Progress Continues on Gardner's Root Street Conversion to Parking Lot

by Myke Feinman
Managing Editor

The Gardner Village Board is making progress on Root Street in Gardner to allow an adjacent businessman to park trucks on the "street."

The village heard at its meeting Oct. 24 from Village Engineer Guy Christensen that the property was named a street via an ordinance in June of 1976.

Christensen said he would sketch out the "street."

Holt Trucking refurbishes trucks at the location, and wants to use the "street" to park trucks. The business owner was concerned the village would tell him he was parking trucks on a street. So he sought permission from the village to use it as a lot.

The property has never been used as a street in south Gardner near the intersection of Rt. 53 and Campus Road.

Mayor Mike Serena told The Paper last week that this is a sales tax generating business and the village was interested in cooperating with the business owner.

Commissioner Dick Hileman brought up the cost of the Grundy County Animal Control annual bill going up to $4,167.96 from last year's cost of $2,497.68.

He recommended the village ignore it and not pay the cost because Animal Control has to come out if a resident calls animal control anyway.

The board took no action on the matter.

In other business, the board:

- learned that Craig Parks was doing interior work at his flea market business downtown but had not applied for a building permit. The village is to investigate.
- heard concerns about go-karts tearing up grass at a park downtown. The people involved will be contacted.

Don't Overlook Long-term Care Costs

How much money will you need in retirement? To arrive at an estimate, you should consider various factors, such as where you'll live, how much you plan to travel, and so on. Not surprisingly, you'll also need to think about health care costs, which almost always rise during retirement. But there's one area you might overlook: long-term care. Should you be concerned about these costs?

In a word, yes. Expenses for long-term care – which can include receiving assistance at home as well as prolonged care in a facility – can be surprisingly expensive. Consider the following statistics, taken from the 2016 Cost of Care Study issued by Genworth, an insurance company:

- The average annual cost for a private room in a nursing home is more than $92,000. And in some places, particularly major metropolitan areas, the cost is considerably higher.
- The average annual cost for full-time services of an in-home health care aide is more than $46,000.

These costs are certainly daunting. Of course, you might think that you won't have to worry about them, because you won't ever need any type of long-term care, particularly if you've always been in good health and your family has no history of later-in-life cognitive impairment. However, the odds may not always be in your favor. Given the costs of long-term care, and the possibility that you might really need this care, how can you prepare for the costs?

Things may change in the future, but at this point, you really can't count much on government programs to help pay for long-term care. Medicare typically pays for only a small percentage of these costs, and, to be eligible for Medicaid, you must have limited income and assets. In fact, you might need to "spend down" some of your assets to qualify for Medicaid long-term care services.

Consequently, you need to look at your options for paying for long-term care – just in case. You could earmark a certain percentage of your investment portfolio to cover long-term care costs; if you never need this care, you can simply use the money to pay for other areas of your retirement.

Or, as an alternative, you might want to work with a financial professional, who can recommend a strategy specifically designed to help you address long-term care costs. The marketplace in this area has evolved rapidly in recent years, so you should be able to find a solution that is both affordable and effective.

In any case, don't delay your planning for long-term care. Knowing that you're protected against potentially catastrophic costs can make your retirement years less stressful for you and your family.

Futures, with the slogan, “a bridge to independence,” serves the residents of Livingston County with 360 clients throughout the county.

Their website says they provide, “daily activities and skills training for adults with moderate, severe, and profound developmental disabilities.”

The programs focus on the development of community and independent living skills. Services are available in Pontiac and Dwight.

Coats became involved with Futures when he was asked to do physical training classes for the clients.

“We started an adaptive fitness class,” Coats explained.

It was Coats’ idea to have the race as a fund-raiser for Futures.

In addition to raising funds through the registration fee, there will also be a 50/50 raffle with prizes.

All ages are welcome to attend.

Race day registration begins at 8:15 a.m.

There is also a registration link on Coats Performance Facebook page.

