Gardner Village Board Approves Bid for Sewerplant Gate

by Don Phillips

The Gardner Village Board met in regular session June 27, opening with the approval of the minutes of the June 13 meeting and payment of the bills. Commissioner Rob Wolf was absent.

The board discussed and approved the bid for the sewer plant gate. The board approved the bid of $7,800 from Alliance Fence at the June 13 meeting and Mayor Mike Serena reported Alliance made a change in their bid after being contacted by the village to determine the cost for replacing the existing posts rather than reusing the existing posts. The Alliance bid, with post replacement, increased to $13,897 compared to the Marchio bid of $9,863.44, which also includes post replacement. The board voted to accept the Marchio bid in light of the new information.

The board continued discussion of the ordinance to allow the raising of chickens in the village. Mayor Serena inquired of the board regarding the permit fees for the coop and fence, in addition to the fee for holding the chickens. The board also discussed various requirements including maxinum number of hens to be allowed, zoning designations allowing hens, minimum size of coops and runs, minimum lot sizes, and penalties for violations.

The board discussed and approved the appropriations ordinance. Commissioner Dick Hileman noted there have been some changes from the previous ordinance reflective of the completed water tower, street repair and maintenance, increased energy costs, and work in progress on the water and sewer plant.

Commissioner Hileman reported the Ida Lane lift station has been brought online, with the Dibble station scheduled to come online next. The sewer pond cleaning is moving forward. Commissioner Erik Smith inquired regarding Safe Routes to Schools grants for sidewalk improvements. Village Engineer Casey McCollom suggested the board visit with the school superintendents from both schools ahead of the next grant cycle.

McCollom reported the streets projects are on hold due to the labor dispute at the stone quarries, affecting asphalt production. Projects will begin moving once the dispute is settled. Village Clerk Pat Malinowski reported the village received a "thank you" from the Gardner Area Band Boosters and a $100 donation toward the two-cell jail from the Cadillac & LaSalle (automobile) Club.

New Light Poles are Up on East Main Street, Dwight

Lights, camera, action Old Rt. 66 Family Restaurant to make TV debut

by Brandon LaChance

TV cameras are not the norm in the village of Dwight.

However, this may change thanks to the Old Rt. 66 Family Restaurant.

"CBS contacted me a month ago and then called me (Wednesday, June 22) for an over-the-phone interview for a show. The very next day, they called me back and told me we were selected for their new TV show," said Maria Ahmedi, owner of the Old Rt. 66 Family Restaurant. "The guy I had done the interview with had to present our story to the CBS executive producer in Los Angeles and he's the one who approved us for the show.

"They loved our story. We have a oneof-a-kind restaurant and we have four generations. It's a family-owned business and we've been serving food for 30 years. We've survived everything in those 30 years. We've put our heart and soul into the business.

"With the complete renovation of the restaurant, they just loved it and felt like our story was good enough for the show."

The show Ahmedi and her family (husband Naser, son Luan (Lu, 29), daughters Brendita (25), Lindita (20), daughter-inlaw Malia (29), and granddaughter (Leona, 2, the fourth generation) will be featured on is Destination Chicago, Series 1.

To Maria's understanding, the show is based on CBS picking numerous businesses, of all sorts, not just restaurants, in Chicago, suburbs, and the towns surrounding the suburbs.

For the Ahmedi family, the contact, the interview, and the acceptance was surprising but rewarding.

The family opened a small restaurant in Odell 30 years ago and moved to Dwight on Nov. 5, 2001. After taking over the building at 105 S Old Rt. 66, the family never closed the doors. They renovated during the night while keeping the business open during eating hours.

Through the trials and tribulations of owning a restaurant in the United States of America, Old Rt. 66 Family Restaurant still opens its doors, serves award-winning dishes, and welcomes all visitors back.

"This is a dream come true. I feel like we've accomplished something really big and it's a sign that we've made it," said Maria Ahmedi. "Our renovation was a dream come true, but this is the icing on the cake. When you have CBS calling you, (continued on page 12)

THE WAIT IS OVER...and don't they look grand. New light posts with banner hangers are gracing East Main Street. Construction on the roadway was completed three years ago and the final touch, the light poles, are now in place. Come downtown to do some shopping and/or to grab some lunch or dinner. Plenty of new to do in the Downtown area.

