Retired Rear Admiral Christian Andreassen, a native of Dwight, was inducted into the United States Geospatial Intelligence Hall of Fame on Oct. 6, and had an undersea mountain named after him.

by Myke Feinman
Managing Editor

Retired Rear Admiral Christian Andreassen, a 1957 graduate of Dwight Township High School, was inducted into the United States Geospatial Intelligence Hall of Fame on Oct. 6.

He was honored with a seamount, an undersea mountain at least 1,000 meters in height above the surrounding seafloor, named after him.

"Shortly after I retired from the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency (NGA), the Navy, NOAA and NGA jointly submitted a proposal for a seamount...to be named for me," Andreassen said in a letter to Dwight relatives.

The seamount is located in the Pacific Ocean off the coast of Chile, just south of the Tropic of Capricorn (see map).

"RADM Andreassen's dedicated service, leadership and contributions spanning 50 years brought his expertise to bear to help solve key technical issues to better map the seafloor, establish new hydrographic policies, develop improved standards, and foster better international cooperation for improving charting and safe navigation for the civil mariner and the U.S. military," said a document nominating Andreassen for the honor.

Andreassen told his relatives that a feature like a seamount "cannot be named for a person unless they have had some relationship to the area of its discovery," he said.

Undersea Mountain Named After Dwight Native Christian Andreassen

"I was instrumental in using gravity/seat surface height data to be used in prediction of possible hazards to our submarine fleet," he continued.

"This seamount is one of the seamounts predicted in this way, about half of which are actually hazards to submarines.

"The least depth of each seamount is published on nautical charts in support of navigation safety," he added.

Andreassen said "such features are not normally named for living persons so it was a surprise to him when the U.S. Board on Geographical Names did this."

Andreassen has been involved with several fields of study since 1963, including geodesy, hydrography, bathymetry, and to the safety of worldwide navigation.

At the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration legacy organization, the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, Andreassen was instrumental in accurately measuring the earth's gravity and improved the ability to track space flights.

According to the document used to nominate Andreassen for the honor, it says he "served in the Geometric Satellite Program that was the beginning of the Global Positioning System."

Andreassen became Chief of the Planning and Methodology Branch of Geodesy that planned all movement of geodetic parties around the United States.

He served as Captain aboard NOAA survey vessels to better chart U.S. waters and was Deputy Director of the Office of Fleet Operations.

He also served as Chief of Nautical Charting overseeing research and development, charting, and hydro surveying of U.S. waters.

"He has expertise in geodesy, multi-beam surveys, mapping and charting, photogrammetry, and charting research and development," the letter stated.

From 1992 to 1997, he served as president of the International Hydrographic Organization, streamlining organizational structure, enhancing the membership process, developing standards for electronic charts, establishing an industry advisory group to improve exchange agreements, and also served as a chairman of the copyright committee.

During his career he was recognized with the Silver and Bronze Medals of the Department of Commerce, the IHO Commodore Cooper medal, the DoD Distinguished Civilian Service Medal, the Presidential Rank Award for Distinguished Service as a Senior Executive; and the Alexander Dalrymple Award by the United Kingdom Hydrographic Office for demonstrating outstanding dedication and contribution to worldwide hydrography.

One must be retired for two years before being considered for inclusion into the Hall of Fame.

He has been retired for four years.

"This should be the last of such honors," he wrote to his family, signing the letter, "Chris Andreassen, a kid from a little village in Illinois."

Area Voters Trek to Polls Nov. 8 With Few Local Choices

by Myke Feinman
Managing Editor

Note: There will be more in-depth coverage of the elections as we approach the election next month, but the following is an overview of the races and non-races.

This week's issue also includes a story on what it means to voters when they decide on a setback for wind farm development in Livingston County.

In the Nov. 8 election, there are few area races involving local candidates.

Livingston County

The State's Attorney race in Livingston County, for example, was decided in the Republican Primary with Randy Yedinak coming out victorious and now facing no Democratic opposition in November.

The same goes for the Livingston County Coroner, with Danny "Doc" Watson defeating his opposition to be the Republican candidate in November. There is no Democratic opposition.

Leann Dixon, Republican, is running unopposed for Circuit Clerk.

There is a race in County Board District Two which includes most of The Paper's readership area in the county. Incumbent Bill Flott is stepping down, but to fill four seats that have four-year terms are Jason Bunting, Joseph Steichen, Bob Young and Ronald Kestner, all Republicans.

The Democratic candidate is Michael Bennett-Tejes.

Also for District two, one is seeking to fill an unexpired two-year term, Republican Steven Lovell.

Grundy County

Joan N. Harrop a Democrat, is running against Republican Corri Trotter for Circuit Clerk.

Incumbent Republican State's Attorney Jason Helland is running against Democratic challenger Brooke Shupe.

John W. Callahan, Republican incumbent coroner, is running unopposed.