A WINDFALL of ECONOMIC BENEFITS for Livingston County

Vote YES to support energy independence and security

Economic Benefits as a result of the Streator Cayuga Ridge South Wind Farm

- AS OF SPRING 2016:
- Construction jobs peaked at ~313
 - Supply chain involved ~12 Illinois companies
 - 18 permanent, local jobs
 - Approx. $8 million in landowner royalty payments
 - Approx. $19 million in local taxes and fees

There's a seemingly simple question at the end of your ballot about wind turbine setbacks. Please vote YES, to encourage investment in Livingston County which supports local education, public safety and creates jobs. Livingston County enjoys the economic benefits of wind farms, which help achieve energy independence and produce cleaner air, cleaner water, and cleaner soil for our children and grandchildren. Wind farms are a strong contributor of tax revenue to Livingston County and support family farmers. A single wind farm – the Streator Cayuga Ridge South project – has already generated approximately $19 million in tax revenues for the local community. These revenues go to our local schools, libraries, fire departments, and much more. It's a simple choice. Vote YES on the homegrown wind energy question – because there is no question – it's working for all of us.

Vote YES

LIVINGSTON COUNTY
ADVISORY QUESTION OF PUBLIC POLICY AS TO WHAT MINIMUM DISTANCE WIND TURBINES MAY BE SET FROM RESIDENCES IN LIVINGSTON COUNTY

A "YES" vote would be a vote to support the distance of 1,600 feet between wind turbines and residences. A "NO" vote would be a vote to support significantly increasing the distance between wind turbines and residences.

In your township, do you support a distance of 1,600 feet between wind turbines and residences, rather than increasing that distance more than double, which may reduce the number of wind turbines built in your township?

Government Students Visit County Clerk’s Office

DTHS GOVERNMENT STUDENTS recently had the opportunity to visit the County Clerk’s office in Pontiac. This is a very busy time of year for them, but Kristy Masching and the rest of the staff went above and beyond to help make the trip a success. Students saw all of the safeguards and contingency plans that protect the process and its integrity. They were amazed that voters were afforded so many opportunities and avenues to register and vote. They were able to see the ballots and the machines (sometimes people) that count them. Some of the other highlights included looking through documents dating back to the 19th century in the vault and a tour of the County Board room, where the students enjoyed learning about the history of the Board room, while from the comfort of the members’ chairs.

Prairie Creek Library To Host Musical Historian Lee Murdock Nov. 14

Musical historian Lee Murdock will present a program of music and storytelling on the lighthouses of America at 6:30 p.m. Monday, November 14, at 6:30 p.m. in Prairie Creek Library, Dwight.

Like the Great Castles of Europe, there is an aura and mystery and romance surrounding the lighthouses of America. Murdock’s songs and stories share the tragedy and heroics of shipwrecks and rescues, the isolation and beauty of lighthouse lore, and the people who work along the inland seas and oceans.

Noted as a fluent instrumentalist on the six- and 12-string guitars, Murdock combines ragtime, Irish, blues, and folk styles with his flair for storytelling in his songs.

His musical influences span 15 generations. Murdock began his folk career in the Chicago area in the mid 1970’s, expanding his repertoire of blues and popular music as his interest in folk music and the maritime tradition grew.

His focus on Great Lakes music began as a simple interest in finding the folk songs from his own local history. “I sort of ‘fell into’ the Great Lakes by accident,” says Murdock, “but once I started performing songs about the Great Lakes, my audiences kept asking for more. And the stories and songs just keep coming.”

With a deeper understanding of the folk process, Murdock’s repertoire combines historical research and contemporary insights. His work is both documentary and also a contemporary anthem to the people who live, work, and play along the Great Lakes today.

This program is free and open to the public.

Bazaar Cancelled at Cabery Methodist Church Due to Flooding To Be Held in Dwight

The extensive and prolonged flooding of the Cabery Methodist Church basement has rendered members unable to host their annual fall bazaar on the last Sunday of October.

This breaks a 70-year tradition of having this dinner and bazaar, which started when the church was still a Presbyterian church.

The members of the Cabery Church are “saddened and heartbroken by this occurrence.”

They will be able to have their craft sale, which will be held at the home of Eileen Turner at 127 South John Street in Dwight. The sale starts Thursday, November 3, and Friday, November 4, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. All the crafts are homemade by Turner and a few other crafters.

The public is invited to see these crafts, which are fairly priced. You will also be helping the church with expenses occurring from the massive flooding.

The First Congregational United Church of Christ of Dwight was honored as a Sesquicentennial Church in Illinois at a special ceremony Sept. 17 in Peoria.

In attendance from Dwight were Marilyn Hensel and Chuck Johnson.