ROTARY PARK will be lit this Christmas. A power pole is now in place and will benefit the park and community for lighting up the park. Pictured above are Rotary members, I to r, Donald McClarey, Pastor Victor Randall, Del Hancock, Dale Adams, John Mueller, Lon Lovellette and Earl McCoy.

Lights in Rotary Park, Dwight

by Brandon LaChance

In the past, it was hard not to wear sunglasses during December nights in Dwight.

Rotary Park would have Christmas light displays spread from corner to corner to spread winter cheer through the community.

Unfortunately, the tradition was canceled due to unknown reasons.

Now, the Dwight Rotary Club wants to reinstall the tradition, Christmas cheer and community unity with Christmas light displays in Rotary Park.

"Tom Tock had an article in The Paper in December of 2020 talking about how Rotary Park used to be lit up during Christmas time," said John Mueller, former Rotary Club president who passed the role to Dwight attorney Don McClarey on Wednesday, June 29. "The Rotary Club decided this may be a good thing to revive. We applied for a grant from Rotary and we received a $2,000 grant.

"We worked with the city to have a power pole installed at the park. Hopefully, this winter we'll be able to have the first light display at the park in quite some time."

The grant was received in October, but due to Covid-19 restrictions and other delays, the pole was installed in May.

Currently the pole is in place, but it still needs to be hooked up to the electrical grid and local electricians need to install plugs and circuitry.

By the Christmas season these needs will be met, and Rotary Park will be lit once again.

"We are going to solicit the local businesses and organizations to put up a lighting display of their choice for the holidays in conjunction with the Christmas parade in Dwight," Mueller said. "We haven't set boundaries or restrictions at this point. We will do it soon. "This year, it will probably be in the triangle by the tennis courts on Franklin St. We hope that eventually, we can get light displays spread throughout the park. We have one business that has already agreed to have a display in the park."

Mueller, McClarey, and the Dwight Rotary Club are ecstatic the light show will happen again, and Rotary Park will have the foot traffic it deserves.

"We are hoping to utilize the park, which is in many ways underutilized," Mueller said. "We want to bring back the tradition. If we get the displays that we're hoping for, we think it will draw people to the community which benefits businesses in the community as well."

What to Expect From a Financial Advisor

If you know how important it is to invest for your future, but you're unsure of the road to follow, you may want to get some guidance and direction from a financial professional. But if you've never worked with one before, what can you expect? Here are some things to look for:

Assessment - A financial advisor will assess your current financial situation - assets, income, debts and so on - but that's just the start. These days, advisors recognize the need to view their clients' lives holistically. Consequently, you will see questions like this: What are your feelings about investing? How would you judge your risk tolerance? What are your individual financial goals? What hopes and dreams do you have for your family?

• Recommendations – Only after fully understanding your needs, goals and preferences will a financial advisor recommend any investment moves. There are no "one-size-fits-all" solutions. You may want to steer clear of individuals claiming to be financial advisors who "guarantee" big returns with no risk. In the investment world, there are few guarantees, and every investment carries some type of risk.

· Communications - Financial professionals communicate with their clients in different ways, but you should always feel free to reach out to an advisor with any questions or concerns. Most financial advisors will want to meet with clients at least once a year, either in person or through an online platform, to review their investment portfolios. During the review. the financial advisor will help you determine if any changes are needed. But financial advisors won't wait a full year to contact clients to discuss a particular investment move that might need to be made. Also, depending on the firm you choose, you should be able to go online to review your portfolio at your convenience.

 Technology – A financial advisor can employ a variety of software programs to help clients. For example, a financial advisor can determine the rate of return you might need to attain specific goals, helping shape your investment strategy. But there are also a lot of "what ifs" in anyone's life, so an advisor can use hypothetical illustrations to show you where you might end up if you take different paths, such as retiring earlier (or later) than you had planned or putting in more (or less) money toward a specific goal, such as education for your children. Anyone's plans can change, so the ability to view different potential scenarios can prove valuable.

Above all, a financial advisor can help you feel more confident as you pursue your goals. Among investors who work with a financial advisor, 84% said that doing so gave them a greater sense of comfort about their finances during the COVID-19 pandemic, according to a survey conducted in 2020 by Age Wave and Edward Jones. And during times of market turbulence, such as we've experienced this year, a financial advisor can help you avoid overreacting to downturns. When unexpected events crop up, such as a lapse in employment, a financial advisor can suggest moves that may enable you to avoid major disruptions to your financial strategy. Conversely, when a new opportunity emerges, perhaps from an inheritance or some other windfall, your financial advisor can help you take advantage of it.

