The Dwight football team is on the move Trojans Leave VVC to Help Create the Chicago Prairie Football League

by Brandon LaChance

The Dwight football team had some long road trips this season as a member of the Vermillion Valley North Conference.

Instead of continuing to rack up miles, gas charges, and the hours on a bus, Dwight has officially left the Vermillion after two years and will be one of the eight founding teams of the newly formed Chicago Prairie Football League for the 2023-24 school year.

"The dynamics, the logistics, and location-wise, this is going to be better for us," said Cathy Ferguson, the Dwight athletic director. "For an example, we had three crossover games this year that were two hours...one way. The distance is part of it. This way, the conference opponents are up and down I-55. We are pretty much centrally located with the schools."

"I think it's going to be a good change. These schools are more balanced with what we're looking for number wise. Even though a couple of the schools are bigger schools, they don't have the football numbers that warrant them playing larger schools. I think it's going to work out well. We're pretty happy with it."

Joining Dwight in the Chicago Prairie Football

League are Seneca, Ottawa Marquette, St. Bede, Westmont, Walther Christian, Ridgewood, and Elmwood Park.

Although Dwight is joining a new football conference, the Trojans will remain in the Tri-County Conference for all other sports.

Seneca, Marquette, and St. Bede are also in the Tri-County Conference.

"I love that we're still in the same conference as Seneca, our biggest rival. I love it. I love it," Ferguson said. "Once we left the Sangamon Valley Conference and joined the Tri-County Conference, four of these schools are in the same conference. It's good for us. We will see them in basketball, volleyball, baseball, and other sports. We're very pleased with the change."

Dwight joined the Vermillion Valley North Conference and the Tri-County Conference for the 2021-22 school year after the Sangamon Valley Conference disbanded in June of 2021.

Before Sangamon, the Trojans were in the Interstate 8 Conference from 1979-2014.

Helping soldiers smile SOS packages help those protecting USA

by Brandon LaChance

When Major 0-4 Lindsay Leskanich sees a package with her name on it, a smile instantly settles on her face.

She knows it's from home. From the Dwight community.

From Support Our Soldiers (SOS).

"When I was deployed, it was awesome to see the SOS boxes. It's so incredible," said Major Leskanich, who is a Dwight native and graduated from Dwight Township High School in 2001. "I haven't seen any other organization like them. They put so much heart into what they do. Those boxes mean so much."

"It doesn't matter if you're deployed or stateside. Every holiday you get something and it's so cool because it just speaks so much about the community and how much people care. I can't tell them how much I appreciate the community and SOS. They include people beyond them. I still have a note that a student sent me last Christmas. It was so cool."

"It's those little things that I think is so cool. SOS takes the time to involve everyone. I've been receiving packages since Day 1, as soon as I enrolled."

The packages sent by Carol Dippon, Annette Riegel, and Marcia Drach are delivered on Christmas, Easter, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Memorial Day, and the Fourth of July.

For some, like Leskanich, the packages have followed her all over the world.

The Major joined the Army Reserves in December 2003, went to basic training in 2004, was commissioned as an officer in May 2007, and went to ROTC at Eastern Illinois University while playing rugby before accomplishing her service duties all over the states and other countries.

"I've always been interested in the military. Both of my grandfathers served in the Korean War, but no one else in my family was in the military at the time," said Leskanich. "I went to Northern Illinois University for two years and I transferred to Eastern Illinois University. That's where I started playing rugby. I wanted to check out the military."

"I talked to a recruiter and called my parents on a Friday. I said, 'Monday, I'm going to sign up.' My plan was to sign up for the Reserves, do basic training, and start drilling with a unit in Terre Haute, Ind., but I also wanted to complete my college degree.

"When I met the recruiter, he introduced me to the ROTC (Reserve Officer's Training Corps) leadership at Eastern. I signed up for both simultaneously. I had no idea that I was going to stay in this long, but the Army has been good to me."

After going to school for 24 credit hours because she had to be a full-time EIU student to play rugby and a full-time nursing student at the satellite school, Lakeview College of Nursing, to continue her ROTC scholarship, she was prepared for her missions as an Army psychiatric nurse practitioner.

She was first stationed in Colorado in 2007, deployed to Baghdad, Iraq from Dec. 2008-June 2009 as an ICU and ER nurse, was at Fort Carson in Colorado, and went on a 6-month travel duty assignment at Bethesda, Maryland at the National Intrepid Center of Excellence where she was one of three nurses and one of 15 health-care workers.

Leskanich then went to the Uniform Services University in Washington D.C. for the Psychiatric Nurse Practitioner Program. She graduated in 2015 with her doctorate and took on a residency at Joint Base Lewis-McChord near Tacoma, Washington.

