GARDNER MAYOR TOM WISE, right, makes the first donation of the year to Bill Pohl of the Braidwood Knights of Columbus for the 2014 Tootsie Roll drive.

Gardner Village Board Okays Drives, Archives

by Don Phillips
The Gardner Village Board opened its regular meeting on August 25 with a discussion and approval of the Knights of Columbus Tootsie Roll drive September 19, 20 and 21. K of C member Bill Pohl thanked the board for supporting the annual fund-raiser. Resident Ida Schopp asked to have the Archives open between 1:00-3:00 p.m. on September 7 during the downtown craft show.

The board discussed and approved recommendations from the Planning and Zoning board regarding the parking of trailers, recreational vehicles and boats in the Village. The board revised the recommendation to clarify use of and connection to liquid propane and compressed natural gas.

Commissioner Dick Hileman discussed the used car business located at Jefferson and Jackson Streets concerning house-keeping and parking issues. Hileman also suggested researching clothing and collection boxes with the possibility of drafting an ordinance to address the matter. Commissioner Mike Serena commented D Construction has completed the Pine Street project.

Commissioner Rob Wolf reported he received a complaint regarding chickens in a resident's yard. Wolf reported the chickens are penned and controlled; however, the Village ordinance is clear that as non-domesticated animals they are not allowed in the Village. Commissioner Hileman related several instances of poultry and other farm animals in violation of the ordinance and they were required to remove them. The owner of the chickens reported the hens are part of a 4-H project and are well controlled. Wolf suggested the matter be tabled pending a review of the ordinance by the board.

The board adjourned at 7:35 p.m.

THIS YEAR MARKED THE 94TH Herscher Labor Day Celebration and was held August 30 - September 1. The celebration consisted of carnival rides, food, softball, 5K run, entertainment, and much more. Pictured at right is one of former Buckingham resident Helen Nethercutt's award-winning cars which was in the Parade Monday, September 1. The Nethercutt Collection was founded in 1956, and it's still growing, cars ranging from 1898 to 1997 models.

Dwight Woman's Club Prepares for Harvest Days

Members of the Dwight Woman's Club are busy making plans for the 2014 Harvest Days celebration. The Woman's Club is proud to have been named the Parade Marshals for the 2014 Harvest Days Parade, in recognition of the Centennial Celebration of the club, and members are looking forward to being in the parade this year. Club members are also excited to be featured on the annual Harvest Days button. As a way of thanking Barbara De Waard for the design, and the Harvest Days committee for the honor, the Woman's Club is coordinating the sale of Harvest Days buttons this year. Buttons will be available at area businesses, from Gloria Wahl or Lynn Neville in the weeks before Harvest Days, as well as throughout the weekend.

The Woman's Club is also appreciative of the Dwight Historical Society's willingness to have a 100th Anniversary Woman's Club exhibit at the museum this Harvest Days.

Club members are gathering club artifacts as well as photo displays to share with the community, highlighting the community involvement activities of the club over the past 100 years.

The most exciting news from the Club is that members will be selling the recently published Dwight Woman's Club Centennial Cookbook during the Harvest Days weekend in a booth on East Main Street. The Dwight Woman's Club Centennial Cookbook, featuring recipes from club members and area businesses, as well as selected recipes from the 1925 Dwight Woman's Club Cookbook, will be available for a fee. Proceeds from the sale of the cook book will support the Club Scholarships as well as other community projects. Club members are hopeful these cookbooks will be as popular as the 1925 Cookbooks, which were published to support the Woman's Club project of building the first Public Library in Dwight.

THE HARVEST DAYS QUILT SHOW will feature these two color quilts, as well as many other entries, on September 20 and 21. Holding the quilts are Marilyn Thorsen and Deb Sarff. Registration forms are at Hair Affair, Emling Florist or online at www.dwightharvest-days.org. Send forms to Judy Gillespie at 111 Morgan St., Dwight, IL 60420. If there are any questions, contact Joy Ahearn at 815-584-5070.

For the second year in a row, patrons of Harvest Days will have the freedom to move between downtown drinking establishments and enjoy outdoor entertainment in the East Main Street area following actions by the Dwight Village Board of Trustees at its August 25 meeting.

The Village Board, again, authorized Harvest Days to sell $5 wrist bands for Friday and Saturday nights of the event, allowing patrons to purchase alcohol inside one of the downtown bars, in a plastic cup not to exceed 12 ounces, and then take the beverage outside into a designated and monitored area. The Harvest Days committee is responsible for ensuring the wrist band purchaser is of legal drinking age, while the bar owner will assume the responsibility of confirming the legal age of patrons purchasing alcohol regardless of wearing a wristband.

The designated street area will begin on East Main Street 100 feet northeast of the intersection with Chippewa Street and extending to the intersection with Franklin Street. It will also include the portion of Franklin Street from its intersection with East Main Street to its intersection with Delaware Street. The far south end of East Main Street will be off limits to keep the carnival area alcohol free. Harvest Days President Jerry Beier has committed to providing numerous identifiable volunteers in the downtown area to ensure all rules and regulations are followed. Last year, it was stressed that the change was on a "trial" basis and unwelcome behavior could mean rescinding the ordinance change. However, no incidents of trouble were reported last year.

All proceeds from the wrist band sales will go to Harvest Days to help offset the cost of the event and for providing downtown entertainment. Dwight Harvest Days is slated to run from September 18 through September 21.

In other actions related to the upcoming Dwight Harvest Days celebration, the board approved several street closures. East Main Street plaza will close at 9 a.m. Monday, September 13.

