Heritage Health, Dwight, Nears Half-Century of Service

by Tom Tock

Heritage Health: Therapy & Senior Care at 300 East Mazon Avenue in Dwight will celebrate the 50th anniversary of its founding with an Open House Sunday, July 22, from 1 to 3 p.m. A welcoming address will be at 1:30 p.m.

It was November of 1968 when thirty stockholders in Dwight Continental Manor, Inc., were finally in place.

History books tell us that an attempt to organize a nursing home in Dwight began in 1967, when a steering committee first met.

It was November of 1970, however, before groundbreaking took place, and February 19-20 of 1972 before an open house was held welcoming area residents to the facility.

Property of the former East Side Grade School on Mazon Avenue had been purchased, bonds were issued in the amount of $200,000, and construction began on what was estimated to be a $652,000 facility.

One of the first feasibility reports about the proposed nursing home indicated a cost of $9.25 per day per resident would be required to operate the home successfully.

Among the 30 stockholders in the original corporation was Mayor Robert Stevenson. The original corporation name of Dwight Continental Manor, Inc. remains in use. At first, it was leased to and managed by Commercial Management of Sioux City, Iowa.

GEORGE BURK, long-time resident of Dwight, turned the first shovel of dirt at the site of Dwight's new nursing home on East Mazon Avenue Sunday, November 29, 1970, at 2 o'clock. Others, next to Mr. Burk, left to right: Herbert Voigts, president of the Dwight Continental Manor, Inc.; Miss Mary Hoffman, secretary; Albert Smith, treasurer, and Del Hancock, vice president.

Heritage Health in Dwight is now leased to, and managed by, Heritage Operations Group, Bloomington, which manages a number of other nursing facilities throughout Illinois.

Herbert Voigts of Dwight is president of the nursing home corporation, and Del Hancock of Dwight, vice president. They have served in that capacity since the beginning of what is now Heritage Health of Dwight.

Other original officers of the corporation included Mary Hoffman as secretary; Albert Smith, treasurer; and Richard Oughton, assistant treasurer.

Rita Quigley has been Administrator of the nursing home since November of 2013. She was also employed at Heritage Health for 14 years, 1983-1997, first as a Certified Nurses Aide and then as Activity Director.

Quigley issued the following statement on the occasion of the upcoming anniversary:

Dwight Village Officials Buzzing about Bees July 9 Board Actions

by Madelyn Fogarty
madelynfogarty@yahoo.com

Honey bees and their habits were a topic of discussion when the Dwight Village Board of Trustees met on July 9. The topic was of interest and importance due to a request by Brian Galbreath, owner of Impossible Mead, which is preparing to open in Dwight's downtown area this fall. Galbreath is hoping to place a bee hive on the roof of his meadery.

A meadery is a winery that produces honey wines or meads. While mead is made from honey, the one proposed hive atop the meadery would not be enough to sustain all of the mead Galbreath will produce and sell on the premises. However, the honey from the hive could be incorporated into specific batches for a "hyper local" mead or used for individual honey sales as a novelty item at the meadery. Eventually, Galbreath hopes to have an observation hive on the inside of the building for customer's to be able to view the actual working of a bee hive.

"An observation hive is an indoor glass hive where you can actually see the bees working and that has a tunnel that leads outside so the bees can go and forage and come back," explained Nicole Mikuzis, a member of the Will County Beekeepers Association. "I think that would be really neat for anyone visiting the meadery to be able to see the bees actually working."

But, a perception of bees as aggressive, stinging creatures that could pose a problem has raised concern about the request. On June 28, members of Dwight's Ordinance Committee reviewed a request to add beekeepers to the municipal code thereby allowing beekeeping in the community. However, committee members were opposed to allowing beekeeping inside the village limits. Ms. Mikuzis joined Galbreath at the meeting to help give insight into the habits of honey bees and relieve concerns about having a hive at the business. Mikuzis also informed the board that beekeeping inside town limits was not unusual and several communities in Will County, including Romeoville and Bolingbrook, do allow beekeeping in the community.