The Illinois State Historical Society President Dr. Randall Saxon presented an award to Hensel and Johnson on behalf of the Dwight Church.

Johnson and Hensel also signed an ISHS Bible.

The church reached its 150th year milestone Jan. 12, with a celebratory church service and luncheon in the spring.

On Jan. 12, 1866, Rev. J.A. Montgomery, a student then at the Congregational Seminary in Chicago, preached in Dwight before 16 people who identified themselves with the newly formed congregation.

In 1867, lots were procured and construction began on a church completed in 1869 free from debt.

Rev. Montgomery was hired as the first full-time pastor with a salary of $600 per year. He served until 1873.

That same year the Presbyterian Church in Dwight merged with the Congregational Church.

Those were years of growth for the church, and by 1905 the congregation was ready to make its commitment to the 20th century.

A new parsonage was built that year. In 1909 the present-day church was built at a cost of $25,000.

In 1957, the Congregational Church and the Evangelical & Reformed Church merged, changing the name of affiliate churches to First Congregational United Church of Christ.

At the church’s centennial celebration, church historian Ruth Morehart wrote:

“The first century of its history ends with great promise for the next 100 years. It is the fervent hope and prayer of all that these centennial days will renew interest and revitalize the faith of each member of the church that great things may be accomplished for Christ’s kingdom and the effectiveness of this, His church, will increase.”

Dwight Artist Participates in Yoko Ono’s Chicago Art Unveiling

This pen and ink drawing by Cat Clausen of Dwight was presented to Yoko Ono in Chicago, Oct. 17.

Submitted graphic

by Myke Feinman
Managing Editor

It’s not every day a person gets to meet an icon from their youth, Yoko Ono of Beatles fame, let alone donate a work of their own art to her.

Cat Clausen, Dwight, was invited by the Executive Vice President of a Chicago project to revitalize the city’s parks, to present an art gift to Yoko Ono at a ceremony Oct. 17, unveiling Yoko’s metal lotus petal sculpture named “Sky Landing.”

Sky Landing is a permanent art sculpture installation which depicts a lotus flower, designed for the city of Chicago, and involving four separate contractors in the Chicago area to construct and install.

The home of Sky Landing is situated in the Garden of the Phoenix Woodland Island Park, behind the Museum of Science and Industry.

This is the only piece of art by Yoko Ono in the United States.

The park was originally created for the 1893 Chicago World Columbian Exposition by Fredrick Law Olmsted and his partner Calvert Vaux in 1871 as one part of the system called South Park.

Suzanne Kopp-Moskow, executive VP of Project 120, commissioned Yoko Ono to produce the art as a replacement for a Japanese Pavilion in the park destroyed by an arson Fire in 1946, just months after the close of World War II with racial tensions still high between Japanese-Americans and others in the U.S.

“As a child, Yoko was deeply saddened when the arson fire took place,” Clausen explained. “Sky Landing represents efforts to mend this tragedy and repair other broken relationships between the people and cultures of Chicago.”

The act of arson in 1946 was at a time when Japanese-Americans were vilified as the “enemy.”

Today, police clash with Black Americans in a similar “racial divide,” Clausen explained.

As part of the unveiling of Sky Landing, Clausen was asked to present a drawing and write something for Yoko.

She created a poem from some main themes which Yoko espoused when describing her Sky Landing work such as fire and ash; the lotus flower representing hope; 120 cherry trees being planted for Project 120; the angel figure and phoenix bird at the top to symbolize rebirth.

The figure shows a woman rising out of fire with a lotus flower adorning her body, wings on her and a phoenix flying above.

Past--Present--Future
Pen and Ink and poem, by Cat Clausen, October 2016:

The Past
Licks of fire and flames have nearly consumed us.
Death to our old way of being abunds.
From earth's ash births a new seed of understanding.
We dance in harmony, knowing that with every death, a new birth is realized.

The Present
Above our fiery, smoldering ash, blooms a new day of peace.
A Lotus flower growing from fertile mother's center is seen now blooming in our world all around us.
From our Lotus births cherry blossoms of hope.
These floral ladened branches are strong; they reach high and grow straight toward our future of Love.

The Future
Relief is felt as sky and earth connect.
Our angel has risen from the ashes of old.
Rebirth and connection abound, as our phoenix of hope is realized.
Love lifts off.
The bondage of old--has strength no more.

