certainly not least, Glatz has loved the patrons of the library. One of her favorite memories took place during a horrendous snowstorm; one so bad she was thinking of closing the library early. "But then, right as I was beginning to move toward the door, I saw a car pull up, and a 90-year old woman stepped out of the vehicle," she commented with a laugh. "I thought to myself, well I certainly can't close now, not if she was willing to venture out into the storm and drive all the way out here!"

The reason the woman insisted on braving the storm and driving to the library? She didn't want to be stranded without a book.

New Dwight Business:

Dave's This & That

STOP IN TO DAVE'S THIS & THAT and check out the wide selection of merchandise in this new establishment on East Main Street in Dwight.

Recently, a new business was opened in downtown Dwight, called Dave's This & That. Opened by Dave Miller, who has lived in Dwight for the past two years, the business is akin to a flea market within an enclosed and permanent location.

"I have been involved in flea market vending for a long time," said Miller. "I have always wanted my own store, so when I got the chance, I took it." Unable to work a normal factory or warehouse job, Miller has relied on flea market vending to support himself and his family.

Collecting antiques and unwanted items has always been a hobby of his, and his business is centered around that interest. "One of my favorite quotes is to do for others what I would want them to do for myself," Miller said. In keeping with this philosophy, Miller realized some families couldn't afford brand new, top dollar items, and thought it would help the community to open a store that would offer quality, low priced merchandise.

The shop contains a wide variety of items, such as furniture, electronics, phones, game systems, antiques, and plenty of other unique merchandise.

"I would just like to be able to cater to the community," Miller commented. "I hope to not only have a successful business and good turn around, but also to become a respected person here in Dwight."

Dave's This & That accepts anything, except for clothing, that anyone wishes to donate. "We're looking for unwanted, used things to make someone else's treasures," he stated.

Miller has three daughters and one son, in addition to numerous grandchildren.

The business is located at 158 East Main Street in Dwight. The current store hours are Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Saturday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., and closed Sunday and Monday. The store will also open for special events if requested.

Riverside Medical Center's History Now Part of County Museum

Many community members consider Riverside Medical Center theirs -- and they should. Riverside was built by the community with the intention of providing the best possible care to those in the area. Now 50 years later, Riverside is offering award-winning care throughout the region.

Riverside's transformation from a small community hospital to a regional health-care system is displayed at the Kankakee County Museum as an exhibit. See what medical equipment looked like 50 years ago and view the advancements in story board form.

If you are interested in a more in-depth look at Riverside's history, copies of the commemorative book are also available for purchase at the museum. Books can also be purchased at The MarketPlace gift shop in the hospital or through Riverside's website. All proceeds from the sale of the books will benefit Riverside Scholarship funds.

Chatsworth Corner

by Mare Reardanz

Mr. Kenny Ashman

Town of Chatsworth Board meeting was called to order at 7 pm on July 24, 2014 by Mayor Richard Runyon. Mr. Kenny Ashman was introduced for consideration in filling the Board's vacant position. Mr. Ashman has served Chatsworth for a total of 14 years in the past and has never lost his desire to help the town in any way possible. He has consistently offered his wisdom to help keep the town running smoothly and hopes to continue doing so in the future. The Board unanimously approved the Mayor's appointment and Ashman was sworn in by Mindy Marcum, Deputy Clerk.

Approval was obtained for the closing of East Locust Street for this Saturday's Junk in the Trunk at the Farmers Market from 8 am until 12pm. Attorney Weeks sent a report that the town was moving forward in obtaining certain abandoned properties for demolition.

The Mayor's report stated that the railroad has been contacted and agreed to repair their part of the 6th street crossing along with the town's efforts.

Bills were paid and the meeting adjourned at 7:28 p.m.

The new golf cart ordinance has been instated and cart owners are asked to register their vehicles with the town no later than September 1st of this year. There is a $10 permit fee along with inspection, proof of insurance, driver's license and photo required. The inspection will be conducted by Mayor Runyon or Town Clerk Norma Kerber. Permit stickers must be displayed on the rear of the vehicle in a place visible to law enforcement officers. A copy of the ordinance is included with the fee. Failure to comply could result in a citation that carries a $50 fine.