"A bee's main objective is to produce honey. They do not go after people. Wasps on the other hand definitely do. There is a big difference between bees and wasps," explained Mikuzis.

Mikuzis went on to explain the habits of a honey bee and the honey bee community saying that within the bee hive there are around 10,000 bees. However, there is only a small majority of those that actually leave the hive as all the bees have different jobs. When the foraging honey bees actually do leave the hive, they go out and straight up, spreading out in small handfuls and moving to whatever plants they are interested in, usually within a two to five-mile radius. They are not after people.

"If you do see them in your garden it's a plus, because it means they are pollinating everything," she explained.

Hives are inspected every 10 to 14 days with honey harvesting taking place yearly towards the end of July and again, possibly, around September or October depending on the strength of the hive. By mid-October, the bees are tucked away for the winter and barely seen until they come out again in the spring.

Questions regarding loud noises disturbing the bees or foods attracting them, such as during the annual Harvest Days celebration, were raised. According to Mikuzis, these are not concerns with honey bees as they have a home (the hive) and food (the honey) to go home to, again explaining the main interest of the honey bee is producing honey and protecting the queen bee. Honey bees, with the exception of the queen, can only sting once and then they die – so stinging is not

After the Treasurer's Report was moved to be approved and seconded, the six Trustees also moved to approve.

All due bills for the Village and Tourism plus the Between Meeting Paid Bill list were approved.

Trustee Mills moved to retain the reimbursement of $19,762.72 due the Village from IDNR for maintenance, trees, benches and pavilion materials for the Trail by holding it in the Trail Fund. This was approved by the Council.

Trustee Jamie Johnson moved to purchase materials before the end of June to build two pavilions on the trail. Trustee Mark Tissiere seconded it, and it was approved.

Brian Hoffmeyer was present, representing the Livingston County Sheriff's Department. He reported a total of 50 calls within the Village in the month of May.

Mayor Mills requested that the patrol check for, and fine, any unregistered golf carts, etc., operating in the Village.

During the Finance Committee report, Mayor Mills requested that the committee update the employment policy.

Again, discussion took place on the amendment to the Water Ordinance. Trustee Mills moved to charge a flat rate of $10.92 per 1,000 gallons of water used. The rate shall increase automatically 3% each January 1, commencing January 1, 2019, and a debt charge of $25 per utility billing cycle shall be charged. The debt charge will be reviewed by the Board at the January 2019 Board meeting and every January thereafter. Trustee Bullard seconded, with all approving by roll call vote, with one dissenting vote from Tissiere.

All Trustees agreed to approve the Planning Commission's recommendation of rezoning 102 S. West St. to C1 District.

Mayor Mills reported that he will need to investigate further the steps necessary to request the trains no longer blow their horn going through town, and the issue was tabled.

Attorney Legner confirmed there is no approval required on the request from Tony Noonan to subdivide his lot, and Noonan will be advised.

The Working Budget was reviewed, with no action required at this time; Ace In The Hole's proposal for spray patch was accepted; and Ryan Biernat reported on issues at the sewer plant, and stated he will start wastewater classes soon.

Possible Drowning Death In Illinois River

The Grundy County Coroner’s office, along with the Department of Conservation, is investigating a possible drowning in the Illinois River.

Coroner Callahan states he was notified of a body being spotted in the River just west of the area where a man had gone missing on July 8. Callahan states the body was recovered during a search by the Wilmington Fire Department Water Recovery Unit.

Callahan pronounced 47-year old Baldur Kirsch, Jr., of Wilmington, dead at 9:45 a.m. on July 10.

Coroner Callahan states there are conflicting details at this time as to how Mr. Kirsch actually went into the water; therefore there are no further details surrounding his death at this time.

An autopsy was completed July 10, confirming the cause of death to be drowning.