For County Board District Three, which includes areas served by The Paper, there is a race between six candidates for three seats:

Francis "Frank" Halpin, Jim Ryan and Ann Gill are Democratic County Board candidates, against Republicans Harold Vota, Brian Severson, and Mashale Castelli.

Kankakee County

The County Board District 11, which includes Herscher, has no race with Carol Webber, Republican, running unopposed for one two-year term seat.

There is a race for the State's Attorney between two newcomers, Republican Ed Glazier, and Democrat Jim Rowe.

Coroner Bob Gessner is running unopposed as a Republican.

The Circuit Clerk position has a race between Sandra Cianci, Republican, and Democrat Jeff Hackley.

State Races

Thomas M. Bennett is running unopposed as a Republican to retain his seat in the General Assembly for the 106th District.

Jason Barickman is the Republican candidate for Senator in the 53rd Legislative District, running unopposed.

Dan Brady, a Republican, is running unopposed for the 105th state legislative district.

Kate Cloonen, incumbent Democratic 79th district state representative, is running against Lindsay Parkhurst, Republican.

There is a race between Sue Rezin, Republican incumbent Senator for the 53rd Senate District, and her Challenger, Christine Benson.

For State Comptroller, there is a race between incumbent Republican Leslie Geissler Munger, and challengers Democrat Su-

Series of Car Burglaries Hit Dwight Oct. 12

by Myke Feinman
Managing Editor

A string of car burglaries were reported to Dwight Police, occurring overnight between Oct. 12 and 13.

All were reported to police on the morning of Oct. 13.

One burglary was a car in the 200 block of W. Seminole with nothing reported stolen, but the glove compartment and center console was ransacked, police said.

The rest of the burglaries occurred on the Southeast side of Dwight.

One was in the 300 block of Scott Drive with roughly $5 in change taken.

Another occurred in the 200 block of Scott Drive with $97 in cash taken and a phone charger stolen.

In the 100 block of Scott Drive, nothing was taken but again the glove compartment and center console were ransacked. At this home, the car owner usually leaves at 2:30 a.m. so police believe it occurred prior to that time.

The final report was in the 200 block of Susan Drive with a Dwight Trojan sweat-shirt stolen along with volleyball shoes and $10 in cash.

"We don't have any leads or suspects at this time," said Police Chief Tim Henson. "All burglaries remain under investigation."

Police ask that any residents with information call the crime tip hotline at (815) 584-1975.

Any leads resulting in an arrest and conviction could mean a cash reward for the person calling in the tip.

Henson also said that anyone with a home security camera should notify the Dwight Police. This will allow for crime-fighting data in future crimes.

"Call us if you see people out and about late at night," Henson said. He said they can call the non-emergency number of (815) 844-0911 or if it is more serious, call 911.

Henson also reminded residents to lock their vehicles and keep valuables out of sight.

Attorney General Madigan Requests 'No Delay' for Mautino

by Tom Tock

In a rather surprising development, Illinois Attorney General Lisa Madigan filed a brief last week asking the First District Appellate Court in Chicago to deny Illinois Auditor General Frank Mautino's latest request to delay a State Board of Elections hearing into his former campaign spending.

Mautino, whose previous campaign spending is under a federal investigation as well as scrutiny from the Illinois State Board of Elections, pleaded his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination in his most recent request to delay Board of Elections proceedings.

David Cooke of Streator, former Dwight resident, whose formal complaint in February of this year prompted the investigations into Mautino's former campaign spending, told The Paper Friday that the court had not yet ruled on Madigan's brief.

Madigan was quoted in an area daily as saying the state wanted a speedy resolution of the proceedings because of its interest in regulating the election process and ensuring political committees observe the rules.

Stay Away from Frightful Investment Moves

Halloween is almost here. When you're passing out candy, you'll see many "scary" costumes that will probably just make you smile. But in real life, you can easily find some things that truly are frightening – such as bad investment moves. Here are a few that you'll want to avoid:

- Chasing after "hot" stocks – Many so-called "experts" – not to mention your friends, neighbors, relatives and co-workers – are more than willing to provide you with "tips" on "hot" stocks. But by the time you hear about these stocks, they may already be cooling off – and, in any case, they may not have been appropriate for your needs in the first place.

- Investing too aggressively or too conservatively – If you constantly worry about the value of your investment portfolio, and you lose sleep whenever the market drops sharply, you might be taking on too much risk for your own comfort – so you may need to invest somewhat less aggressively. Conversely, if you invest primarily in conservative, low-yielding investments because you think they will help you avoid losses, you might not achieve the long-term growth potential you need to help you reach your important financial goals, such as a comfortable retirement. When you invest, try to balance your need for growth with your personal tolerance for risk.

- Failing to diversify – If you only own one type of financial asset, and a market downturn hits that asset class strongly, your portfolio will likely take a big hit. You can greatly reduce the effects of market volatility – and give yourself more chances for success – by spreading your money among a range of investments. (Keep in mind, though, that diversification can't always guarantee profits or protect against all losses.)