Mr. Kenny Ashman was the recipient of permit #1.

Kenny Ashman receives permit #1 from Chatsworth Town Clerk Norma Kerber.

Dwight Lions Offer Program to Combat Deafness August 13

Deafness has no respect of age, wealth or rank -- it strikes people of all economic, social and age categories with equal frequency.

To help protect the hearing of the public through an early alert system, to increase public awareness not only of the problems of the deaf, but also the capabilities of the hearing impaired, the Lions Club of Illinois every year sponsors free hearing screenings for persons 18 and older, 10-17 years with written parental consent, in communities all over the state.

As part of that program, the Dwight Lions Club is sponsoring a screening from 9:00 a.m. to noon on Wednesday, August 13, at Dwight's downtown park, 132 E. Main St.

Hearing loss is probably the single most common chronic disability in the United States, occurring nearly four times as often as blindness. There are nearly 720,000 hearing-impaired people in Illinois alone. Of these, 106,000 are deaf; 26,000 of those were deaf before the age of 19.

Unfortunately, the problem is made worse since the deaf are least understood of all handicapped populations.

"For many years," said Jerry Gingery, Club President, "many associated deafness and stupidity together, even though deaf and hearing-impaired people have IQ's equal to those of the hearing population." "The deaf have shown to be just as qualified as the hearing for job opportunities. They should be shown, and deserve, every consideration," added Max Sulzberger, Club Hearing Chairman. He noted that hearing loss takes many forms. In some, the problem is simply that they feel like the sound has been turned down. But others may have trouble in understanding various pitches or sounds. The causes, too, vary a lot, and there are many medical and mechanical treatments to help people with hearing loss.

"Since protection of our hearing is so important, we hope that the people of our community will take full advantage of the hearing screenings," Sulzberger adds. "The screenings take but a few minutes and persons who fail the screening are referred to hearing professionals for further evaluation and treatment."

The Mobile Hearing Screening activity is conducted through cooperation of the Lions of Illinois Foundation, the charitable arm of the state's more than 700 Lions Clubs and is funded primarily from Candy Day, held statewide the second Friday of every October.

For more information, contact Max Sulzberger at 815-584-1414 or 815-739-2315.

“Be Careful What You Wish For”

The old adage "be careful what you wish for" can become overused and lose its meaning because half of the time that it's used is in a sarcastic, "that'll never happen" type manner. Then there are situations where it's going to happen no matter what, it's just a matter of it being time sensitive.

The last month or two of school I couldn't wait for summer to start – I mean no school, just work and make money, what could be bad about that, so many positives. It really was cool at first; the first few paychecks were nice; then it started to set in that no one is here.

When I say “here” I'm referring to Bloomington-Normal. There's just a lack of people. That probably goes for any college town. When you go from 20,000 plus people interacting and attending classes to less than 2,000 in a week it's quite an adjustment. Much more so for the people who stay down here than for the people who go home.

It's just an odd feeling driving past campus and not just seeing it 'light' but seeing it completely empty. And then everyone will come back like they had never left. I can't wait for that.

Hopefully I don't find myself writing this same exact thought about school and wishing it was summer again, but I really don't see that happening. Not only that but I'm genuinely excited for actual school, yes the classes, for the first time in a very long time, that just adds to wanting summer to end. The fact I'm even writing that sentence just feels very odd.

Another factor is the weather feeling like fall – every day just makes it seem as if I should be attending school, and football games, but here it is only the last week of July. Preparing to leave a situation just makes you that much more focused on the one you're heading into, and I'm preparing real hard for this summer-to-fall transition.

First Round of Harvest Days Home Run Derby Results

by Bridget De Waard

towards a possible $500 and setting the number to beat for the derby. Jake Walker, Kiefer Kious and Willy Lee all attempted, but were not able to seal the deal. George Bowman walked away with five home runs, setting the tone for the contest.

The contest is a fun, but simple one, where only a bat, helmet and a strong arm are needed to grab some quick cash. Pre-registration is not required—simply show up on one of the qualifying dates and start, “swinging for the fences.”