Navigating the investment landscape can be challenging - but the journey can be a lot smoother if you've got the right guide.

The Barn III in Goodfield is happy to present a long time Barn favorite, EVERYBODY OPAL by John LOVES EVERYBODY Patrick! LOVES OPAL opens Thursday, July 7th and runs until Sunday, August 14, 2022. The show will be playing on Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays evenings and Sundays matinees.

Meet Opal Kronkie (Dan Challacombe), a middle-aged recluse, who lives in a tumbledown mansion at the edge of the municipal dump. The general disarray of her establishment is aggravated by the fact that Opal collects things-anything that can be toted home in her little red wagon. Opal is also an optimist, for no matter how mean her lot-or her "friends" --- Opal responds with unfailing kindness and an abiding faith in the goodness of human nature. Into her rather strange world comes Gloria (Sagan Drake), Bradford (Christian Meredith) and Solomon (Pat Gaik), three purveyors of bogus perfume who are running from authorities.

Opal's unique abode is the perfect hideout-and Opal, herself, might be the remedy for their shattered finances. They decide that what she needs is plenty of insurance, a rapid demise, and three beneficiaries named Gloria, Bradford and Solomon. Attempted murder wouldn't seem to be funny, but in hands of Mary Simon's directing, it is uproarious! The unsavory trio concocts elaborate schemes and through it all, Opal radiates kindness, affection and, strangely enough, gratitude. A highly entertaining comedy of when life never JOYCE FEZEKAS, DWIGHT, stands next to her flowering yucca plant. The shrub, though nearly 10 years old has never flowered, until now!

The yucca plant generally flowers once per season if you are lucky, but more likely every few years. The bloom lasts weeks but then gets ratty and dies.

According to horticulture websites, once all the flowers are gone, you can cut the entire stalk right down to its base, just like removing dead leaves. This will allow the plant to focus energy on new growth.

Due to the delayed release of the Energy Information Administration's (EIA) report on gasoline supply and demand last week, the federal agency released two weeks of data July 1st that showed gasoline demand decreased each week.

Dwight Pool Staff Trains with Village EMS

Some staff at the Dwight Stevenson Memorial Pool participated in emergency medical training with Paramedics Dylan Williams and Sandy Kokaly recently, poolside in Dwight, as part of their regularly scheduled continuing education program.

WIlliams, assisted by Kokaly, used a hands-on, participative approach with the Pool staff based on requested topics given by Corilyn Hensel-McCullough, Pool Manager and Head Lifeguard. Training topics included: Stop-the-bleed, Choking procedures, Drug-overdose response using Narcan, Allergic Reaction using EpiPens, CPR: for Adults, pregnant women, children, and infants, AED use, and Common Epileptic/Grand mal & Petite Seizure responses.

"Dylan and Sandy were amazing with us," said Hensel-McCullough. "They were thorough and professional from start to finish. We all walked away feeling even more ready to better serve our public and keep everyone safe while swimming. They also helped us realize that calling 9-1-1- and doing more for someone, care wise, is always the best choice. Hopefully, we will never need to use the training in a real emergency; but as part of our ongoing bimonthly training for different scenarios that could happen, it is always better to be very well prepared."

Using "CPR-dummies" and the "Heimlich vest" along with other illustrative, hands-on supports, the Pool staff successfully worked through scenarios that could be typical emergencies at the Pool or in general. Participating in the mandatory training were Carson Collet, Clair Robison, Corilyn Hensel-McCullough, Destinie Drapeau, Ellora McCullough, Jacob Weissmann, Lisbet-Marie Soto, Michael Michon, and Reece Mortensen.

The next training for the Dwight Pool staff includes water extraction using a back board and spine safety when removing someone from the water with an injury. For more information about this or anything pool-related, contact the Pool at 815-584-3385.

DWIGHT EMS worked with staff of Dwight Stevenson Memorial Pool recently as part of the continuing education program. Dwight Paramedics Sandy Kokaly and Dylan Williams were poolside for the class. More training is scheduled for the Dwight Pool staff.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

...article about Frank L. Smith isn't entirely accurate.'

The reprint of the 1982 arti- Commerce Commission. He entirely accurate.