- Paying too much attention to today's news – Unfortunately, many of the news items of today – or of any day – are more negative than positive. But as an investor, you don't want to be forced into a "sky-is-falling" mentality, because such a mind-set could lead you to make rash, unwise decisions, such as selling quality investments too soon or staying out of the market altogether. Generally, no single event has truly long-term consequences for investors. So stay invested and follow a smart, long-term investment strategy that's suitable for your situation – and look beyond today's headlines.

- Ignoring opportunities – Are you taking full advantage of all the investment opportunities available to you? For example, are you contributing as much as you can afford to your 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored retirement plan? If not, you are underutilizing one of the best retirement savings vehicles around. At a minimum, put in enough to earn your employer's matching contribution, if one is offered.

Halloween usually ends with few tricks and many treats. Steering clear of the scary investment moves described above can help you make steady progress toward your financial objectives.

U.S. Gas Drops 2.6 cents

The U.S. national gas price per gallon average eased this week, down to $2.23 Monday from $2.256.

"Oil prices fell $1 per barrel last week, but maintained the $50-per-barrel level due to concern over the likelihood of OPEC and non-OPEC countries cutting oil production in the weeks ahead," said Patrick DeHaan, analyst for Gasbuddy.com. The Paper publishes last week's and this week's lowest averages each week for the towns listed below.

Average U.S. gallon regular price is made up of 21% state & local taxes; 14% distribution and marketing; 19% refining and 47% crude.

sana Mendoza, Libertarian Claire Ball, and Green candidate Tim Curtin.

State Referendum

There is also a state referendum which asks voters for a decision on an amendment to the state constitution. Voters are asked if tax revenue earmarked for costs related to vehicles and transportation should remain in that fund. The alternative is to allow the state legislators to move those funds for other required state expenses.

National Races

For president/vice president are candidates Donald Trump and Michael Pence for the Republican ticket, Hillary Clinton and Timothy Kaine for the Democratic ticket, Gary Johnson and Bill Weld for Libertarians, and the Green party has Jill Stein and Ajamu Baraka.

Republican Adam

Kinzinger is running unopposed for the 26th Congressional District.

There is a race for U.S. Senate between Republican Mark Kirk, Democrat Tammy Duckworth, Libertarian Kenton McMillen and Green party Scott Summers.

Flott: Windfarm Referendum To Determine Development Locations

by Myke Feinman
Managing Editor

On Nov. 8, Livingston County residents will have a choice: Do you or do you not wish to see wind farm developments in your township.

Now, you may say, “there is no such referendum on the ballot.”

But that is incorrect, according to Bill Flott, R-Dwight, who chairs the Livingston County Agriculture Zoning and Emergency Services Committee.

The actual referendum on the ballot asks voters if they wish to see a 1,600-foot setback from a residence for windfarm developments. The current zoning requirement is 1,200 feet.

If a township’s majority says “no,” on the question, that means 1,600 feet is not enough and the residents want to see a larger setback.

Flott told The Paper last week that this referendum is — in effect — not just a referendum on windfarm zoning and setbacks.

“What it is, is a referendum on wind turbine (developments) in your area,” Flott said.

He said wind farm developers cannot make a profit at higher setbacks, such as the 4,000-foot setback requested by Indian Grove Township.

So in essence, a “no” vote on the setback referendum is a “no” vote on wind farm development in the township where the voter resides with its plan to increase the setback from 1,200 to 1,600, it would be one of the most restrictive county zoning ordinances in the state, which in itself could preclude development, Flott said.

If the county goes ahead

And, if the county ends up with a checkerboard with no contiguous townships voting for the 1,600 setback for wind farm development, that too “could preclude development,” Flott indicated.

Another issue with the referendum, which he said county officials are well aware of, is that the majority voting population blocks are in the municipalities, not the rural areas. Therefore, for example, the village of Dwight could outvote the rural voters in Dwight Township.

The county was also concerned with other issues related to putting such a referendum on the ballot that allows townships to choose zoning issues.

By state statute, counties have zoning authority, not townships.

Flott said he wrote to the Attorney General, Lisa Madigan, who last month (18 months later) came down with a judgment on the following issues:

“The Attorney General said it was okay to put it on the ballot,” Flott said.

He added that Lisa Madigan confirmed that townships have no authority on zoning. They can, of course, request the county officials to zone in certain ways which the county is required to consider in zoning decisions. But other factors could outweigh a township’s wishes.

Can the county have different zoning for different townships?

Madigan was quiet on that point, saying there is no previous law on the question.

Meantime, what are other considerations that would preclude a township’s wishes in allowing a wind farm development to come in?

Health issues. The opposition in the Fairbury area has voiced concerns about noise and about unheard noise from vibrations known as “infrasound.” But the scientific jury is still out on how far a home must be to not be affected by “infrasound.” Infrasound has been known to come from wind turbines, and could cause “sleep disturbance, panic, chronic sleep deprivation leading to blood pressure elevation, memory dysfunction and more,” according to one study.