Contestants are asked to provide their own pitcher, and a $10 donation is suggested. There are 15 hits per qualifying round, with a hit being anything that doesn't result in a Home Run. Contestants will try out in order of arrival on given dates. Anyone wishing to participate must be 18 or older, and not involved in any Collegiate Sports during time of tryout.

There are eight qualifying rounds remaining, with a tiebreaker round set for Thursday, September 18, at 5 p.m. The Championship will take place Saturday, September 20, at 12 p.m., at Dwight's Renfrew Park, with the top 10 players competing.

The next qualifying round is set for Thursday, July 31, at 5 p.m. Every qualifying round will take place on a Thursday except for one set to occur during the “Taste of Dwight,” event, Sunday, August 10, from noon to 3 p.m. For a complete list of qualifying dates, please see the First Official Inaugural Harvest Days Home Run Derby facebook page.

George Bowman is the man to beat! Bring your A-game, and show up to challenge him and secure your chance at $500.

First Congregational Church Seeks Donations for Church World Service School Kits

by Bridget De Waard

As summer wanes and August begins, stores start to stock shelves with school supplies, signifying the arrival of a new academic year. Binders, folders, pens, and pencils spill out into the aisles, uniquely decorated for children to spot and pick out which design suits them as they return to school.

But what if a child's family couldn't afford these essential school supplies?

The mission committee for the First Congregational Church of Dwight has made it a goal to ensure that every child will have access to the basic tools necessary for learning. The Missions Committee, made up of Marilyn Hensel, Barb Jensen, and mission treasurer, Charles Johnson, participates in the Church World Service Kits program, collecting items to send in for assembly and dissemination throughout the country.

Completed kits are sent to the Brethren Service Center in New Windsor, Maryland, or the Ferncliff Center in Little Rock, Arkansas, where they are then processed, sorted, and readied for shipment. The kits can travel as far as Africa, to aid refugee children, or even to children in the U.S. who have not been able to afford the supplies needed to continue their education.

"We will begin collecting items for the kits in August," stated Johnson. "In September, after Harvest Days, we will ship the kits out." Each kit must be prepared the same way, and a specific set of items is packaged into each one to ensure each child gets what is absolutely necessary to continue schooling. "I went shopping recently and got everything for the kit for less than $10," said Johnson. "However, people wishing to help don't have to turn in a complete kit; they can also just buy multiples of specific items needed for the packages," Johnson continued.

Listed below are the items needed to assemble a school kit:

- One pair of blunt scissors (rounded tip)
- Three 70-count spiral or tape-bound pads of 8" by 10 1/2" wide ruled paper, for a total of 200-210 sheets of ruled paper (please do NOT provide loose-leaf or filler paper)
- One 30-centimeter ruler (12"), flexible
- One hand-held pencil sharpener (2-in-1, so that pencils of different sizes can be sharpened)
- One large eraser (pink)
- Six new pencils with erasers (#2, hard)
- One box of 24 crayons

(only 24)

• One 12" by 14" to 14" by 16" finished size canvas bag with cloth handles

All items should be packed inside the cloth bag.

"The church secretary will be in her office on Tuesdays and Wednesdays so that any completed kits or items for the kits can be dropped off directly," Johnson said. "If no one is at the church, a message can be left on the machine concerning the kit or items by calling 815-584-1260."

"Even before I became the mission treasurer, I was interested in helping out with the missions at our church," Johnson explained. "An elderly member of our church made sure to stress the importance of keeping those in need at the forefront of our missions, and SHOWN ABOVE ARE SOME of the school items being collected for the kits in August to be shipped all around the world for students to have the tools they need for a successful learning experience.

it has stuck with me ever since."

In lieu of creating a kit, those who wish to help can contribute in the form of monetary donations. A processing coupon (which can be found in the program's brochure or at www.churchworldservice.org), along with a check or money order made payable to Church World Service, can be sent to: Church World Service, P.O. Box 968, Elkhart, IN 46515-0968.

Any interested person with questions is encouraged to contact Charles Johnson at 815-584-2286.