East Main Street and Franklin Street from Rt. 17 to East Delaware Street will be closed at 2 p.m. on Friday, September 19. Franklin Street from E. Delaware Street to E. Chippewa will close on Wednesday, September 17 at 6 p.m. West Main Street will be closed at 12 p.m. on Friday and the Fox Center parking lot will be closed at 11 a.m. on September 19. One lane of traffic will be open through the weekend on West Main Street to allow access for First National Bank drive thru and ATM customers.

Carnival area street closures begin at 1 p.m. on September 17 including Park Street at the corner of Park and Chippewa, Chippewa at the (continued on page 8)

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED WHAT "SANTA MONICA" at the west end of Old Route 66 looks like? Here it is with Marco Panebianco from Terni, Italy, after his bicycle ride from Chicago, with a stop in Dwight at the historic gas station. He was in Dwight July 13, 2014 and reached Santa Monica August 21, pedaling all the way. His note on arrival at the "end of the trail" was: "Do you remind me!?!?) I passed on last July on your gas station. I got it!! I arrived on 21st August on Santa Monica from Chicago. It was great time!" Can you imagine how great a time it was! Thanks for the e-mailed photo, Marco from Italy.

Jesse White's Vehicle Renewal Sticker Receipt Legislation Signed Into Law

Legislation proposed by Illinois Secretary of State Jesse White to allow a printed receipt from the Secretary of State to serve temporarily as the vehicle renewal sticker was signed into law by the governor. The law takes effect January 1, 2015.

Senate Bill 2802 will allow motorists to drive without an up-to-date vehicle renewal sticker affixed to their license plate, provided they have a receipt from the Secretary of State that proves they purchased a sticker online before expiration, but have not yet received the registration sticker. The receipt is valid for no more than 30 days from the expiration of the previous registration sticker's date.

Last year, more than 150,000 customers purchased vehicle renewal registration stickers during the last two days in May. The vast majority of customers visited a facility to conduct these transactions; just over 6,300 people purchased their renewal stickers online.

White's office continues to provide more services online to further improve customer convenience.

IRS Phone Scam

Sheriff Kevin Callahan recently reported that the Grundy County Sheriff's office has received several complaints from residents of Grundy County who have received telephone calls and messages from subjects claiming to be from the "IRS", Internal Revenue Service. The callers were described as individuals (mostly male) speaking broken English with heavy accents. Residents advised they were threatened with arrest if they did not act or call back. This is a scam.

The perpetrators of these scams will tell the target they are calling that there is a problem with their tax return, are being investigated for fraud or tax evasion, or owe money. A phone number of (888) 369-8791 was given as the number the calls are coming from.

Sheriff Callahan advises residents to do the following: 1) Get off the phone. 2) Do not give out any personal, credit card or bank information. 3) Attempt to obtain a telephone number and other details from the caller. 4) Report the incident to the Grundy County Sheriff's Office at 815-942-0336.

Mosquitoes in the area Test Positive for West Nile Virus

The Grundy County Health Department has recently collected mosquitoes in the Village of Braceville that have tested positive for West Nile Virus. This pool of mosquitoes is the first confirmed detection of the virus in the County this year. Last year, the County Health Department had 24 different mosquito pools test positive for West Nile Virus through the course of the summer.

As we enter into the late summer weather, the Health Department anticipates increased frequency of positive mosquito pools being detected which raises the risk of disease transmission to the public. Therefore, the Health Department wants to encourage everyone to take steps to avoid becoming a victim of West Nile Virus or of the mosquito-borne viruses. To minimize your risks, follow the State Health Department's recommended practices: Reduce, Repel, and Report.

For further information regarding West Nile Virus, contact the Health Department at 815-941-3115. You may also obtain information from the IDPH website, located at www.idph.state.il.us/envhealth/wnv.htm.

Driver Pleads Guilty in Death of Police Officer

On August 26, Jason C. Collins, the individual charged with offenses stemming from the vehicle crash that caused the death of Pontiac Police Officer Casey Kohlmeier and his canine partner, Draco, pleaded guilty.

Collins pleaded guilty to all counts without any agreement as to his sentence, meaning his sentence will be determined by the court. The top count of Aggravated Driving While Under the Influence, a Class 2 felony, is punishable by three to 14 years in prison, with a limited opportunity for probation if the court finds extraordinary circumstances exist to warrant a sentence of probation. If sentenced to prison on that count, Collins would be required to serve 85% of his sentence under the "Truth in Sentencing" provisions of the law.

"While no action we can take as prosecutors will ever make the Kohlmeier family, the Pontiac Police Department, or the community whole again, we can endeavor to see that justice is done by holding Mr. Collins accountable for his actions," stated State's Attorney Seth Uphoff. "Today's plea puts us one step closer to accomplishing that goal."

The sentencing hearing is scheduled for October 15 at 10:30 a.m. at the Livingston County Law & Justice Center.

Make the Right Moves to Leave a Legacy to Grandchildren

On Sept. 8, we observe National Grandparents Day. If you have grandchildren, they will hopefully mark this occasion by sending a card, making a call or, best of all, paying a visit. But however your grandchildren express their feelings for you, you undoubtedly have a very big place in your heart for them. In fact, you may well be planning on including your grandchildren in your estate plan. If that's the case, you'll want to do the best you can to preserve the size of your estate — without sacrificing the ability to enjoy life during your retirement years.

Here are a few suggestions to help you achieve this "balancing act":

Expect market volatility — and don't overreact. If you've been investing for a while, you know that volatility in the financial markets is normal. In fact, it's not unusual for the market to drop 10%, or even more, in a year. Try not to overreact to this type of volatility. For example, don't immediately sell investments just because they've had a down year — they may well bounce back the next year, especially if their fundamentals are still strong.