County Finances. Another factor precluding a township’s wishes is economic benefits to the county. When the Streator-Cayuga Ridge Wind Farm went in near Odell, it created a revenue stream of $6 million to Livingston County coffers for 150 wind turbines. And that was before the turbines began generating property taxes, which the school districts depend on for local funding.

School Finances. For Tri-Point Schools, for example, which has a total property tax revenue of $3.6 million, its wind farm development means roughly $1.2 million additional tax dollars in the first full year of property taxes after the development is completed next year.

That first full payment is payable in the summer of 2018.

“We are very interested in Sullivan and Broughton Townships, straight west of where current Kelly Creek project is taking place,” said Jeff Bryan, Tri-Point Superintendent.

“If that township gives a thumbs up to the referendum, I think there is some interest to expand the project out west, maybe another 90 turbines,” said Bryan.

That new development would also impact Pontiac High School and Saunemin Grade School with increased revenue, Bryan said.

Mammography Screenings really do SAVE LIVES.

"Annual mammography detects breast cancer at its early stages, giving the best options for treatment and the best chance for living a longer, healthier life."

— Terri Jacob, RN, MSN
Certified Breast Health Navigator

These simple guidelines from the American Congress of Obstetricians and Gynecologists can help detect breast cancer early:

- Know how your breasts normally look and feel. Any changes should be reported to your healthcare provider.
- Have a clinical breast exam at least every 3 years between ages 29-39. Beginning at age 40, women should have a breast exam by a healthcare provider every year.
- For women at average risk without symptoms of breast cancer, have an annual screening mammogram beginning at age 40. Talk to your physician about the mammography screening schedule that is best for you.

Understanding a Breast Cancer Diagnosis

Whether it's October or not, breast cancer is one of the most recognized cancers in the world.

Thanks to massive public awareness campaigns, nearly everyone understands the significance behind a pink ribbon, but how many can say they have breast cancer knowledge beyond pink?

The truth is, breast cancer is extremely complex and not a one-size-fits-all disease. It's classified into different types based on the unique biology of each tumor, including the size, whether and where it's spread, how it looks under the microscope and what's causing it to grow at the cellular level, according to the American Cancer Society. Understanding the various biological features is critical, as they help determine treatment decisions and directly affect patient outcomes.

As breast cancer survivor Pamela Cunningham knows all too well, knowledge is power when navigating a breast cancer journey. When diagnosed with Stage II HER2-positive early breast cancer, an aggressive type of the disease, Cunningham said that while she understood there were different stages, she was shocked to discover there were so many different types.

In fact, her mother had faced breast cancer several years earlier and neither Cunningham nor her father knew what kind her mother had.

To better understand her diagnosis, she talked with friends who had faced similar situations and even sought a second opinion.

After learning more, Cunningham felt confident in her decision to receive a treatment regimen that helped shrink her tumor prior to undergoing surgery to remove it.

"I'm really thankful I went the way I did," Cunningham said. "I would advise other women to do their own research, find out the available treatments and don't be afraid to ask your doctor about all of your options and possible side effects."

Cunningham and her oncologist, Dr. Karen Tedesco of New York Oncology Hematology, offer the following tips to help patients more fully understand how to approach a breast cancer diagnosis.

1) Strength in Numbers: The news of a cancer diagnosis can be incredibly overwhelming to patients and their loved ones. Make the most of the first few doctor appointments by bringing a friend outside of the immediate family to ensure the information is being absorbed and the right questions are being asked.

2) Build a Support Team: In addition to family and friends, it's important to have a strong health care and surrounding support team. Seek out nurse navigators, local breast support groups and financial assistance to ensure you're properly informed and have all the resources you need.

Do not hesitate to consider a second opinion until you feel 100 percent confident in your health care team and treatment plan.

3) Understand Your Diagnosis: Learning about your specific type of breast cancer is essential because the unique biology of your tumor can directly impact your breast cancer journey.

Knowing the four S's – stage, size, status and subtype – of your tumor can help you better understand your diagnosis and the treatment options available to you.

4) Ask Questions, Then Ask More: Consider asking your doctor the following questions: Are you eligible for clinical trials? Are there special treatments geared toward your specific type of breast cancer?