Smith was an egomaniac who ran for every possible public office every year for decades (he won only once), who named his bank The Frank L. Smith Bank, his baseball team The Frank L. Smiths, and whose billboards made one think they were entering the village of Frank L. Smith instead of the village of Dwight. He called himself "Colonel Smith" his entire life but he never was in the military; the fake title was bestowed by a governor for political favors. Smith's petty revenge actions against people in public life hurt him more than it hurt them

Smith didn't seek the nomination for governor in 1926, it was 1920. The party chose Small, so Smith ran for the senate in 1920 and was roundly beaten by William B. McKinley (the article says McKinley beat Smith by a landslide).

It says a lot about his character when he allied himself he was doing for himself. with Len Small, the most cro cle about Frank L. Smith isn't used his position to shake down the utilities he was regulating for campaign contributions. He raised a fortune, which helped him beat McKinley for the senate nomination in 1926. Smith won the election, but the U.S. Senate would not let him in because of his crooked methods in winning the election. Smith is the only person ever elected to the senate who was refused admission. Smith was too crooked even for that den of thieves.

It was up to Small to appoint a replacement. The arrogant Small appointed Smith. He again was refused. Smith didn't adandon the fight, as the article said, he was booted out in no uncertain terms. He ran for the nomination again in 1928 and lost.

Smith's career is detailed in my book, "Len Small: Governors and Gangsters.'

The article said Smith did a lot of good for Dwight. Whatever good he did was an incidental side effect of the good

Go Visit

Coming up this weekend is Odell Days and it reminds me of a fundamental point about living in a small town.

Most communities have an annual festival of some sort that allows for the community to come together as one and host any number of events. These events can include street dances, carnivals, water fights, church dinners, craft shows, and innumerable other activities.

The actual type of event really isn't as important as the act of communal organization and communal socialization that comes with it.

The comradery and pride created when a civic group gets together and works through all the details and challenges of hosting a festival, are at the basic core of American small town life.

The organizers of any town festival are usually people who have limited free time of their own, without the added burden of the volunteer work. But they manage, and somehow the work gets done.

Our way of life has changed over the last few years, even before the pandemic. There are fewer volunteers available or willing to help out, and the manpower resources just aren't there any more, so the ones who do volunteer are that much more valuable.

The pandemic has us all a bit reluctant to get back into the mainstream and encounter other humans once again. An outdoor venue in an open street environment is the perfect place to interact.

When a town as Odell puts on a celebration day, they are saying to surrounding communities, and even their own residents, "Come out and visit, us. See what we are about and let us be your host for a few days".

So my message this week is to get out and visit your neighbors in Odell, and other similar town gatherings coming up this summer. Tell them thanks for the invite and thanks for all the hard work.

You might even have a beer or two.

Go, Cubs!

Limestone Township Library District Happenings

Limestone Township Library District (LTLD) challenged the community to read as many minutes as possible during our Summer Reading Program, Read Beyond the Beaten Path. And they have responded resoundingly!

As of this writing at the end of the fourth week of Summer Reading, our community has logged over 77,000 minutes. Community members are rewarded with tickets for our Summer Reading Chance baskets for every 100 minutes read.

We are also seeing huge success with our STEM-onade Stand, a weekly Take-and-Make project based on Science, Technology, Engineering, and/or Math. This week kids can pick up kits to make a Coffee Filter Chromatography. Past week projects have included a catapult and an Anglerfish light. By the end of the fourth week, 164 kits have left the building.

Programming is plentiful at the library.

Story Time takes place on Wednesdays. We meet at 10:15 A.M. in person with Mr. William to read an exciting picture book or two and work on a craft to help preschoolers discover the joy of reading! George, our giant stuffed monkey, will attend for children who want to practice their reading skills by reading to George!

Every Wednesday, kids in 3rd grade and up can come to the library for a new Take-and-Make craft from our S.T.E.M.onade Stand. These bags contain items to make a fun STEM inspired craft. Directions included. July 6 features a Coffee Filter Chromatography. July 13 features a cup and string telephone.

Join us on Thursday, July 7 at 1:00 P.M. to make a Nebula Jar. Create your own universe in a Mason jar. This program is for children in Kindergarten through 5th.

Make your own Mosquito Repellant Candle on Friday, July 8 at 11:00 A.M. Join us to learn how to make the candle that will keep away those annoying Mosquitos. This program is for adults and teens.