Diversify. It's always a good idea to diversify across a range of investment vehicles — stocks, bonds, government securities, certificates of deposit (CDs) and so on. While diversification can't guarantee a profit or protect against loss, it can help reduce the effects of volatility on your portfolio.

Maintain a cash cushion. During your retirement years, you may face unexpected expenses, just as you did when you were working. To help pay for these expenses without being forced to dip into your long-term investments, try to maintain a "cash cushion" that's sufficient to cover six to 12 months' worth of living expenses.

Limit withdrawals from your investments. To keep your investment portfolio intact for as long as possible, set limits on your annual withdrawals. Your withdrawal rate should be based on a variety of factors — age at retirement, other sources of income, lifestyle choices, etc. A financial advisor can help you calculate a withdrawal rate that makes sense for your situation.

Delay your generosity. It can be tempting to provide for your grandchildren — and perhaps even your grown children — as soon as you can. But you need to balance this impulse with the financial challenges that two or three decades of retirement can bring. It's not being "selfish" to take care of yourself first — in fact, by doing everything possible to remain financially independent, you will be helping your family in the long run.

Don't delay creating your estate plan. If you are committed to leaving a generous legacy for your grandchildren, you need a comprehensive estate plan. And it's best to create this plan as soon as possible, while you are mentally and physically healthy. You may never become incapacitated, of course, but the future is not ours to see. In addition to starting early with your estate plan, you'll need to assemble the right team, including your financial advisor, legal professional and tax expert.

You might enjoy receiving attention on National Grandparents Day. But you'll get even greater pleasure out of knowing that you're maximizing your efforts to leave the type of legacy you want for your grandchildren — while still enjoying the retirement lifestyle you desire.

Chatsworth Corner

by Mare Reardanz

Town of Chatsworth held its second monthly meeting on August 28, 2014. Mayor Runyon called the meeting to order at 7:03 pm. All Trustees were present. The minutes from the last meeting were read and approved. There was no Sheriff's or Attorney's reports.

Public issues included reports of residents observing sick cats in town and how to handle the situation. The cats have been entering resident's garages and leaving evidence of an unhealthy nature much to the dismay of the home owner. Animal Control was contacted and has not been of much help. The health department has referred us in this matter to Animal Control.

Old Business included a report that Ameren needs to upgrade the electric service for the new water plant at a cost of $10,800+ for a new pole and transformer. A deposit is required with the balance added to our monthly service until paid in full. Trustee Will Price reported that his committee met and agreed to eliminate 15 stop signs in town. The signs were on North/South streets and would alleviate stopping at every block. The committee felt that the town's 140 signs are in excess and removing some would not endanger public safety with the signs chosen. Communities can keep ecology in mind with less air pollution, noise pollution and more fuel economy with the elimination of 10% of existing stop signs. Ignoring the current signs is not legal.

The signs were originally installed to control speeding 20 years ago. It didn't work then, and is not working now. The board voted 3 yea and 3 nay with Mayor Runyon breaking the tie with a nay vote to eliminate these signs. It was agreed to have Trustee Price's committee meet again to discuss altering the location of signs to remove.

New Business: Mark McKee of Water Solutions Unlimited spoke on the need to add a prefilter plant to our new water system to help alleviate build-up and corrosion in the main water supply lines. His pretreatment plant suggestions would release safe chemicals into the water between the wells and the filters. He estimated a rough estimate cost of $6300 per month to keep the pipes clear and build-up at a minimum. Each well (4) would need a prefilter if used heavily. Mr. McKee is available for consultation by phone or email with information on current treatment plants in nearby communities.

It was voted on and agreed that all scrap metal will be collected and sold by the town to generate additional monies for community projects. Mayor Runyon suggested the income be added to the Citizens Advisory Board fund.

The Town of Chatsworth agreed to donate $150 each to the Fire Department's Patriot Day and Tour de Chatsworth September 6th.

The water plant update included the need for the addition of Flush Station valves to open the raw water lines. Currently there are none and it has been impossible to inspect or flush the existing lines. Mayor Runyon stated it will cost $6400 to install the valve.

There were no additional Trustee, zoning or employee reports. Bills were paid and meeting was adjourned at 8:37 p.m.

What is the Dwight Economic Alliance?

The Dwight Economic Alliance was formed earlier this year when Dwight Main Street, Dwight Chamber of Commerce, Impact Dwight and the Economic Development Committee joined forces. The focus of these groups sometimes overlapped and combining them provided an opportunity for everyone to work together. There are five major committees, each with its own focus.

The Economic Development Committee works with existing business as well as those looking for a location. Working with Grundy County Economic Development Council, available properties are being marketed to brokers in the area. Communication is open with Norfolk Southern Railroad for development ideas for local properties. A program to increase residential development is also being considered. Possible uses for the prison grounds are being reviewed. These projects show what great business opportunities are available in Dwight.

The Community Development

Committee works on marketing Dwight and welcoming new residents. A welcome packet is in the process of being compiled and will be available to anyone moving into our community. A second Community Clean Up is being planned. A new website is being developed. These projects ensure that Dwight is a welcoming community for anyone looking to find a new home or start a new business.

The Promotion Committee plans events for the enjoyment of everyone in our community or area. Some of the events include the Red Carpet Corridor Weekend and Springfest, Children's Easter Activities, Cruise Night, 4th of July and Farmers Markets. The Taste of Dwight, held August 10, was a new event and a huge success. Twenty-three businesses and non-profit organizations took advantage of the event to market their goods and services and in this way we promoted shopping local. Additional events in the planning include the Christmas Parade and Breakfast with Santa. While giving residents enjoyable activities to participate in, they also have another purpose. These events show prospective businesses and residents that there are things going on here for the enjoyment of everyone.