Hope soars to our heavens.
A new life is born.

“The sky and earth meet to create a seed to learn about the past and come together to create a future of peace and harmony.”

— Yoko Ono

Dwight to Hire
Part-Time
Police Officers
October 24 Board Actions

by Madelyn Fogarty

The Village of Dwight will advertise for the hiring of three part-time police officers following a recommendation that received approval by the Dwight Board of Trustees at an October 24 session where Mayor Pro Tem Justin Eggenberger led the meeting. Mayor Jared Anderson was not present.

In addition to its full time police force, Dwight currently has three part-time officers with limited availability. At an October 10 Services Committee meeting, Dwight’s Chief of Police Tim Henson requested permission to advertise for three more part-time police officers with a cost not to exceed $30,000. Henson stated that in 1987 the Village had ten part-time officers to utilize.

“In the wake of what is happening in today’s world, I want to make sure we have taken every cost effective/safe measure we can,” stated Henson.

The Services Committee recommendation received full support of the Board.

In another matter, business owners on the south end of West Main Street submitted a request that multiple two hour parking spots be designated to allow for customer parking. Business owners in that area noted that they all have customers that are in and out of their businesses over a short period of time, along with many being senior citizens, while the limited number of parking spaces are being taken up by individuals parking for 8 – 10 hours. The board agreed to send the request to the Ordinance Committee for review and subsequent recommendation.

Trustee Jim Mixen questioned Village payments of $21,000 for electrical upgrades at Dwight Renfrew Park due to this year’s Harvest Days celebration indicating he was under the impression that Harvest Days was going to incur the expense for the electrical needs of the events. It was noted the upgrades will allow for the park to be better utilized for future events. Mixen also suggested the Village put tree trimming services out for formal bid as this year’s current total for tree trimming is significant at approximately $16,000. After the discussion, the Board approved the payments of all bills totaling $155,311.20.

In his report to the Board, Chief Henson again cautioned residents to keep vehicles and property locked with valuables out of sight and encouraged anyone seeing anything suspicious to call police.

Public Works Director Steve Kinkade advised residents than all yard waste other than sticks must be bagged and stickered for pickup. Kinkade also requested that the Village address the problem of residents planting trees on the berm.

The board also approved:

- Vissering Pay request #14 for $247,617.65 for the High Speed Rail Depot Project with monies reimbursable to the Village by the project.
 - A fund transfer of $3,869.00 from TIF Fund to General Fund to reimburse past engineering invoices.
 - $9,964.00 from the Referendum Fund to the Capital Expenditures Reserve Fund for the purpose of covering engineering invoices for 2016 Road Program.
 - $13,546.00 from Capital Expenditures Reserve Fund to the General Fund to repay a previous transfer to the Safe Routes to School Fund.
 - $110,359.37 from the General Fund to the Capital Expenditure Reserve Fund for the purpose of purchasing and demolishing dilapidated homes, computer purchase and installation, and engineering services.
- The next meeting of the Dwight Village Board of Trustees will be Monday, November 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the Public Services Complex. Meetings are open to the public.

Advisory Referendum Regarding Wind Energy Ordinance

NOV 8

What does a YES vote mean?
What does a NO vote mean?

It boils down to...

Who should decide how far an industrial wind turbine can be placed from a home? The project developer OR the local homeowner?

Your vote can help make this decision.

1600 feet

The referendum question is rather confusing, and therefore, we want to help clarify what a YES vote or a NO vote means.

A YES vote encourages wind development by allowing project developers to place turbines only 1600 feet from a home in your township, without getting permission from the homeowner.

A NO vote gives every homeowner in your township the right to choose how close a turbine can be placed to their home. The homeowner could still allow turbines to be placed closer (down to 1600 feet) if they choose.

SAMPLE BALLOT FOR WIND ORDINANCE ADVISORY REFERENDUM

LIVINGSTON COUNTY
ADVISORY QUESTION OF PUBLIC POLICY AS TO WHAT MINIMUM DISTANCE WIND TURBINES MAY BE SET FROM RESIDENCES IN LIVINGSTON COUNTY

A "Yes" vote would be a vote to support the distance of 1600 feet between wind turbines and residences. A "No" vote would be a vote to support significantly increasing the distance between wind turbines and residences.