Computer Building Class takes place on Saturday, July 9 at 11:00 A.M. Families can have fun learning how to put together a computer. No experience necessary.

We invite families to join us on Monday, July 11 at 6:30 P.M. when we will make our own fossils using plaster of Paris.

The Adult Book Club meets #### on Tuesday, July 12 at 6:30 P.M. We are discussing The All-Girl Filling Station's Last Reunion by Fannie Flagg.

Books are available at the Front Desk.

We are having a Paracord Bracelet Workshop on Thursday, July 14 at 6:30 P.M. for the entire family. Using a series of knots, we will create those popular bracelets with the nylon roping.

Join us at the library for Science Demonstration with Ms. Faith and Ms. Holly on Friday, July 15 at 11:00 A.M. Our intrepid staff members will demonstrate a science experiment using items you have at home. This program is for kids in 1st through 5th grade.

Adults can beat the heat by coming in for a few rounds of Euchre on Friday, July 15 at 1:00 P.M. Cards and drinks provided.

Please register ahead of time so we can have plenty of supplies on hand.

4 popular colors for 2022

Home design trends come and go. The fleeting nature of such trends can make it hard for homeowners to commit to a particular style, especially if they want their home decor to stay as current as possible. Paint provides one way to stay current and refresh a home's interior. Paint trends change, but these colors are already making the rounds in 2022.

The Paper

• Very Peri: Very Peri is the Pantone® 2022 Color of the Year. A brand new shade of blue, Very Peri was designed to rekindle some of the qualities that the color blue represents while simultaneously complementing a modern perspective. The home design pros at HGTV recommend pairing Very Peri with neutrals like taupes and creams or deeper shades like navy or brown.

• Evergreen Fog: The paint experts at Sherwin-Williams note that this shade of green is symbolic of nature and a color associated with revitalization and growth. Those characteristics make it great for homeowners who are looking to create a new beginning with their home interiors, particularly in relaxing spaces like living rooms and bedrooms.

• Breezeway: Breezeway from Behr® is another popular color that provides a soft look. Breezeway is the Behr® Color of the Year for 2022 and is described as a silvery green shade with cool undertones. Behr® touts the versatility of Breezeway, which the company indicates inspires awe in bedrooms, living rooms or hallways. Breezeway pairs well with creamy white, taupe, softened black, and nuanced pink.

• Gilded Linen: Gilded Linen from Valspar® is ideal for homeowners who want a color to organize and connect spaces throughout their homes. Gilded Linen is a minimalist white that mixes well with natural elements like wood and greenery. The soft tone of Gilded Linen makes it suitable in a variety of rooms, which is one reason why it's so popular in homes with open floor plans.

What to know about outdoor living spaces

What was popular as recently as a decade ago may have lost some luster in the eyes of today's home buyers. Though that's historically been the case in regard to real estate, outdoor living rooms are one relatively recent home trend that figures to have a longer shelf life, especially in the aftermath of a global pandemic during which people were encouraged to stay home as much as possible.

Real estate professionals and organizations like the National Association of Home Builders note the popularity of outdoor living spaces among prospective home buyers, and how that popularity has grown in recent years. Outdoor living rooms not only appeal to potential buyers, they also serve as a means for current homeowners to get more out of their properties. Homeowners mulling outdoor living space projects should consider various factors before deciding to go ahead with a project. • Cost: The home renovation resource HomeAdvisor estimates that the average cost of an outdoor living space is around $7,600. That cost can easily go up depending on where homeowners live and the features they want to have in their outdoor living spaces. For example, including a built-in fire pit in an outdoor living space will cost more than purchasing a stand-alone fire pit that can be picked up and moved. But many homeowners feel a built-in fire pit makes an outdoor living space even more special. • Return on investment: Return on investment is another factor for homeowners to consider as they try to decide if they should install outdoor living spaces and how to design those areas. Much conflicting data about the ROI on outdoor kitchens can be found online, but many trusted real estate organizations report that such additions do not mesmerize prospective buyers. Data from the American Institute of Architects indicates that outdoor kitchens are routinely ranked among the least desirable home features, which means homeowners should not expect substantial ROI when selling their homes. But that built-in fire pit? Estimates from the National Association of Realtors suggest fire features recover around 67 percent of homeowners' initial investment. In Home trends come and go. addition, 83 percent of home- read a good book. In addition, owners surveyed by the NAR who had installed fire features said they had a greater desire to be home after completing the project.