The Membership Committee promotes the Alliance by engaging local businesses and individuals to support their efforts. They create additional value by coordinating member services and opportunities. We currently have 60+ member businesses and several individuals. The committee is currently working on 2015 membership packets with added benefits since the Alliance's launch.

The Tourism Committee promotes Dwight to tourists in the area. Tour busses come to town and those traveling Route 66 stop at our Welcome Center. Marketing Route 66 as well as our local attractions brings additional people into the community. The 3rd Annual Farm Crawl and our Barn Quilts are examples of attractions that bring people from other areas. These visitors may enjoy a meal, fill their cars with gas or stock up on snacks for their ride.

We are just getting started and are always looking for new people to get involved. You may have an idea you would like to see implemented and want to serve on a committee. Stop in our office at the Depot and see how you may help. We are there Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m.

Bouquet Bravo

By: Tresa Erickson
 Brides have been carrying bouquets for hundreds of years. In ancient times, bridal bouquets generally consisted of garlic, herbs and spices to keep evil spirits away. By Victorian times, fresh flowers had replaced the garlic, herbs and spices, and many of these flowers carried special meanings, like innocence, faith and love. Floriography, the language of flowers, continues to this day, with some brides researching flower meanings and basing their bouquet selections on those meanings. Floriography isn't the only trend in bridal bouquets. There are many others. Here is a brief review.

Bridal bouquets are traditionally pale in color, but today's brides are branching out and choosing bolder colors, like burgundy, red and purple. Bouquet color schemes can be monochromatic—all shades of purple, for example—or complementary. With bouquets getting brighter, they have become a real feature in wedding photography, in particular black and white photography with selective coloring. Roses remain a bridal bouquet standard, but other flowers are starting to make their way into the mix. Daisies, hydrangeas, lilies, peonies and tulips are popular choices, as are orchids. Many brides, in fact, are asking for more tropical flowers in their bouquets, either because of their theme or for a unique twist.

While cascades of flowers were once the norm in bridal bouquets, many brides today are opting to take a simpler route. Hand-tied bouquets are a popular choice. With the flowers gathered together and wrapped in ribbon, the bouquets are easier to handle and have a contemporary look to them.

While today's bridal bouquets might be somewhat simpler in design, brides can still add some dazzle to them with beads, crystals, feathers, pearls, sequins and other accessories. Brides with themed weddings can take it a step further and incorporate extra special touches into their bouquets, like miniature seashells, pinecones or butterflies. Bouquets featuring vintage brooches are also becoming popular.

Bridal bouquets can run the gamut from the traditional all-white hand-tied rose bouquet drenched in crystals to the sassy gold, red and purple bouquet cuffed by feathers. It is up to the bride how she wants her bouquet to be. Brides should check out some samples, talk to their florist and select a bouquet design that speaks to them.

4 Ways to Make Your Wedding Guests Happy

The Perfect Wedding is the One Everyone Remembers for All the Right Reasons

Brides-to-be have long checklists for planning their big day. Dress, flowers, venue, vows, will there be a sit-down dinner or hors d'oeuvres and crudites? Who will be in the wedding party?

"Every bride wants her wedding to be perfect and by that, many mean that they want the event itself and themselves to be absolutely beautiful," says Eric Gulbrandson, a wedding photographer and author of the new book, "Dream Wedding Secrets: The All Important G.S.F." (www.dreamweddingsecrets.com).

"But a perfect wedding is also one that people remember months and years later as a wonderful event where they thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Think about it – no bride wants her wedding remembered as a disaster!"

The secret is to put a high priority on what Gulbrandson calls the G.S.F. – Guest Satisfaction Factor.

"It's how others perceive your wedding," he says. "Most brides do want their guests to be able to enjoy their wedding, but they overlook the G.S.F. because all the advice is geared toward beauty and budgets."

Gulbrandson interviewed hundreds of wedding guests and compiled more than 200 do's and don'ts for brides-to-be for ensuring a high G.S.F. Among them:

- If you invite children, arrange a supervised activity area for them. Couples often include children on their guest list because they contribute to the family atmosphere and celebration, but weddings are not child-centered events. Kids get bored; the wedding day is often a long one with extended periods of sitting quietly and an abundance of adults consuming alcohol. Help parents and children enjoy the event by arranging for a supervised activity area on the outskirts of the reception. A couple of teenaged relatives may appreciate earning some money for overseeing arts and crafts projects and games. Hiring relatives for this job will help keep the costs reasonable.

- Don't make costumes a requirement for your themed wedding. Whether you've got your heart set on a Renaissance faire or zombie nuptials, don't require your guests to shell out money buying or renting costumes! Yes, you can ease any financial burden by requesting they wear costumes in lieu of buying gifts, but that doesn't address the potential for physical and emotional discomfort. Sure, all your friends may be LARPer, but if Uncle Howard and Aunt Betty are not, they may not enjoy wearing capes and carrying swords to your ceremony.

- Don't plan your wedding for a holiday weekend. Occasionally, brides plan their wedding for a three-day holiday weekend thinking it will help out-of-towners who want to attend. However, it also boosts the odds of local guests being out of town! Given that most working people have only two guaranteed three-day weekends a year, many plan ahead for them. Additionally, hotel and rental car prices tend to go up during holidays, and traffic doubles. Play it safe by avoiding calendar holidays and, of course, Super Bowl Sunday.

- With food and drink, if you have to choose between quantity and quality, choose quantity. Nobody will mind if the chicken skewers aren't the best they ever had, but they will if you run out of them! While taste and presentation are important, having enough food and drink available throughout the event is more important than a glamorous presentation. If you have children at your wedding, you can keep costs down -- and make them happy -- by planning a separate menu of, say, chicken nuggets and macaroni-and-cheese.