Area Red Cross Issues Emergency Need For Platelet Donations to Help Cancer, Surgery Patients

The American Red Cross has an emergency need for eligible donors in the Princeton area to make an appointment now to give platelets to ensure critical patient needs are met. Platelets, the clotting portion of blood primarily given to cancer patients during treatment, must be transfused within five days of donation and, therefore, are always in great demand. "Cancer patients rely on platelet donations. Chemotherapy drugs and radiation used to treat cancer can affect the bone marrow where platelets are produced, and platelet transfusions help to prevent life-threatening bleeding," said Laurie Nehring, communications program director, American Red Cross Heart of America Blood Services Region. "We refer to our generous platelet donors as 'Cancer Kickers' because they help patients kick cancer. Trauma patients, those undergoing organ transplants and premature babies also regularly need platelets." Seasonal colds and flu are currently preventing many regular donors from giving, and the devastating impact of Hurricane Matthew has disrupted donations in many locations in the Southeast. More than 100 blood drives have been forced to cancel resulting in 3,100 uncollected blood and platelet donations. Healthy donors are needed now to meet the needs of patients at local hospitals as well as in areas affected by the hurricane. While there is an emergency need for platelets, donors can also help by giving blood as there is an urgent need for all blood types. Jeff Hull's wife, Jennifer, was diagnosed with cancer last December and has received multiple platelet transfusions. Though he was a platelet donor prior to her illness, Hull's donations now have even more significance. "Giving platelets may take a few hours from your day, but it can add years to the life of a cancer patient," said Hull. "It allowed my wife to be there for our daughter's first day of kindergarten. It's allowing my kids to help my wife celebrate another birthday. Platelet donation has kept my family whole." How to donate platelets or blood: visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767)

Sometimes You Lose

I almost wrote this week's column before I left tonight to head to a local pub and grill to watch the Cubs game and cheer them on with some fellow Chicagoans, but it became a time crunch and I decided to postpone writing it until now.

I was going to write about how cool it is to finally be able to watch this team in an atmosphere with a bunch of other people who are just as crazy about a team as you are, and how it's similar to rooting for a college team, but x10000.

Instead, I'm here writing about how sometimes you just lose, there's days when you just have to take it on the chin and it's on to the next one.

The aforementioned Cubs, they lost, they lost at home, they lost on a weak opposite field homerun that landed just a few rows up in the Wrigley bleachers, that was the biggest loss of the day, a 1-0, boring, sad loss.

Enter my other losses, I have three fantasy football teams: all 3, not one, not two, but all three lost this week. A few of them lost by a lot of points, not one of those, I lost on a fluke touchdown, just an old fashioned bad loss.

I'm also in a survivor pool where you pick an NFL team to advance each week, and I had successfully picked a team each week until now, I picked the Steelers, and they, just like I did, lost.

Tomorrow I take another loss in that it's Monday and I have to go back to work, but I won't lose as many times as I did today, and for that I am very grateful.

With all that said, the Cubs are still alive, and have more games to play. My fantasy teams also will see another day, and maybe this week won't be so bad, it can't get worse than today.

Here's hoping for a few more wins this week. Go, Cubs!

We would like to send a special thank you out to the Highway Commissioners of Kankakee County for being pallbearers. The line up of township trucks was really appreciated in his honor. For Kramer, many thanks for everything that you did.

Also to Chuck Unz for driving the Essex Township truck. And for Bill Horn riding along. To Chuck Berry for having all the equipment out at township building running and lights on.

We appreciated the Essex Fire Department for truck at funeral home and outside of fire house with all the people out front.

The fire departments' tribute during the wake was very nice. Thanks again.

How To Talk To Aging Parents About The Future

Talk to your aging parents about important documents, living arrangements and other necessary life choices.

Submitted photo

Parents care for and guide children into adulthood. But as parents age, sometimes the roles are reversed.

Establishing a plan will help everyone feel more at ease about the years ahead. Here are four common concerns you may face with aging parents and tips to manage each conversation.

Plan Living Arrangements

Multi-level homes and complicated floor plans can make everyday living difficult and dangerous for seniors. However, convincing parents to move into a more manageable home or assisted living may be tough. Suggest the transition early, while parents are still active to help them ease into the idea. If they insist on staying put, consider homecare and installing assistive equipment, like handrails.

Focus on the Road

Driving can be a sensitive topic because for many, it's a key part of remaining independent.

Take 90-year-old Vivian Cash who started driving in 1949. While always priding herself on her safe driving -- in fact, she's never had an accident -- she recently pulled into her driveway and stopped too close to a telephone pole, ultimately needing help moving her car. That was when she decided it was time to stop driving.

"If I'm driving and I had a problem, I could hurt someone or myself. It just isn't worth it," explained Cash.

Of course, not everyone will be willing to hang up their keys, so approach the topic before noticeable problems surface, such as with vision or dexterity, and agree to certain warning signs that might indicate it's time to rethink transportation.

When it is time for parents to stop driving, help them map out ways to get to all their activities.

Update Important Documents

Most people don't like discussing wills and life insurance. As a result, they're often written and not revisited.

However, both need to be updated periodically, especially when major life changes take place, like marriage, death or divorce.

Ensure your parents have a will that's been updated in the past five years. If not, it should be revised to reflect their current wishes.

Establish who will be in charge of executing the details, and determine where documents will be stored.

Any updates to wills need to be reflected in life insurance policies, since beneficiaries take precedence over whatever the will specifies.

Consider working with a trusted advisor who offers both life insurance and retirement planning, to ensure parents and family members are covered for the future every step of the way.