In your township, do you support a distance of 1600 feet between wind turbines and residences, rather than increasing that distance more than double, which may reduce the number of wind turbines built in your township?

YES ☐
NO ☐

Vote YES to let the wind company decide.

Vote NO to allow the people to decide.

Minutes with Boma

Staying alive.

The Kris Bryant home run, that was the turning point in this game, and may prove to be the turning point in the entire series.

The MVP candidate has struggled throughout the entire post season, and finally in the game when they needed his bat most he came through for them to tie up the game and allow them to eventually take the lead later in that inning.

I’m writing this as the game is taking place, so there’s only so much I can write with certainty, but through the top of the 6th it’s looking pretty good.

They’ve been putting together better innings offensively, and Lester, minus a few small miscues, has been pitching really well all night.

I hope that the next time I get the opportunity to write one of these that I’m writing about the Cubs winning the world series for the first time in 108 years, meaning they won this game and the following two in Cleveland.

I took a hiatus from writing this, it’s now the bottom of the 8th, the Cubs are looking to tack on some insurance runs. Chapman just did what he came to Chicago to do and got a huge out in the top of the 8th to hold onto the lead for the Cubs for the time being.

If we can somehow push this thing back to Cleveland I really think it’s anyone’s ball game, they can’t throw their ace again until game 7, leaving game 6 wide open.

It’s headed into the top of the 9th, Cubs still up 3-2, and a lot of excitement at Wrigley Field.

Now it’s headed back to Cleveland, they survived. Cubs in ?? (It will be Wednesday when you read this.)

Galloway Earns 4th Straight Trip to State

Saturday, October 29
GSW at Lisle Class A Sectional

The Lisle Class A sectional was held on a calm, dry Saturday, with two Panthers participating, Daly Galloway and Dan Muller.

Both ran well, with Galloway placing second in a time of 18:41 on the 5K course. Her time was just shy of her course best of 18:37 from 2014.

"While she struggled in the second half of the race," stated Coach Lane, "Daly never gave up and fought to the finish line."

As she was the first individual state qualifier, Daly became only the fourth four-time state qualifier in school history.

Muller, who, according to his coach, took with him a tougher mental attitude and desire to the sectional this season, improved his sectional best by 20 seconds from the 2015 meet.

Dan needed to start fast to have a chance to crack a top 20 finish, and was in good position to do so at the 1½ mile mark – but the competition was too strong on this day. Muller finished with a time of 18:36, placing 38th overall.

Galloway will now compete in the State Class A meet Saturday, November 5, at 9:00 a.m. at Detweiller Park in Peoria.

THE DTHS GIRLS' GOLF BANQUET was held October 24 at the Dwight Country Club. Morgan Zabel, left, earned the Most Valuable Player award, with Jillian Frauli receiving the Most Improved Player award. Both golfers made the Twin Valley All-Conference team for 2016.

DTHS Seniors Are Leaving a Legacy with Wendy's High School Heisman

Daly Galloway

DTHS seniors, Daly Galloway and Justin Fox, were recently named school winners and state finalists in the Wendy's High School Heisman.

Every school across the country has one female and one male athlete recognized as school winners, and then 20 students are recognized as state finalists in their respective state.

Both Daly and Justin were recognized as state finalists this year by Wendy's.

The Heisman committee selects high character student-athletes who have displayed excellence and integrity both on and off the field. For these students, taking the easy way out or cutting corners is not an option.

Daly is the daughter of Lane and Timi Galloway and competes in cross country, basketball, and track.

Justin is the son of Aaron and Susie Fox and competes in football and basketball.

Livingston Co. Health Dept. Encourages Flu Vaccines by Veterans Day

In an effort to help everyone protect themselves and their families from the flu this Thanksgiving, the Livingston County Public Health Department recommends both adults and children get their flu vaccines by November 11, which just happens to be Veterans Day.

Get your flu shot before Veterans Day to be protected by Thanksgiving day. Keeping yourself, and those you spend Thanksgiving with, free from the flu takes planning ahead by about two weeks. This is how long it takes for your flu vaccine to become fully effective.

All county offices, including the public health dept., will be closed on November 11, 24, and 25.

The flu vaccine is available at the health dept., Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., on a walk-in basis. Other times for vaccinations are available by calling the health dept. at 815-844-7174 for an appointment.