- When it's all said and done, don't ruin your perfect wedding by failing to follow through with that time-honored (for good reason) custom of sending thank-you notes. "Technically, accepted protocol allows guests a year after the wedding to send a gift, so you may be on the receiving end for quite some time!" Gulbrandson says. "Keep a list and send handwritten thank-yous as quickly as you can. Most guests and experts agree that one to three months after the wedding is fine, but my advice is to get on it quickly!"

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Book Review of 'You Are Not Alone,' by Verediane Mukagatanazi

A few years ago, while walking around the park seeking solace from aggravations and challenges, I met the most cheerful woman I have ever encountered. She was smiling, striding out with confidence, head held high. I remarked on her cheerfulness, and convinced her to share lunch with me under the umbrellas in the courtyard of the Mansion. What was her secret? Maybe I could lighten up.

Turns out she'd been through hell, and come out the other side, though she didn't put it that way. ("When you're going through hell, keep going." - Winston Churchill.)

A native of Rwanda, a French teacher with three small children, she - and the children - survived the genocide in that country in the '90's, and spent time as refugees before coming to this country. If you have ever seen the film, "Hotel Rwanda," available for rental from the local library, you will have some vague idea of the horrors that might entail.

Why was she so cheerful?

"Because I'm here! And it's a beautiful day," she replied with a broad smile. All of which made my aggravations and challenges fairly inconsequential by comparison.

Verediane (pronounced Veh-reh-dee-ahn) has now written a book about her experiences. It is written in English, one of five languages she speaks, having learned the language of whatever country she was in as a refugee. In succinct, clear, and matter-of-fact style, she recounts a Rwandan childhood, growing up, young love, and passage into adulthood which despite the material and a few cultural differences, is not that foreign to our own. People are people anywhere and everywhere on earth. The simplicity with which she documents her experience of genocidal warfare puts its terrors and horrors in stark relief.

In Verediane's region of the world, a child, at birth, is given a unique last name of his or her very own - not a patronymic - by her father. Verediane's father gave her the last name of Mukagatanazi. It means "unbreakable."

Good choice.

Musical Disconnect
 Are people between the ages of 15-22 the last chance at connection to 90's pre-internet music?
 This is odd that I'm writing this (seeing as I'm 20) because I'm just as guilty of not knowing either. I listen to a fair amount of poppy, or melodic (some dumb person will tell me all rap is melodic, but I digress) rap music, I think it's far to call it that, i.e. Hoodie Allen, G-Eazy, or Outasight.
 If I had to guess the average age of their fan base it's probably around 20 years old. As much as 20 year olds claim to be "90's babies" liking "All The Small Things" and "The Real Slim Shady" doesn't exactly qualify as far as being a 90s baby musically goes. People born in the mid to late 80s are really the 90's babies.
 The thing is the artists that my fellow musical consumers listen to reference 90s artists very often. When my friends rap along to G-Eazy saying "Mac Dre is what I grew up on" do they even have the slightest clue who Mac Dre is? Honestly I barely know who Mac Dre is, I don't know his songs, but I've heard him mentioned in enough songs by G-Eazy, Drake and others that it might lead me to eventually check into it.
 It's just odd there is such a disconnect from an artist or rapper who's 26 or 27 to someone who's 21 or 22, as far as musical influence goes. People my age who are aspiring rappers are inspired by the people aforementioned Hoodie, G etc. whereas those guys are influenced by artists such as Outcast, or The Beastie Boys, who are all almost 10 years older musically.
 It almost seems corny when someone quotes a current day rapper in a song as a way of paying homage. When a rapper references G-Eazy in a song, he hasn't been around long enough; but he's closing in on almost a decade of making music. At what point does he become the quoted one?
 Maybe it's the currentness of today's music scene, where if you blink for too long an album has gone platinum and become irrelevant just as quickly. Not many people sit down with an album like they used to, so it's easier to latch on to something temporary or current as an influence.
 I consider myself a fairly educated music fan, or I at least try to continually educate myself. For example a few weeks ago I tweeted "I'd rather laugh with the sinners than cry with the saints" which I had heard in an Outasight song but showed no mention of him in the tweet. And another artist tweets at me "where did you hear this?" Just from the wording of the question I could tell that my answer shouldn't have been "from an Outasight song" and it turned out that it was originally from a Billy Joel and OU just decided to end his verse with it, paying homage.
 This really made me think that if I as a relatively educated 20-year-old music listener didn't catch the reference, how many other 20-year-old kids would? Probably not many. I don't think OU wrote that with the intention of trying to trick listeners into thinking it was his own lyric, I think he did it as a way of paying respects to Billy Joel.
 Then there's someone like Jared Evan who has a project called the 4th Chapter and it features melodies, and in some cases exact choruses from Beck and Bob Marley songs. I cringe when I see people tweet at him "One good thing about music, is when it hits you, you feel no pain" and they think he wrote it.
 We consume music thinking everyone is writing this stuff on their own. If these guys rip off their peers, it's much easier to snoop that out, than if they pay homage to someone from the 1980's or 90s.

PUBLIC NOTICE NOTICE TO ELDERLY (OVER 65) AND HANDICAPPED VOTERS REGARDING THE GENERAL ELECTION, NOVEMBER 4, 2014

Notice is hereby given to elderly over 65 and handicapped persons that the County of Livingston has complied with federal and state election laws to promote the fundamental right to vote by improving access to polling places and election day voting as follows:

All polling places are wheelchair accessible. If your polling place is difficult for an elderly or handicapped person to manage, there are some alternatives:

1. On request by phone or letter, the county clerk will supply you with a proper affidavit for a voter unable to enter the polling place on Election Day. This must be completed and returned to the County Clerk's Office no later than 4:30 p.m. on November 3, 2014. On election day two judges from your polling place, of opposite parties, will bring the ballot sheet outside the entrance, providing that you are within a distance of not more than 50 (fifty) feet from the door to the polling place.