She spent time at Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri, deployed to Kuwait, Northern Iraq, and Syria, came back to the states at Fort Bragg for three years, and is currently stationed at Fort Gordon in Augusta, GA as the Chief of Inpatient Psychiatry and Complication Services.

"It's been interesting. I've been a few places. I enjoy the job. I like working with service members. I like what the Army is trying to do with behavioral health," Leskanich said. "Right now, working inpatient, we are kind of responsive. People become acutely ill, they come see us, and we help get them set up for care afterwards. We try to do collaborative practice after the fact."

"One of the new initiatives the Army is trying to do is imbed our psychiatric nurse practitioner in training environments. One of the next positions I'm interested in is where we go to the AIT and basic training units to try to get ahead of things and have it more psychiatric education minded.

"If we can help get the skills and help work with some folks earlier to maybe prevent things from getting to the point where folks need acute hospitalizations. While there are programs like this on the civilian side, I enjoy working with this population. I think people come to the military for different reasons, but from a behavior health perspective, I see people trying to get away from something or trying to find their own identity."

Leskanich said she is thankful for her opportunity to help people improve their lives. She realizes helping one soldier advance from young, adolescent behavior to an adult in the service doesn't affect one person, but many, as the person will then help their family, friends, and everyone around them as better people help make better people.

The Major doesn't ask for anything, but when the SOS packages come, they help remind her that she is doing what she is supposed to be doing and people appreciate her efforts. At the same time, she is thankful for the smiles SOS gifts bring to her.

As she put it, Leskanich might not know where she'll be next, but she knows the mail will follow her.

"I'm taking one duty station at a time and I'm happy SOS packages follow me," Leskanich said.

Kankakee Cty. Circuit Clerk, State's Attorney Offer Fine Amnesty Through November 23

If you have unpaid fines from a criminal or traffic case in Kankakee County, now through November 23 is your lucky opportunity.

Circuit Clerk Sandi Cianci and State's Attorney Jim Rowe have teamed up to offer a one-time fine amnesty period to thousands who have been dogged for years by outstanding fines. The goal of this amnesty program is to collect a backlog of unpaid debt owed to the County, while putting individuals in a position to pay their fines and, in many instances, restore their driving privileges.

Under the amnesty program, participants will not have to pay collection fees or interest, which can inflate debts by as much as 30% or more, if they pay their original debt between now and November 23 in the Circuit Clerk's Office. With interest and collection fees, an unpaid traffic ticket or criminal fine can quickly grow - by 30% after 45 days and then another 9% per annum thereafter - resulting in tax intercepts, collection lawsuits, license suspension and worse. On average, a driver who received court supervision for a speeding ticket but was unable to pay the fine within 45 days will now eliminate upwards of $100 in collection fees and interest with this amnesty program - those with higher fines or multiple cases will save even more.

"It is easy to fall behind - this amnesty program hopes to give people a chance to catch up. Now is the time for anyone with a delinquent debt to come forward and resolve their court matters, because now you have the opportunity to save a lot of money, hundreds of dollars in some cases," said Circuit Clerk Cianci. "This is about helping people while still holding them accountable for the fines imposed by the court - my staff and I are happy to be able to offer this one-time program."

"Relatively small infractions now cost hundreds of dollars in fines, and if they're not paid on time the system tacks on penalties that cost hundreds more. When folks must choose between paying rent or paying a traffic ticket that could be more than 30 times their hourly wage, the choice becomes clear. We're providing amnesty so people can get their fines paid, get their license back and move on with their lives," said Rowe.

Here is how it works:
 1. Participants will be given the option to pay the original amount of their fine in any criminal or traffic case, eliminating any collection fees or interest, between now and November 23. A whole ticket must be paid in full - partial payments will not be eligible for the amnesty program. Call 815-936-5728 or 815-936-5733 for the details.

a. The ticket must be paid in person at the Circuit Clerk's Office, Collection Department, located in room 108 on the first floor of the Kankakee County Courthouse, with cash, cashier's check, money order, or credit card.

2. After November 23, unpaid tickets and fines will again be subject to the 30% collection fee plus 9% per annum interest. Even if you have multiple unpaid tickets and can only afford to pay one ticket at this time, it is to your advantage to eliminate the collection costs and interest by paying off as many tickets as you can prior to November 23.

 MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING
Here's Your 'Recession Survival' Checklist
 It's unfortunate, but recessions are a fairly normal part of the economic landscape. When a recession occurs, how might you be affected? The answer depends on your individual situation, but regardless of your circumstances, you might want to consider the items in this recession survival checklist:
Assess your income stability. If your employment remains steady, you may not have to do anything different during a recession. But if you think your income could be threatened or disrupted, you might want to consider joining the "gig economy" or looking for freelance or consulting opportunities.
Review your spending. Look for ways to trim your spending, such as canceling subscription services you don't use, eating out less often, and so on.
Pay down your debts. Try to reduce your debts, especially those with high interest rates.
Plan your emergency fund. If you haven't already built one, try to create an emergency fund containing three to six months' worth of living expenses, with the money kept in a liquid account.
Review your protection plan. If your health or life insurance is tied to your work, a change in your employment status could jeopardize this coverage. Review all your options for replacing these types of protection. Also, look for ways to lower premiums on home or auto insurance, without significantly sacrificing coverage, to free up money that could be used for health/life insurance.
Keep your long-term goals in mind. Even if you adjust your portfolio during times of volatility, don't lose sight of your long-term goals. Trying to "outsmart" the market with short-term strategies can often lead to missteps and missed opportunities.
Don't stop investing. If you can afford it, try to continue investing. Coming out of a recession, stock prices tend to bottom out and then rebound, so if you had headed to the investment "sidelines," you would have missed the opportunity to benefit from a market rally.
Revisit your performance expectations. During a bear market, you will constantly be reminded of the decline of a particular market index, such as the S&P 500 or the Dow Jones Industrial Average. But instead of focusing on these short-term numbers, look instead at the long-term performance of your portfolio to determine if you're still on track toward meeting your goals.
Assess your risk tolerance. If you find yourself worrying excessively about declines in your investment statements, you may want to reevaluate your tolerance for risk. One's risk tolerance can change over time - and it's important you feel comfortable with the amount of risk you take when investing.
Keep diversifying. Diversification is always important for investors - by having a mix of stocks, mutual funds and bonds, you can reduce the impact of market volatility on your portfolio. To cite one example: Higher-quality bonds, such as Treasuries, often move in the opposite direction of stocks, so the presence of these bonds in your portfolio, if appropriate for your goals, can be valuable when market conditions are worsening. (Keep in mind, though, that diversification cannot guarantee profits or protect against all losses in a declining market.)
 A recession accompanied by a bear market is not pleasant. But by taking the appropriate steps, you can boost your chances of getting through a difficult period and staying on track toward your important financial goals.

THIRTY-THREE MEMBERS of the Seneca FFA attended the 95th National FFA Convention in Indianapolis, Indiana. In addition to the excitement of the convention sessions and the career and educational opportunities exposed in the Career Expo, members toured many sites including the National FFA Center.

Seneca FFA Attends National Convention

The last week of October saw 33 Seneca FFA members, three advisors, and superintendent Dan Stecken in Indianapolis for the 2022 National FFA Convention and Expo. They were part of an audience of 70,000 FFA members nationwide who were registered for this year's convention. Convention sessions were held at Lucas Oil Stadium in downtown Indianapolis and the huge agricultural Career Expo was held at the convention center. In addition to the many recognitions presented, members listened to the retiring address of the National FFA officers and other guest speakers.

The Seneca FFA was recognized on stage as a 3-Star chapter and Garrett Granby was recognized for receiving the American FFA Degree. The American Degree is the highest level of degree an FFA member can receive and is the culmination of five years of dedication.

Seneca FFA member, Tynan Justice, was one of 70 members that comprised the very exclusive National FFA Band. The "mail order band" came together for the first time on the previous Saturday and melded into a premier unit in just two days.

The Agronomy Career Development Team of Carther Thomas, Erin Kenney, Kenny Daggett, and Addison Steigler placed in the silver division. Members are required to complete a written exam, identify crops, weeds, diseases, insects, and seeds. They were also asked to grade grain, develop a production plan for a crop and present it to judges, and discuss current agronomic issues.

The Nursery/Landscape CDE team of Calvin Maierhofer, Ashlin Jackson, Emma Smith, and Chris Poyner placed a school record high of third. Maierhofer was the seventh highest individual in the country.

FFA members visited the National FFA Center, the Indianapolis Speedway Museum and facilities, the Indiana State Museum, the Indianapolis Zoo and Botanical Gardens, the NCAA Hall of Fame, and Kelsay Farms. A private grounds tour of Victory Field, the triple-A stadium in Indy, was conducted to expose members to careers in turf and sports management. The group also attended the "World's Toughest Rodeo" at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

Morris Hospital Auxiliary Golf Outing Nets $49,000 for Patient Transportation, Lifeline Services

Once again, friends of Morris Hospital & Healthcare Centers came out in full force in support of the Patient Transportation and Lifeline programs by participating in the Morris Hospital Auxiliary's annual Golf Outing September 26. Net proceeds are over $49,000, making this year's golf outing a very successful event according to Morris Hospital Auxiliary & Foundation Officer Hannah Wehrle.