The death remains under investigation by the Coroner’s office and DNR. There were several agencies assisting in the search efforts.

Dwight Village Officials Buzzing about Bees

July 9 Board Actions

(continued from page 1) an activity the honey bee entertains unless provoked. The queen bee rarely leaves the hive. As a precautionary measure, Galbreath said he would have an epinephrine pen (EpiPen) on site which could be used in an emergency situation to treat an allergic bee sting reaction.

Board members took all the information into consideration and the Ordinance Committee is scheduled to revisit the request at a meeting at 5 p.m. on July 19.

In other village business, Earl McCoy, Vice President of Operations at LSC Communication’s Dwight facility, presented a $500 donation to EMS Director Al Metzke in appreciation for the work of the local EMS team and the services they provide. LSC Communications is Dwight’s largest employer and will be celebrating 50 years in the community this September.

In public forum, resident Tom Tock raised a question about the current condition of the West Main Street park area indicating the downtown area, in many places, is “pretty overgrown” and wondered who is responsible for delegating the work to clean it up.

“Some of these areas, like downtown, have to be taken care of – they have to be,” said Tock. “We invite people to visit our town to see our beautiful new town that has been repaved and shaped up.”

Tock also cited a bench in that area that appears to have been damaged.

“That is what happens when you don’t take care of an area – you invite vandalism,” stated Tock.

Kevin McNamara, Village Administrator, indicated the former Impact Dwight, which is now combined with the Dwight Economic Alliance, maintains responsibility for this area and will meet at 5:30 p.m. on August 20. The DEA will be contacted.

Trustee Jim Mixen also raised a question with regard to whether the village has taken action with regard to several burned out buildings in town. Mixen asked if property owners had been contacted and suggested daily fines be initiated to encourage owners to take action with these dangerous and unsightly properties. The Village Administrator is going to reach out to the property owners.

Dwight residents are reminded that blowing grass clippings into village streets when mowing is not allowed and violators could receive a substantial fine. If any resident does accidentally blow grass into the street, they are asked to then promptly blow the grass from the street and gutters to help keep the storm drains clear.

The board also:

- approved payment of 7/9/18 bills totaling $70,311.05.

- a Resolution to purchase a 12 month $500,000 CD with TIF money designated for the downtown East Main Street project which is being put off until next year.

Mayor Jared Anderson was absent from the July 9 session with Trustee Justin Eggenberger filling in as mayor pro tem. Trustees Randy Irvin, Jerry Curtis, Marla Kinkade, Jim Mixen and Jennifer Johnson were all in attendance.

Upcoming Committee meetings include an Ordinance Committee meeting at 5 p.m., July 19, and a Services Committee meeting at 5:30 p.m. on July 23. Both are in the Public Services Complex lower level meeting room.

The next meeting of the Dwight Village Board of Trustees will be at 6:30 p.m., Monday, July 23, also in the Public Services Complex. Meetings are open to the public.

Mautino Escapes Further Inquiry

by Tom Tock

Did Illinois Auditor General Frank Mautino err when he and his former campaign committee spent more than $225,000 over a 16-year period at a single service station in his legislative district while Frank served as a state representative?

Was it another error when Mautino and his campaign committee spent another $150,000 in an undocumented manner at a bank?

Those questions will probably never be answered now that the Illinois State Board of Elections tie-voted July 10 on whether Mautino’s campaign committee had violated the election code -- four Republicans “Yes;” four Democrats “No.”

The tie vote took place at a hearing that was ordered by the 4th District Appellate Court on an appeal from complainant David Cooke, former Dwight resident, who had asked that the substance of his complaints against the Mautino spending be re-examined.

A previous tie-vote by the election committee, which temporarily ended the inquiry, caused Cooke’s appeal.

At that time a fine of $5,000 was administered to Mautino and his campaign committee for failing to furnish documents requested by the board, but the fine was never paid.