Gather Financials

Finances need to be discussed -- from retirement planning, debt consolidation and payment to logistics like where important documents are placed (digital and hard copies).

Even if parents don't want to divulge all their information, getting a general sense of the situation will make things easier when decisions need to be made.

Help your parents create a list of bank, benefits, pension and other accounts, as well as usernames and passwords.

Keep this information in a safe place, such as a fire-resistant safe. Know where items like tax files, car titles and the key to the safe are kept.

Aging isn't easy. Address everything now to leave your family at ease for the changes ahead.

Odell Sets Trick-or-Treat Hours, Discusses Equipment Purchases

The Odell Village board set the town's trick-or-treat hours for 4:30 to 7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 31, at its Oct. 10 board meeting.

At the meeting, the board also heard a report from Mayor Terry Joyner that he is interested in purchasing a generator to run the lift station, a gator and an 80-gallon tank to spray weeds.

He would also like to invest in a forklift to unload chemicals.

Joyner told the board he would research prices and report back to the trustees.

One trustee suggested he lease the gator from the government, which may be less expensive.

In other business, the board:

- heard from Village Attorney Ed Legner that he was contacted by Cypress Creek inquiring about agricultural zoning for solar farms. Legner said the ag zoning ordinances did not have any such provision.
- discussed enforcement of the village truck route.
- learned that for the month of September, there were 30 calls within the village, one arrest, one accident investigation, and three warnings issued. The Livingston County Sheriff's Police also received two dog calls that month.
- received the audit from Rick Phillips, village accountant, for the 2015-16 fiscal year. On a question about the allocation of payroll, he advised the village that a time study could be conducted to secure a clear picture of the time employees spend in each department and determine the percentage of payroll to come out of each fund. In addition, general fund money may be transferred to other funds that are showing a deficit, Phillips said.
- As of Sept. 30, the bank balances for the village are as follows: Odell Checking, $25,799.54; General Fund money market, $189,134.97; Illinois Motor Fuel Tax money market, $97,567.32; Odell MFT checking, $500.30; Odell Tourism checking, $45,373.20; Odell water savings, $93,336.39; and Odell general CDs, $227,907.79.

Dwight Sets Trick-or-Treat Hours / Free Yard Waste Pickups

by Madelyn Fogarty
madelynfogarty@yahoo.com

Trick-or-Treat hours in the Village of Dwight have been approved for Monday, October 31 from 4 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Everyone is reminded to use reduced speeds and extra caution when driving during these designated hours and to watch for children crossing streets.

Three free leaf pickup days have been scheduled for Dwight. Free leaf pickups will be on the first three Mondays in November - November 7, 14, and 21. Leaves must be in biodegradable kraft style paper bags, cardboard boxes, or rigid trash containers - no plastic bags are allowed. Leaves should be placed out for pickup by 6:00 a.m. Dwight residents are reminded that burning leaves is prohibited at all times within the Village.

An October 10 Services Committee meeting report was presented.

At that meeting, EMS Director Al Metzke gave an update on full-time Kurtz contract employees. Metzke also reported that EMS calls continue to increase with current calls totaling 880 as of October 10. Metzke encouraged the board to look at additional funding options for 24-hour staffing of the second ambulance. Metzke reported that he would be applying for a grant for radios for the rest of EMS and ESDA. And, lastly, he asked the board to consider replacing the 2008 ambulance in fiscal year 2017/18.

Also from the October 10 Services Committee meeting, Chief of Police Tim Henson requested permission to advertise for three more part-time police officers with a cost not to exceed $30,000. The village currently has three part-time officers whose work availability is limited. At the upcoming October 24 Village Board meeting, the Services Committee is expected to make a recommendation to the Board to advertise for the three part-time officer positions.

Chief Henson also discussed the possibility of holding a Citizens Police Academy in the spring. The academy would give citizens an opportunity to look at the inside workings of the police department.

"This gives the citizens a chance to get to know us better and allows them to get a better understanding of why we do what we do," reported Henson.

Dwight police are also looking to put together a voluntary community survey in an effort to get a clear picture of what local citizens' wants and needs are of their police department.

Henson reported that the current Starcom radio system has been a failure and officers have reverted back to using the department's portable radios until the situation is evaluated and resolved.

A Challenge/Patch Coin is being considered by Dwight Police and was proposed as a possible way to recognize citizens that go "above and beyond." The cost for 300 coins would be approximately $1,900.

Two vehicles seized and being held at the public works garage will go to the Clinton Auction to be sold.

A proposed contract will be reviewed to determine continued use of Clinton Auction. Chief Heson explained that vehicles involved in a drug seizure have to go through the State of Illinois process. Vehicles involved in a location violation, such as a DUI or driving with a revoked or suspended license, are controlled by local jurisdiction.

In other village matters, Police Chief Henson reported two unconfirmed reports of individuals dressed up as clowns and warned that a situation thought to be just funny "could end up being disorderly".