2. If an elderly or disabled voter has difficulty in reading the ballot sheet he or she may ask for assistance at the polling place, or may bring a friend or relative to assist. After filling out the proper affidavit, the friend or relative or two judges of opposite parties, can assist you.

3. A request can be made by phone or by mail to the County Clerk's Office for an absentee ballot. When the request is received an application for an absentee ballot will be mailed to the voter. You can download an application on line by going to: livingstoncountyil.gov. This application must be filled out and mailed or hand delivered to the County Clerk, who will then mail the absentee ballot to the voter. After voting the absentee ballot it must be mailed back to the County Clerk's Office, so it can be counted on Election Day.

4. Illinois election laws allow for early, grace period, and absentee voting to be conducted in the County Clerk's Office. The clerk's office will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 Noon on Saturday, October 4, 2014 for voter registration and absentee voting; on Saturday, October 25, and Saturday, November 1 for early, grace period and absentee voting, and on Sunday, November 2 from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Voting will take place during the regular office hours Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with extended hours to 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 22 and October 29.

In another matter, a downtown business owner was present looking for resolution of an issue with dumpster placement. Recently, the Village issued 64 letters to business owners reminding owners that dumpsters are not allowed on Village Streets or Village parking places due to street damage caused by the dumpsters. Since there is limited means for placing a dumpster to be used by JT's Saloon in the Park Street area, Village officials agreed to work with owner John Moyemont and will require a concrete pad on two parking spaces for dumpster placement.

Residents are reminded that white goods damaged during the recent flooding in Dwight are eligible for village pickup. According to Mayor Jared Anderson, approximately 600,000 gallons of water flow through the Dwight Sewer daily; however, during the recent flood, that increased to approximately ten million gallons.

In other business, the board also:

- learned that Standard & Poor's has raised its credit profile rating of the Village of Dwight from an A+ rating to a AA- rating.

- approved a Special Use Permit to be granted to Al and Carol Seniw for the construction and operation of a cultivation center pursuant to the Compassionate Use of Medical Cannabis Pilot Program Act; the proposed special use location is 1200 E. Mazon Avenue, Dwight.

- approved a variance request filed by Al and Carol Seniw to allow for drilling of a water well at 1200 E. Mazon Avenue to be used for the PharmaCannis Company's use of water.

- approved a pay request to Gallagher Asphalt Corporation for completed 2014 MFT Street

Improvements totaling $249,684.96 with retention of $13,141.31 to be paid following landscaping completion.

- approved a CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) Walk route on the southeast side of the village on Sunday September 28 starting at 12:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church.

- approved a Knights of Columbus Tootsie Roll bucket brigade request for September 12 and 13 at the corners of Rt. 17 & 47.

- approved Sound Amplification Permits for the East Main Street area and Renfrew Park for various times during the Harvest Days weekend.

- approved Alpine Amusement as the carnival operator for Harvest Days.

- approved the use of motorized golf carts in the downtown area and along the parade route throughout the Harvest Days celebration.

The next meeting of the Dwight Village Board of Trustees will be Monday, September 8, at 6:30 p.m. in the Public Services Complex. All village meetings are open to the public.

BART GOLEY OF DWIGHT recorded a hole in one on the par 3-11th hole at Dwight Country Club during the second round of the Dwight Country Club Medal Play Tournament. Goley finished the round with a four over 75. He used a gap wedge to ace the 115-yard hole. The feat was witnessed by Dennis Buck, Mike Daniels and Jerry Farber.

DTHS Trojans took to the field Friday night in non-conference action against Seneca. The JV Trojans stomped Seneca, coming away with a 38-12 victory. The Varsity Trojans held the Fighting Irish to just one touchdown until late in the 4th quarter. Dwight's Jack Davidson (10) above got the lone TD score for Dwight. Trojan Tony Bernardy (33), at left, ran for 45 yards on ten carries and had a 43-yard catch.

Friday, August 29 Dwight vs. Seneca Varsity -

Dwight traveled to Seneca to face off against the Irish in their first game of the season, falling 14-7.

It was a battle throughout the first half, as both defenses were stifling.

Seneca would eventually hit quarterback Chris Peck and take him out of the game with a leg injury. Peck would attempt to return, only to hit the sidelines once more. Michael Bennett would replace him behind center.

It wasn't until 1:50 remained in the first half that the Trojans would get on the board with a 13-yard touchdown run by Jack Davidson, to give Dwight the 7-0 lead going into halftime.

The score would remain at 7-0 late into the third quarter, but Seneca would tie it up after a two-yard TD run.

The fight to break the stalemate would run deep into the fourth quarter, when the Irish set up for a 26-yard field goal attempt with under 30 seconds remaining.

Dwight was ready to block the field goal and possibly send it into overtime, when Seneca faked it and threw for a 16-yard touchdown pass with 18 seconds left in the match-up, getting the win over the Trojans, 14-7.

Despite the injury, Peck was 3-4 with 67 yards passing on the day. Bennett, who took over for Peck, would complete a pass for 28 yards and throw two picks.

Jack Davidson ended up with 49 yards rushing on the night, with the TD score, along with two receptions for 40 yards. Tony Bernardy ran for 45 yards on ten carries and had a 43-yard catch. Jace Kennedy caught a 12-yard pass.

Leading the defense was Bernardy, with five tackles. Kennedy had four tackles and a sack. Drew Travers had four tackles, including one for a loss. Bennett had three tackles, one for a loss. Cole Mack, Ryan Gaston, Daniel Colclasure and Nate Seabert each had two tackles. Hunter Esposito had one tackle for a loss.