The health dept. will bill Medicare, Medicaid, and private/employee health insurance plans. Cash, check, and debit cards are also accepted. People who have Medicare Part B or Medicaid Coverage need to present their cards. State employees and retirees need to present their employee I.D. cards.

The CDC recommends everyone six months of age and older get the flu vaccine. People at high risk of serious flu-related complications include: young children, pregnant women, people with chronic health conditions like asthma, diabetes, or heart, lung and kidney disease, people with weakened immune systems, and people 65 years and older. Vaccination is also important for anyone who has close contact with a person at high risk for complications, or a child younger than six months of age.

WINTER CAR CARE

Dwight Mechanic: Prepare Vehicles for Harsh Winter Weather

by Myke Feinman
Managing Editor
“Make sure your vehicle maintenance is up to date,” said Keith Perry, mechanic and owner of Rt. 66 Service Center Inc. of Dwight.
He said that sums up the way to survive the harsh winter weather in Illinois.
He is also co-owner with Joe Call of Rt. 66 Tire Systems. And tires are one of many important parts of winterizing your car.
“Make sure you have proper inflation and tread on your tires,” he said.

Tire pressure is important. Vehicle tires lose a pound of air pressure for every 10-degree drop in temperature, according to industry experts.
Many modern cars alert the driver to low pressure.
Proper pressure also increases fuel economy.
Some vehicle systems have been the same for many decades, but technology has allowed the consumer to have a vehicle that will start right up, even in 30 degrees below zero.

Perry said people should make sure their anti-freeze is rated for below 30 degrees.
He said a tune up can be crucial before winter sets in as well, checking spark plugs and filters and of course, changing the oil is important at least every 5,000 miles.
In the past, mechanics recommended changing oil every 3,000 miles, but he said today's synthetic oils can last longer.
“But if you don't change your oil for 10,000 miles, you will have timing issues or gummed up parts, or even scrap your engine,” Perry noted. “And engines are not cheap.”
Changing the oil helps preserve rings and valves, and prevents abrasions and build up of sediments.
“Changing the oil helps your rings and valves last longer,” he added.
On the outside, make sure the windshield wipers are new to maintain proper visibility in inclement weather.
Wiper blades can also freeze and crack in the winter and older blades are more susceptible to damage.
Winter is also a good time to switch to heavy-duty synthetic wax that can shield against water and road salts.
Because of today's computerized engines, they will start easier in the dead of winter's arctic blasts.
Perry has been in the mechanic business since 1988 and in previous years, cars not starting in the dead of winter were a typical issue for vehicle owners. Not so much today.
But the battery is still vulnerable to extreme cold and heat.

Batteries are made up of acid and water, and cold temperatures can freeze the water, thereby affecting the battery performance.
At 32 degrees, the average battery is said to lose 36 percent of its strength.
“Make sure your battery is good,” Perry said.

made public on October 31. "Earning Straight 'As' in the Leapfrog Hospital Safety Grade is a remarkable achievement and testament to a hospital's ongoing vigilance and commitment to patient safety," said Leah Binder, president and CEO of The Leapfrog Group. "We thank Morris Hospital & Healthcare Centers for being an example of excellence in preventing harm to patients and urge them to continue championing patient safety."

Developed under the guidance of an expert panel, the Leapfrog Hospital Safety Grade uses 30 measures of publicly available hospital safety data to indicate how well hospitals protect patients from preventable errors, injuries and infections by assigning A, B, C, D and F grades to U.S. hospitals twice per year. The grade is calculated by top patient safety experts, peer-reviewed, fully transparent and free to the public.

The Leapfrog Hospital Safety Grade is becoming the gold standard measure of patient safety as cited in MSNBC, The New York Times, and AARP The Magazine.

"Being one of 72 hospitals in the nation to earn straight A's ten consecutive times clearly demonstrates that patient safety is absolutely a top priority for our organization," says Mark Steadham, President & CEO of Morris. Visit : www.hospitalsafetygrade.org

WINTER CAR CARE

How to Top off Your Windshield Wiper Fluid

Filled Wiper Fluid is important for your safety.

by Matthew Wright
Auto Repair Expert

A clean windshield can be very important in terms of your safety. If you can't see, you can't drive! Or you shouldn't be driving. Luckily, there's no excuse for driving with a dirty windshield since your car came equipped with its own cleaning system. All you have to do is keep the bottle full and pull the little lever inside the car.