• Space: An outdoor living space may only be as relaxing as the space allows. The proximity of neighbors may affect privacy levels, which can make it hard to enjoy movie night outdoors or curl up to quietly landscaping also may need to be addressed if drainage is an issue in the backyard. That can add to the cost, and drainage concerns may limit the materials homeowners can work with.

Outdoor living spaces are popular. Homeowners must consider various factors before deciding if such spaces are for them.

landscape on a budget

Homeowners can improve their landscapes without digging themselves into financial holes. These strategies can help anyone save some cash and still end up with attractive gardens and more. • Use stones or gravel for a walkway. Flagstone or individually purchased and spaced pavers and pea gravel can be used to create pathways. Soften the look with moss or other plants on the perimeter.

• Remove some lawn. Reduce the size of a lawn by putting in a mixed planting bed of perennials or ornamental grasses, or use landscape fabric and mulch.

• Look for free mulch. Municipal recycling centers may offer residents access to free mulch. Spread the mulch for an ornamental look or to insulate landscapes over winter and protect against weeds.

• Repurpose old items into planters. Old wheelbarrows, barrels, watering cans, and other items can be repurposed into container gardening vessels.

• Invest in plants that are easy to propagate. Perennials are the gardener's friend when it comes to saving money. These plants sprout anew each year, and many, such as sedum, catmint, ferns, hostas, and black-eyed Susans, can propagate by division.

• Shop end-of season sales. Garden centers may begin to make room for holiday items come the fall. Take advantage of reduced costs on remaining plants and landscape accessories during this time of year.

• Pool your resources. Homeowners planning on a big landscaping or revitalization project may want to speak with neighbors to see if they're interested in doing the same. Contractors guaranteed business from a few homes in the same neighborhood may be willing to negotiate lower prices for the volume of work on things like driveway repaving, deck- or fence-building, or installation of paver patios.

Some handy ideas can help homeowners transform landwithout spending too scapes much.

Residents Asked to Take Survey on Current Internet Access for Kankakee County Rural Broadband Expansion Project

Expanding rural access to reliable broadband internet is important to the Kankakee County Farm Bureau. If you are a Kankakee County resident, take a few minutes to submit some information to assist their broadband expansion planning and the future allocation of resources

Access to rural broadband is critical for farmers who move a lot of data and crunch a lot of numbers. Farmers who have broadband access can improve their bottom line and improve soil and water health.

Access to rural broadband is also critical for rural students learning from home, for people who work from their rural homes, and for rural tele-health and telemedicine. Rural broadband access is also beneficial to other rural businesses, rural municipalities, and public safety.

In an effort to deliver broadband service to the rural areas of the County, Kankakee County has been approved as a new partner in the Accelerate Illinois Broadband Infrastructure Planning Program. A portion of the Accelerate program includes collecting information regarding internet access, speed availability, affordability, and reliability across Kankakee 28.

County. It is paramount that Kankakee County residents tell them their current access and future needs.

A portion of this survey is a speed test that will allow them to better understand the needs of the community. Remember to take this survey using your local internet connection and not your cellular data. Access the survey by visiting the following link:

Summer Food Safety Tips

Food is an important part of many summer backyard activities. Don't let food-related illness ruin your fun.

Food safety boils down to five basic rules:

1) Keep hot food hot and cold food cold. 2) Keep everything in the cooking area clean.

3) Wash hands frequently.

4) Keep grills and utensils clean.

5) Properly handle leftovers.

Refrigerate cooked foods that are not served immediately. If food is left unrefrigerated longer than two hours, the chance of bacterial growth increases. Check your refrigerator to make sure it is at 41°F or less.

Prevent Bacteria from Getting into Food

Hands should always be thoroughly washed with soap and warm water before handling food and after touching raw food. Towels and wash cloths should be kept clean. Grill preparation areas and utensils should be washed with hot, soapy water between each step in food preparation. Avoid cross contamination by washing or using separate plates when transferring uncooked food onto the grill the meat, avoiding fat and bone. For poul-and from the grill to be served.

Proper Thawing and Cooking

Many warm-blooded animals, turkeys and other poultry, often harbor Salmonella and other organisms that can cause foodrelated illness. Purchased and packaged meats, too, can be contaminated with these organisms. Proper thawing and cooking are important to avoid these illnesses.