The board also:

- approved Resolution 2016-12 required by the title company handling the village purchase of property located at 411 W Delaware Street
- approved Resolution 2016-11 required by IDOT with regard to the Mazon Avenue Water Main project since it is a State highway.
- approved payment of bills totaling $235,352.32.
- denied a solicitor's request submitted by Just Energy
- denied a solicitor's request submitted by Santana Energy.
- approved a request by Cherry Red Roasters to hold a 5K Run on Saturday, 10/22 starting at 10 a.m. beginning at the business and winding through the south side of the village.
- learned of a horse drawn wagon Pub Crawl planned by Cherry Red Roasters on 10/22 from 9 p.m. - 12:30 a.m. The board advised Chief Henson to notify Cherry Red of safety recommendations / requirements.

The next meeting of the Dwight Village Board of Trustees will be 6:30 p.m., Monday, October 24, at the Public Services Complex.

One More Shot at State Title for Galloway

GSW Panther Cross Country standout, Daly Galloway, has her eyes set, once more, on a state title – and has endured a lot just to put herself back in prime position for a fourth consecutive season.

Prior to the season beginning, Daly dealt with some health issues related to low iron levels that would ultimately prove a hurdle in her quest.

But Galloway, a high school athlete turned recent Northern Illinois University signee, has battled to overcome and is ready for her chance at the top spot Saturday, November 5, at Detweiller Park in Peoria.

Zabel Competes at Sectionals

Dwight Trojans golfer, Morgan Zabel, competed in the IHSA golf sectional at the Pontiac Elks Golf Course and earned a score of 108.

DTHS TROJANS FOOTBALL

Tuesday, October 11 Dwight vs. Momence JV -

The JV Trojans gathered their fourth win of the season October 11, with a 20-10 victory over Momence.

Dwight started off the scoring on an eight-yard pass from Colton Holm to Dakota Wahl. The PAT to follow was good on a Holm run.

The next two scores were in the second half. The first was on a Cameron Klingler eight-yard run – PAT, no good, and the second was on a three-yard run by Wilton Jackman, followed by a failed PAT.

With the “W,” the JV Trojans move their record to 4-1 on the year. They played their final game of the season Monday in Catlin versus Salt Fork.

Friday, October 14 Dwight vs. Catlin

Varsity -

The Trojans fell victim to Catlin Friday night in Dwight, 22-14, falling to .500 on the season.

It was Dwight who would strike first, with QB Justin Fox finding Logan Graham for a seven-yard touchdown pass. Austin Kavanaugh would take it in for two to follow, and the Trojans would have an early 8-0 lead halfway through the first quarter.

It wasn’t until the end of the second quarter that Catlin would score, but a 32-yard pass completion, followed by a two-point conversion, would tie it up going into the half.

The third quarter saw Catlin come up with two TD runs that would put them up 22-8 heading into the final frame.

Fox would take it in for a two-yard touchdown at the 8:50 mark, but failed to connect with Walker Eutsey on the two-point conversion, making the score 22-14.

And that would be the last time either team scored.

Fox ended up with 157 yards on 17-27 passing, along with the TD. Kavanaugh made a seven-yard completion to Fox.

On the ground, Kavanaugh compiled 99 yards on 26 attempts. Logan Graham ran it ten times for 11 yards, while Fox had two yards on two carries.

Blake Graham caught nine passes for 67 yards, with Kavanaugh making three grabs for 55 yards. L. Graham had four receptions for 31 yards, while Dylan Mann made a four-yard catch.

Kyle Henson led the defense with three tackles (1.5 TFL). Andrew German, Fox, Kavanaugh, Mann, and B. Graham each had a tackle.

Rebels Win Streator Fall Classic

THE DWIGHT REBELS WON THE 12U STREATOR STORM FALL CLASSIC Sunday, October 2. They defeated the Streator Storm 14-4 in game one. Starting pitcher was Keeli Pumphrey, who walked one and struck out four in two innings. Hanna Gotch came in for relief, giving up five walks. The Rebels’ bats were on fire, with homers hit by Lily Kupec (2-3), Gotch (1-2), and Rachel Heath (3-3). Doubles were added by Sylvia Crater, Hailey Heath, and Kassy Kodat. Mariya Sisco, Chloe Sisco, Cadence Helms, and Murphy Connolly all contributed with base hits. In game two, Dwight defeated the Illinois Valley Aftershock 13-7. Addy Harms started in the circle, allowing just two walks and striking out two. Connolly went 2-2 with a home run. Helms, M. Sisco, Gotch, and Kupec all added hits for the Rebels. Pumphrey got the victory in game three, striking out one and walking five against the Seneca Irish. Dwight gave up four runs in the first inning, but tightened up their defense, winning 8-5 in five innings. Gotch went 2-3 with a double and two RBI. R. Heath went 1-3 with a double and two RBI. H. Heath was 2-3 with an RBI. Also hitting for the Rebels were M. Sisco, Harms, Crater, and Kodat. Dwight went 4-1 this fall and has one tournament remaining.