Summer and Winter
A clean windshield is important all year long, but as long as you use real windshield washer fluid (come on, it's cheaper than bottled water!) you have a built-in anti-icing system, too. Washer fluid doesn't freeze, so if you spray it onto your windshield when you have some freezing problems, it helps to break down the frozen layer.

Fill It Up
It's a one-step deal. With your hood open and safely propped, look for the opaque white plastic bottle with the picture of the windshield and wipers on the cap, which is usually blue. Pop it open or unscrew it, and fill 'er up! You don't have to be scientific about it, putting too much in won't hurt anything.

Why Doesn't My Car Have Heat?

If you've been driving a car with no heat, you are no stranger to suffering. There's nothing worse than shivering behind the wheel while you sit in traffic.

There are a number of things that can cause your heater to fail. The first thing you need to figure out is whether or not there is heat available to your car's heating system.

By available I mean that the heat from your engine is able to make its way into the passenger compartment through the heater core.

That's why it has a cooling system.

The cooling system consists of a water pump to circulate a 50-50 mixture of coolant and water through the engine, a radiator to release some of the heat into the air, a thermostat to decide when your need to cool your engine and when you don't, and coolant — that colored liquid that circulates through the entire system.

That's a basic cooling system. Add a few feet of high temperature rubber hose and a heater core to the picture and you also have a heating system.

The heater core is a much smaller radiator that transfers heat into the passenger cabin. There's a fan that blows air over the fins of the heater core. This heats the air and transfers it onto your feet, where it makes you happy and warm.

You need to determine whether the heater core is filling up with hot coolant that can transfer all that heat to your feet.

Simply wait until you are driving at a good speed - I'd say 40 mph or faster, and switch the controls to heat. If you feel heat coming through any of your vents, even a tiny trickle of heat, then your heater core is likely getting hot coolant.

If you feel that trickle, you are probably having a problem with your heater fan.

Check your controls to be sure your fan is on, and try it on different fan speeds to see if you just have a dead speed. Still nothing? Check your fuses to be sure it's not that.

If you don't feel that trickle of heat, your heater core is not being included in the circulation of hot coolant when the engine is warmed up.

Check your coolant level to be sure there is enough coolant in there to even get to your heater core.

If your radiator is very low on coolant, you'll get no heat. If your levels are ok, you either have a bad water pump or a thermostat that isn't opening.

If your car has not been overheating or running hot, your water pump is not the culprit.

It sounds like you are

HEAT INSIDE your vehicle in winter is essential to your life and safety in Illinois.

dealing with a failed thermostat. The thermostat opens and closes circuits in the cooling systems as the engine heats up.

If a thermostat is stuck in the closed position, it will never allow coolant to circulate fully, so no heat for you. Replace your thermostat by removing the lower radiator hose and installing a new thermostat — consult your repair manual for details on your car's cooling system.

SWGS Family Fun Night Reading is a Treasure! a Success

ELLIE, LEAH, AND EVA work to create a pirate boat that will hold the most treasure without sinking.

South Wilmington Grade School held their Family Night – Reading is a Treasure on October 5, with 75% of the student body, along with their families, attending.

The participants split up and went into different sessions, which all reinforced reading along with other subjects. The students had to dig for treasured vocab words. They had to answer content area questions while playing hook toss. They built boats to see whose boat could hold the most treasure without sinking. They even had to walk the plank with their families.

There was also a guest motivational speaker, Jeff Hobbs. He talked with students about overcoming obstacles and never giving up.

This year, the SWGS Parent Teacher club organized the Scholastic Book Fair in conjunction with the night. This offered an opportunity for children and their families to purchase books.

SWGS volunteers served a dinner for all attendees to enjoy. Students and their families were treated to hot dogs, chips, dessert, and drinks. Participants were also entered to win in many different raffles.

CLOCKWISE ABOVE: DIGGING FOR TREASURES! Madison digs for the correct vocabulary word. IAN AND HIS FAMILY at the Book Fair. CASSIE (MOM) AND CARA AND RYAN work together to walk the plank to the mystery puzzle. GAVIN TRIES TO HOOK THE CORRECT ANSWER to the vocabulary question during the Pirate Vocabulary Hook Toss.