Dwight's defense held Seneca to 0/10 on third down conversions, but the one fourth down conversion is what hurt them. Six penalties for a loss of 50 yards didn't help either.

The Trojans gear up to take on Hoopston on Friday. They begin the season 0-1.

JV

The Dwight JV football team opened their season with a 38-12 win over rival Seneca on Friday night. "Defense was the key tonight as our kids played tremendous defense all night and kept Seneca at bay, we (continued on page 12) had a short field for many of our

"Katy, Kaitlyn, and Kayla laid down great sacrifice bunts with the RBIs," said Coach Trainor. "We were

Tri-Point Chargers Add Golf to Their Fall Sports Schedule

The Tri-Point Chargers have added golf to their fall sports schedule, after then-junior Kyle Robinson was their only golfer last season - playing in just three tournaments.

This year, Robinson returns as a senior, along with new team members Roger Viti, sophomore; Jacob (JC) Carrera, freshman, and Mark Miller. Together they are generating interest in Chargers golf.

"This year we really wanted to field a team and it looks like we are on the right track," said head coach Michael Gernentz. "With Kyle to help lead the team, we should have the right chemistry with Roger, Mark, and JC for the future of golf in Tri-Point."

(continued from page 9) had a short field for many of our scores tonight, that's all because of how good our defense played." "Both of Seneca's scores came on broken plays and other than those two plays, our kids didn't have any other break-downs." The Trojan offense was clicking on all cylinders too, as they scored five times throughout the contest.

Austin Kavanaugh led the way with three rushing touchdowns, Bryant Galan added a touchdown and 2

PATS - one rushing and one catching, Carter Wykes scored a touchdown, Blake Graham caught 2 PATS, and Justin Fox threw for 3 PATS. The Trojan offensive line, consisting of: Jeshua McCullough, Andrew Gorman, Kyle Henson, Jack Hilt, Hunter Esposito, Walker Eutsey and Cameron Olsen won the battle up front and this was proven as all touchdowns were rushing touchdowns. This was a great way to start the season; the hard work that the Trojans did in the summer really paid off.

With the win the Trojan record is 1-0.

The Role of the Church in Your Life and Community: Edification

by Kurt Hoover, pastor
The best attributes of America, the nation of which we are a part and live within the comfort and protection of, can be traced to the guidance and instruction of God's word still speaking to us from the Bible and in Christian community. God's Word convicting us in our hearts and holding out before us the best possibilities for just and compassionate society. The worst of America could be traced to individuals and entities turning away from Jesus, example and instruction "Love one another as I have loved you." John 15:12

I am not saying harm and evil does not come from people claiming to represent God's will, just pointing to the positive contributions of faith in God, especially mercy, grace, and forgiveness of sin from God through Jesus (from Jesus through you). I believe those who would use religion over and against fellow humanity do not know, or follow God's will revealed by Jesus in scripture and through the work of the Holy Spirit in human hearts bringing peace in the midst of angst.

I believe the church's role for edification in society serves as inoculation and antidote for evils which otherwise plague our lives. Intellectual, moral, spiritual improvement and enlightenment is a simple definition for edification. The failures of the people of the church to be excellent examples of moral and spiritual living suggest that the church will always struggle to fulfill this needed role in society. None are perfect, with or without God.

If you are not active in a church for this reason, perhaps the church needs you to keep us on task. Together we can proclaim that the power to live as God calls us to is not our own, we are not perfect. This power to love our neighbor as ourselves is God's gift for us through faith. Like forgiveness we don't deserve it, but God works goodness in us anyway.

"But how can they call on one in whom they have not believed? And how are they to believe in one in whom they have never heard? And how are they to hear without one to proclaim the faithfulness of the God in Jesus the Savior?" Romans 10:14

The church fulfills its role of edification through teaching the promises of God fulfilled in and through the lives of ordinary people, not super Christians. People like you and me who welcome God's presence in and with them; rather than conforming to the world, by the power of grace and mercy, transforming the world. As we ourselves are freed by God's mercy, grace, and forgiveness of sin from fear, distrust, and anger, one is a living witness to God's presence and power through word and deed. Let us give thanks.

I am sure you know good people who for any variety of reasons do not regularly go to church; they have received intellectual, moral, spiritual improvement and enlightenment from the best witnesses of our society including friends and neighbors and perhaps you. Yet people say to me they love God, but church people have left a bad taste in their mouths. When we come to church for Jesus, the flavor is improved for everyone.

As one who knows the good you and I do, we do not do on our own, rather only by the mercy and grace of God quietly working from within, and patiently waiting to be recognized. I also know there is greater joy, peace, and love in store which comes to us through intellectual, moral, spiritual improvement and enlightenment in relationship with God.

Future topics of "Acts of Compassion" and "Working for Justice" may have been what came to mind when you read the title "The Role of the Church in Your Life and Community". These are premier roles through which the love of God is revealed in our lives and community by the church and her people, yet they are merely human without relationship with the one who loves us while we are yet sinners. This Lord who poured out his love for all on the Cross is not content to leave us to our base instincts.

Edification in and through participation in worship, education, and fellowship within the life of the church makes us better spouses, neighbors, and co-workers; even teaches us to apply mercy, grace, and forgiveness to situations which cannot be made better any other way.

Thank you for reading.

Livingston County Retired Teachers Meet

Forty-six members and guests of the Livingston County Retired Teachers met August 19 at Baby Bull's Restaurant in Pontiac. After member sign-in, a breakfast buffet was held.

President Navana Ahrends opened the meeting by leading the membership in reciting the Pledge of Allegiance and singing "God Bless America." She ended the introductory part of the meeting with a thought for the day about the "flower."