Fire Prevention Week Hero

While covering National Fire prevention week, I was able to shake hands with Smokey Bear (there is no “the” in his real name), the famous mascot of the National Forest Service. He took a moment to stop by the Dwight Fire Department, Oct. 9.

Captain Dusty Harmony was with me, and later looked up the legend of Smokey online as follows:
Smokey Bear was born on August 9, 1944, when the USDA Forest Service and the Ad Council agreed that a fictional bear named Smokey would be their symbol for forest fire prevention.

Artist Albert Staehle was asked to paint the first poster of Smokey Bear. It showed Smokey pouring a bucket of water on a campfire and saying “Care will prevent 9 out of 10 fires.”

Smokey Bear soon became very popular, and his image appeared on a lot of forest fire prevention materials. In 1947 his slogan became the familiar “Only YOU Can Prevent Forest Fires!”, which was later updated to be “Only YOU Can Prevent Wildfires!”

Then in the spring of 1950, in the Capitan Mountains of New Mexico, a young bear cub found himself caught in a burning forest. He climbed a tree to survive, but he was still badly burned. The firefighters who retrieved him were so moved by his bravery, they named him Smokey.

News about this real bear named Smokey spread across the nation, and he was soon given a new home at the National Zoo in Washington, D.C. As the living symbol of Smokey Bear, he played an important role in spreading messages of wildfire prevention and forest conservation. Smokey died in 1976 and was returned to Capitan, New Mexico, where he is buried at the State Historical Park, now called Smokey Bear Historical Park.

Smokey is kind of my personal hero, too. As a small child, I had an illustrated story book about the “real” bear found in the forest fire. It’s nice to meet your heroes in person.
Thanks for reading.

In the Electors of the State of Illinois:

The Illinois Constitution establishes a structure for government and laws. There are three ways to initiate change to the Illinois Constitution: (1) a constitutional convention may propose changes to any part; (2) the General Assembly may propose changes to any part; or (3) a petition initiative may propose amendments limited to structural and procedural subjects contained in the Legislative Article. The people of Illinois must approve any changes to the Constitution before they become effective. The purpose of this document is to inform you of proposed changes to the Illinois Constitution and provide you with a brief explanation and a summary of the arguments in favor of and in opposition to the proposed amendment.

Proposed changes to the existing constitutional amendments are indicated by underlining all new matter and by closing with a line all matter which is to be deleted.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO ADD SECTION 11 TO ARTICLE IX OF THE ILLINOIS CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE IX - REVENUE

SECTION 11. TRANSPORTATION FUNDS

This new Section is a limitation on the power of the General Assembly as a body of local government to use, direct, or transfer transportation funds for a purpose other than transportation. It does not, and is not intended to, impact or change the way in which the State and local governments use revenues, including the rules and income tax rate system that, or other income rules powers granted under this Constitution. ## Sign Up for Master Gardener Training and Volunteer Program

Would you like to learn about growing vegetables, landscaping, trees, insects or turf grass from the University of Illinois Extension?

The Livingston, McLean and Woodford County Master Gardeners want you to join their training program this winter; they will take you on a learning experience to find your inner gardener.

The Master Gardener program offers an opportunity to enrich your gardening knowledge, make a difference in the community, and meet others who share your love of plants and gardening.

During Master Gardener training, you will have the opportunity to learn about the many aspects of gardening from University of Illinois educators and specialists. The educators are U of I professionals who pre-sent class material in a manner that is useful and understandable to both the seasoned and novice gardener. Classes are held on 14 consecutive Wednesdays, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., beginning February 1 and running through May 3. The classes will be held at the U of I Extension McLean County office in Bloomington. Topics include botany, herbaceous ornamentals, woody ornamentals, vegetables, fruits, soils, turf, insects, plant pathology, and more. A fee applies for the 14-week class and the Master Gardener training manual.

After training, Master Gardener interns agree to give at least 60 volunteer hours back to the community within the next two years. Many have said this "hands-on" experience is what really increases their understanding of gardening. Many volunteer in the Master Gardener organization by working in the gardens, serving at the Master Gardener Help Desk, giving educational presentations, working with youth, and more.

This year, they welcome known

Horticulture Educator and Mid-American Gardener guest host, Sandy Mason, who will present on Herbaceous Ornamentals. Mason writes a gardening column for the News Gazette in Champaign-Urbana called the "Homeowner's Column."

Local Horticulture Educator Kelly Allsup will teach the trainees how to implement integrated pest management practices in their gardens while managing for wildlife and pollinators. Local Horticulture Program Coordinator Brittnay Haag will guide you and assist you throughout the entire training class.

For more information about the Master Gardener training offered this winter, visit go.illinois.edu/LMW\_MG or contact Brittnay Haag at 309-663-8306 or bhaag@illinois.edu. All applications for the training must be received by October 28.