The committee disbanded when Mautino was named to his 10-year term as Auditor General and campaign records were destroyed.

Louise described the nursing home as “nice, very pleasant . . . and the food is quite good.”

She entered the Navy in November of 1942 as a nurse and was sent to Hospital Unit No. 10 in Oahu, Hawaii, near Pearl Harbor. Her unit grew to 4,000 beds treating wounded Marines and Navy personnel from WWII action in the Pacific.

Getting Outside Is Good for You: 5 Benefits

Summer is here and families will spend more time outside dining, playing, relaxing, and gardening as the weather improves. And while they may enjoy being outside, they may not know that getting outside is also good for their health. The Outdoor Power Equipment Institute (OPEI) outlines five health benefits of getting outside:

- Reason #1: Your lawn can make you happier! Our stress levels fall within minutes of seeing green spaces. Knowing and experiencing nature makes us generally happier, healthier people.

- Reason #2: Getting dirty is good for you! Mycobacterium vaccae in soil mirrors the effect on neurons that Prozac provides. Give your kids a pair of gardening gloves and have them work with you in your green spaces for a hefty dose of Vitamin N(ature) and G(reen).

ity disorder (ADHD) symptoms in children. Children gain attention and working memory benefits when they are exposed to greenery.

- Reason #4: Living landscapes help people and pets be healthier. Playing outdoors increases fitness levels and builds healthy, active bodies. Research also shows that children reap numerous health, social and personal benefits from spending time outside playing.

- Reason #5: Your lawn produces lots of oxygen and cleans the air too. Fifty square feet of grass generates enough oxygen each day for a family of four, and reduces the “code red” effect since grass removes pollutants from the air we breathe.

Outdoor living spaces offer great health benefits to us. Trees, shrubs, grass and flowering plants are integral to human health. They provide a place for children and pets to play and directly contribute to mental and physical well-being.

Notes from Rep. Tom Bennett

Local fire departments receive state grants

The Office of the State Fire Marshal has announced that five local fire departments have received funding under the Small Equipment Grant Program. In all, more than 100 departments statewide were awarded a share of the $2 million in grant funds which were announced this week. The grant program is intended to help fire departments and not-for-profit ambulance services with purchases of small firefighting or ambulance equipment.

This year, five departments in our area were approved for these grants from the State Fire Marshal. They include the Martinton Fire Protection District and the Otto Fire Protection in Iroquois County, the Hoopeston Fire Department in Vermilion County, the Secor Fire Protection District in Woodford County and the Reddick Community Fire Protection District in Livingston County.

My congratulations to these departments, and my thanks to their members and all our fire and emergency services personnel for all that they do every day.

How much do we owe?

As of the time of this writing, the State of Illinois owes $6,556,209,356 in unpaid bills to state vendors. This figure represents the amount of bills submitted to the office of the Comptroller and still awaiting payment. It does not include debts that can only be estimated, such as our unfunded pension liability which is estimated to be more than $100 billion.

New state Supreme Court justice seated

The Illinois Supreme Court has a new justice. Justice Charles Freeman announced his retirement this year before the conclusion of his 10-year term. Under the State Constitution, whenever there is a vacancy before a term has expired, the other justices of the Court appoint a new justice to fill the seat until it comes up for election. This year, the justices selected the honorable P. Scott Neville as Freeman’s replacement. Justice Neville is a graduate of Washington University School of Law in St. Louis. Prior to his appointment to the state’s high court, Justice Neville served for 14 years as an appellate judge.

In order to achieve some geographic balance on the state Supreme Court, the justices are chosen from five districts throughout the state. Justice Neville will represent the First District, which is made up entirely of Cook County. The Chief Justice is Justice Lloyd Karmeier, of Nashville, which is located in the southernmost district in the state.

What Should You Do With an Inherited IRA?

Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) are quite popular. At the end of 2017, investors owned nearly $9 trillion in IRA assets, according to the Investment Company Institute, a trade association of U.S. investment companies. Given these numbers, it probably wouldn’t be surprising if you inherited an IRA someday. But what should you do with it?

First of all, you’ll need to be aware of some basic rules. If your parent, or anyone other than your spouse, leaves you a traditional IRA – one in which contributions are typically tax-deductible and earnings can grow tax-deferred – you can transfer the money into an “inherited IRA,” from which you’ll need to take at least a minimum amount of money – technically called a “distribution” – each year, based on your life expectancy. These distributions are taxable at your regular income tax rate. If you’ve inherited a Roth IRA, you also must take these minimum payouts, but the amounts won’t count as taxable income, because your parents, or whoever left you the IRA, already paid taxes on the contributions that went into it. (To make sure you fully understand all the guidelines on distributions and taxation of inherited IRAs, consult with your tax advisor.)

It’s also important to understand how your inherited IRA will fit in to your overall financial strategy. Consequently, you’ll need to address these questions:

How much should I take out each year? As mentioned above, you must take a distribution of at least a minimum amount from your inherited IRA each year – if you don’t, you may be subject to a 50% penalty on the amount you should have taken. But you can take out more than the minimum. In deciding how much to take, you’ll need to evaluate a few factors. First, of course, is whether you need the extra money to help support your regular cash flow. It’s possible you have other pools of income from which to draw, and, in some cases, it may be advantageous for you to tap these sources first. Another consideration is taxes – if you’ve inherited a traditional IRA, the more you take out each year, the bigger your tax bill may be.

Should I keep the same investments? Inheriting an IRA doesn’t mean you’re stuck with the original account owner’s investment choices. You can change the investments to align with your goals and risk tolerance, both of which may change over time.

How does the inherited IRA fit in with my overall financial strategy? You’ll need to consider how your newly inherited IRA fits in to the “big picture” of your financial strategy. Are you adding redundancies? If you keep the inherited IRA largely intact, how will it affect your current investment mix? Could the added income from required distributions change your retirement calculations or even enable you to retire earlier? You may want to consult with a financial professional about these and other questions related to your inherited IRA.

The person who left you an IRA worked hard for that money and thought enough of you to pass it on. Consequently, you’ll want to respect this inheritance – and get the most out of it for as long as you can.

FIVE STUDENTS FROM DTHS and six adults headed to Europe June 21 for a 13-day adventure. Travelers enjoyed visitng Rome, Sorrento, Pompeii, Greece and many other landmarks along the way. They arrived back home on July 3.

Dwight Students Visit Rome and Greece

Two years ago, Amy DeMarse and Stephanie Flott got the wild idea to take a group of students to Europe. After several meetings and phone calls with Explorica, a student travel company, the trip became a reality. On June 21, 2018, a group of five students and six adults headed off for a 13 day adventure in Rome and Greece. Travelers who attended the trip were Kathryn Berta, Brandon Brant, Michele Brant, Chloe Butterbrodt, Amy DeMarse, Stephanie Flott, Jillian Frauli, Nick Kester, Mike Ruder, Chase Travers, and Pam Travers.

Once the group arrived in Rome, they were joined with a group of students from Texas and Kentucky. All of them were led by their Tour Leader, Guiseppe Colombara, who provided them with lots of information about all of the sites on the trip. Due to some travel delays at the Switzerland airport, the group jumped right in and saw Rome in a day. While in Rome, they visited such landmarks as the Vatican Museum, Sistine Chapel, Saint Peter's Basilica, the Colosseum, the Forum, and Trevi Fountain.

From there the group headed to Sorrento with a stop at Pompeii on the way. Then, the group boarded a 24 hour ferry boat to Greece. While in Greece, the group visited several archeological ruins in Mycenae and Epidaurus while traveling to Athens. In Athens, the group visited several sites including the site of the 2004 Olympics, the Acropolis, and the Parthenon.