To avoid contamination, store all raw meat products on the bottom shelf or separate from other food products in your refrigerator, especially during the thawing process. This will help keep raw meat juices from contaminating other foods. Thaw food in a refrigerator where the temperature is no higher than 41°F. Cook fish, meat, and poultry completely without interrupting the cooking process; an interruption could allow bacteria to grow. Be sure that fish, hot dogs, and steaks are cooked to 145°F, pork, brats, and hamburger reaches the temperature of at least 155°F, and poultry reaches the temperature of 165°F or above. To check the temperature, use a meat thermometer. Insert the thermometer into the thickest part of try, insert it into the thick part of the thigh next to the body. Wash and rinse the thermometer between uses to prevent possible contamination.

Leftovers

The safe storage of leftovers is just as important as proper cooking. After the meal, immediately refrigerate leftovers in small shallow containers. Do not allow foods to sit several hours as this will provide time for the growth of disease-causing bacteria. Do not cool leftovers on the kitchen counter. Divide them into smaller portions so they will cool quicker, putting them in the refrigerator as soon as possible. Serve leftovers either very cold (directly from the refrigerator) or very hot (heated to 165°F or higher).

Young children, the elderly, pregnant women, and those who are ill or whose immune systems are compromised, should not eat raw or undercooked animal products unless they have consulted their physician.

For more information regarding food safety, contact the Iroquois County Public Health Department at 815-432-2483 or visit the ICPHD website, iroquoiscountyil.gov/offices/health-department.

Bug bites, poison ivy, minor burn? Virtual urgent care might be your best option this summer

Your toddler spent the day in the pool and now has a weird rash that's kept her up all night. You're feeling a familiar pain and you just know it's a urinary tract infection but you're leaving for vacation in the morning.

"It's a great feeling to be chosen to have your restaurant displayed on national TV. I just feel like it's a great accomplishment for our family. We've worked so hard for 30 years in this business. Being self-employed in the restaurant business is a very hard business, especially during Covid-19 and the way things are right now with the economy."

Ahmedi said she didn't know why CBS chose her restaurant.

But, if you've been inside, you know.

It could be the fire engine, the old school hostess stand, the gift shop with Rt. 66 memorabilia, the Rt. 66 sodas, the mural painted by Steve Connor, the honor of being Illinois Country Living Magazine's Top Restaurant in 2017, or being selected by the Best Things in Illinois as a Top 10 mom and pop restaurant and a Top 10 place to eat fried chicken.

It doesn't matter which of these options is the single reason, all of them are bringing in CBS cameras for four hours in the near future.

CBS hasn't set a date to come to Dwight but after a questionnaire is filled out and the TV schedule is inked instead of penned, Old Rt. 66 Family Restaurant will be featured in millions of households across the country.

Note: An update of the filming and the airing of the TV show will be published upon notification.

Buzz the Gut a Success! Dwight Village Board Meets

by Mark Boma

The Dwight Village Board of Trustees met Monday June 27 and navigated through a light agenda.

In Open Forum, Randy Irvin, representing the Dwight Economic Alliance, reported the Buzz The Gut event on June 25 was a success despite the weather conditions that morning. The afternoon gave way to a beautiful evening and more than 65 vehicles were registered. Mayor Paul Johnson commended the DEA for its efforts as he had multiple residents give him positive feedback on the vintage car show. In addition a fundraising campaign is underway to offset the cost of the 4th of July fireworks display. Residents can donate $25 and receive a yard sign showing their support.

The Services, Health and Safety Committee met before the regular meeting and presented a recommendation for hiring of a new EMT. Gabrielle Kelly, in turn, was hired as part-time EMS Basic, with one year probation, pending accreditation by the Morris Hospital system. Director of Public Works, Cory Scoles, informed the Board that water main installation on St. Louis would soon be underway.

The Dwight Economic Alliance request to allow golf carts on public streets during the Fourth of July Celebration was approved.

In Old Business, discussion surrounded the potential installation of scoreboards on the little league ballfields and the need to locate them so fences could be repositioned if needed. This would give different leagues flexibility in scheduling tournaments and allowing play on more than one field.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Johnson, Trustees Randy Irvin, Marla Kinkade, Jenny Johnson, and Justin Eggenberger. Absent were Pete Meister and Chuck Butterbrodt. The next regular meeting will be on July 11 at 6:30 in the basement of the Public Services Complex. The public is encouraged to attend.