A moment of silence was held for deceased members Jean Godden and Mildred Engelhorn.

President Ahrends recognized several guests who were in attendance: Aldora Hextell, Paula Trainor Rosenbaum, Loryann Eis, Chris Gluck, Karen Munz and Deb Roeschley.

Cathy Montgomery, membership co-chair, introduced Paula, a retired music teacher, who presented the program, "Fun with Flowers." Paula is a master gardener with the U of I Extension. She presented a program on flower arranging with many prairie flowers and organized three different color arrangements for the group. She also put several flowers in Rt. 66 bottles and gave them to people who had August and September birthdays.

The business meeting agenda began with a call to order and President Ahrends asking everyone to read the secretary's and treasurer's reports. They were accepted as read.

Navana announced that she has received word that Dorothy Roche is now a State Honorary Life Member. She will also become a unit honorary member.

has visited all 22 countries she represents and finds LCRT the most informed about happenings in the state. Some updates she provided are as follows:

- Mary Shaw is the new lobbyist at the IRTA office and began her duties July 1.
- The Legal Defense Fund has received $350,000 and $115,000 has been spent.
- Recognized Roger Tuttle, who took her place as Area I rep for the finance committee, for doing a good job serving in that capacity.
- Upcoming enrollment date for insurance is October 15.

John Wille, co-chair for the legislative committee, spoke briefly and told the group the legislature hasn't been in session. He announced Don Gibb, representative for Region 7 to the IRTA Leg. Committee, was in Springfield helping to decide what legislators they would throw their support to in the upcoming election. Finally, he mentioned the seven-year legal fight led by WEA in the state of Washington. The Washington Supreme Court has upheld cuts in retirement benefits for more than 100,000 K-12 educators. WEA has promised to continue the fight.

Bert Kinate, membership co-chair, reported Region 7 has 33,000 members at the present time and it is their goal to have 40,000 by the end of the year. She passed out nonmember lists and asked all to identify a name they could ask to join and then sign the name beside theirs.

She also reported the group has gained 16 members since last August, but unfortunately, 15 have passed away during the year, so they are only up one member.

President Ahrends added that they ask the nonmembers to join the local organization as well as the state. The unit dues stay with LCRT and helps them with various activities benefiting their membership.

Cathy Montgomery, membership co-chair, gave a short report on the scholarship project. They have now sent a list of the qualifications to the principals of schools in the county. By September 30, teachers should apply. The winners will be announced by October 21. On November 1, checks will be issued to the two teachers in the county who have won and principals will be notified.

President Ahrends asked members to call or write her about problems they are having with current state-sponsored Medicare Advantage plans, namely United Health Care PPO and Humana HMO. She plans to make an appointment with Jason Barickman within the next couple of weeks to talk to him about seeking solutions to the problems the members are having.

Roger Tuttle, chair for special projects, announced the 50/50 winner. $116.00 was taken in at the door for the scholarship project and Louise Masching won half of the pot.

Chris Gluck, AMBA District Manager (Association Member Benefit Advisors), explained benefits to association members. This organization has partnered with IRTA to provide many services and benefits. After providing full explanation of the plan, a question and answer period followed.

President Ahrends announced that Debbie Ruff, coordinator of the Conservation & Ag Expo, has asked the LCRT for help on October 9 at the 4-H Park in Pontiac. It will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. for grades first through fifth. If anyone is interested, call Debbie at the Livingston County Soil & Water Conservation office. Phone 815-844-6127, ext. 3. She needs to know no later than September 12.

Since all business had been discussed, President Ahrends gave a final reminder to everyone to get dues and reservations for the fall luncheon (October 21) in as soon as possible.

John Wille made the motion to dismiss and Steve Rapp seconded it. The meeting adjourned at 11:25 a.m.

Oaklawn Cemetery Gates

by Bridget De Waard
Last Sunday, Scott Hager held a celebratory gathering at his home for all those who worked to help make the Oaklawn cemetery gate remodel project a success.

Started last March in an effort to improve the existing gates as well as remain in compliance with state laws, the project was completed through monetary donations received from the community, in addition to those who donated their time, effort and materials.

The original gates, which were crafted in 1877, were restored as part of the project, and now grace the new entrance. Several other updates, such as the location of the gates, in addition to improvements made to the landscaping around the entrance, were also completed as part of the project.

"The cemetery board is still deliberating about adding decorative finials to the tops of the gates," Hager commented. "But the gates are otherwise considered finished."

The project brought together many different groups and businesses in and around Dwight, whose combined efforts led to the beautiful new gates which now greet those visiting the graves of their loved ones.

Local artist Barbara De Waard aided in the conception of the proposal, drawing out the potential design in addition to creating stationery which helped fund the project. Scott Hager, George Hager, and Carolyn Curtis, who are all cemetery board members, led the letter writing campaign which helped raise additional monies towards the cost of the new gates. Tyler Cockerham volunteered to design and plant the landscape around the gates as part of a school project. Jerry Beier aided in the Gospel Choir concert, which helped offset the cost of the gates.

Many businesses also donated their time and materials for the project, many at cost. These businesses included: Grieff's Precious Monuments and Laser Etchings, which provided black granite; Ribber Construction, which provided concrete for the four foot base; Larry Seabert of Tech-Ni-Kolor, who redid the gates; The Country Mansion, which donated the space for the benefit concert; and Andrew Funk of Border Magic, who provided brick and decorated the border of the gates.

John Harner, the sexton, also volunteered his time and equipment to dig bases for the gates.

"The gates could not have been completed without the help of everyone involved, as well as the generosity of the Dwight community," Hager said.

There may be another Gospel show this upcoming spring to help fund the possible finials, so watch for updates in The Paper to stay informed.