After a day exploring

Athens, the group set sail on a 4 day Greek Island Cruise. The cruise included stops at the islands of Patmos, Samos, Mykonos, Crete, and Santorini. The cruise was a very relaxing way to end the trip with some beach time, lots of time spent enjoying the sun on the deck of the ship, and, best of all, many beautiful sunsets over the Aegean Sea.

Once back on land, the group visited Delphi for one last site of archeological ruins before heading back home on July 3, 2018.

Gardner Village Board Meets

by Don Phillips

The Gardner Village Board met in regular session Monday evening and opened with approval of the bills including the payment of the Grundy County Sheriff's Department bill for $52,000. The board discussed and approved the annual appropriations ordinance for the next fiscal year. Commissioner Dick Hileman noted the appropriations ordinance is a wish list rather than funds that will be spent. The board discussed the donation of property to the village by the CMIA group, including 5.5 acres on the northwest corner of Gardner Rd and IL Route 129. Hileman reported the only stipulation was that the village provide a letter stating the fair market value of the property, which the owner estimated to be around $800,000. Hileman further noted he estimated the cost to the village to complete the appraisal, survey, and fees to be under $6,000. Responding to a question from Commissioner Rob Wolf, Hileman confirmed the property does not include the pond. The property is currently appraised as farm land. The board approved the action on a motion from Commissioner Terry Jensen and second from James Riley. Mayor Mike Serena advised the board he will be researching the grocery operators who may be interested in coming into the village on the property being donated.

Hileman advised the board has until August 1, 2018 to pass an ordinance to control utility companies access to public right-of-way within the village. Hileman stated a bill was signed by Governor Rauner to allow the access unless municipalities pass an ordinance to control the access. Hileman will be renewing or moving a $585K CD next month. Hileman suggested to the board that the Village should include costs incurred by the village in court cases regarding property and other ordinance violations. Commissioner James Riley reported he will be sending photos of three properties to Village Attorney Scott Belt to proceed to court. Riley also reported there was graffiti on the pump house in the park over night and he is looking at lighting options for the area.

Commissioner Rob Wolf received a quote for $58,000 for repairs on the water tower. The project will be let for bid rather than accepting the quote.

HOME RUN DERBY

We are in what a lot of people would consider, the dog days of summer. It's hot, the days are long, you sweat when you're outside for more than 5 minutes. It's definitely summer.

With the dog days of summer come the most summer thing of them all, (second to the Hot Dog Eating Contest of course.) the home run derby. I don't know if it's because there are a lot of home run derbys that I can pinpoint back to a certain vacation, or a certain life event.

Summer is usually when things are happening.

There was one for example, when Bobby Abreu, then with the Philadelphia Phillies, hit what seemed to be a never-ending-amount of homeruns, and ended up winning the home run derby. For that one, we were on vacation in Ohio. I think we went to King's Island and the Louisville Slugger museum, all kinds of places, but I remember that homerun derby vividly.

Then there are other ones, like Josh Hamilton, when he hit endless homeruns as well. That one I was just watching from my living room at the time, but I still remember it like it was last week.

It got me thinking about comparing it to other all-star week-ends, or weeks.

Since there are 4 major sports, and two of them are the NHL and the NFL, and both of their all-start weekends are relatively lackluster, that leaves just the NBA and the MLB and their all-star events.

Each of these sports has a big event to go along with the all-star game itself. Baseball being the home run derby, and then then basketball's slam dunk contest.

Given what I've just said about the nostalgia of the home run derby, that gives it major points in the battle. Coupled with that, there's just something very enjoyable about watching people effortlessly hit baseballs 450 feet, the dunk contest has kind of plateaued do to the fact there are only so many dunks that can be performed.

Homeruns are timeless, they've been a thing for over a 100 years, and barring them banning homeruns, will be a thing for another 100 years.

I choose the long ball. Not to mention, there are two Cubs participating, and I think Kyle Schwarber might hit 400 home runs.