"We are so excited about this year's results," said Wehrle. "The proceeds will help the Auxiliary and Foundation cover the cost for a new Patient Transportation bus next year."

"I believe the success of the event speaks to the amazing generosity of our community and their understanding of our incredible Patient Transportation and Lifeline programs that have become an integral part of our community over the past 20 years," adds Wehrle. "This year's event was also extra special because it was the first time since 2019 that we were able to come together in person. Seeing everyone was absolutely wonderful."

A total of 146 golfers took part in the day. Many others supported the cause by purchasing raffle tickets, a chance in the golf ball drop, or a carry out meal.

Tristan Chambers Competes in Oregon Sectional

DTHS/GSW Trojan cross country runner Tristan Chambers competed in the Oregon sectional meet October 29, finishing 39th out of 152 runners with a 5K personal best of 18:09.

The fastest 10 individual runners who are on teams (top six qualify) that don't advance to state also qualify to race at the state meet. Tristan was 35 seconds behind the final individual qualifier.

"In just his second season running cross country, he had an outstanding season," said head coach Larry Lane.

In nine of his 12 races, Chambers received an award and never finished lower than 17th in 10 of his races. He set personal bests in the other two events, which were the most competitive of his season. On every course he competed on in 2021 and 2022, his times improved by an average of over 1:30.

SENECA CROSS COUNTRY

Saturday, November 5 Seneca at State

Seneca's cross country season came to a close November 5 at the IHSA State meet at Detweiller Park in Peoria. They battled not only the best runners in the state, but also the extreme weather that came with it.

Thunderstorms and high wind warnings, a downpour, and lots of mud made the state meet even more memorable.

Evelyn O'Connor finished 12th in class 1A, making her an All-State runner. The girls finished 25th overall. Austin Aldridge finished 80th in the boys race.

THE DWIGHT LADY TROJANS VOLLEYBALL SQUAD ended their season with an awards night. Head Coach Steven Lopez named Maya Green the Most Improved Player, while Kassy Kodat was given Most Valuable Player honors.

Baseball Romanticism

I wrote about baseball last week, but it's my column so I'm going to write about baseball again! Even in the midst of basketball, football and hockey going on at the same time, baseball still has this nice niche that is very much needed today.

There's a phrase on the internet, and in life, and it's "how can you not be romantic about ____?" and it's usually something fairly trivial, but also the statement is very correct. In this case, that thing that it's difficult not to be romantic about, is baseball.

A few examples of this shined through in just the last few innings of game 6 of the world series, in which the Astros ultimately won, winning the series 4 games to 2.

The first one was Kyle Schwarber hitting a homerun to make it 1-0 in favor of the Phillies. It was a momentous homerun at the time, late in the game, and looked like it might've been the spark for the Phillies to push it to game 7. He may have hit the homerun for the Phillies but I can guarantee any Cubs, Red Sox, or Nationals fan instantly thought of big homeruns Schwarber hit for their respective teams, and in some ways that homerun was much bigger than just a Phillies home run. It evoked emotion in a myriad of people for different reasons.

Then, almost as quickly as that happened, Yordan Alvarez hit a 3 run homerun to turn the game around and put the Astros ahead and pushed them to the win and the world series title. The swings in emotions from both sides in such a short period of time is something that only happens the way it does in baseball. So much emotion in just little game time played.

While the Astros were largely the villains in this series, having Dusty Baker at the helm made even some of the biggest of anti-Astro fans find a spot in their heart to be happy that he finally got over the hump. Which leads me again to a probably overused, but it's over used because it's an accurate, phrase, "How can you not be romantic about baseball?"

Celebrating Our Veterans

The Roles of the Various Branches of the U.S. Military

Each November, people across the United States and its territories honor the brave men and women who serve and have served in the various branches of the country's military. Veterans Day is observed annually every November 11 and honors the service of all U.S. military veterans. The day should not be confused with Memorial Day, which is celebrated each year in May and honors all military personnel who have died in service.

Veterans Day is a great time for anyone to learn more about the various branches of the U.S. military.

Army
The U.S. Department of Defense notes that the Army is the largest and oldest service in the country's military. The Army provides the ground forces that protect the United States. Members of the Army are trained to defeat enemy ground forces and to seize and control enemy lands and resources. Army also are trained to control and interact with the general population in countries where members are stationed.

Marine Corps.
It might surprise some to learn that the Marine Corps is a component of the Department of the Navy. That's one reason why it maintains amphibious and ground units for contingency and combat operations. The Marine Corps is divided into four groups: the operating forces that fight; the headquarters for leadership; the supporting establishment that provides logistical support; and the Marine Corps Reserve.

Navy
The Navy protects America at sea. Despite its massive land mass, the United States is a maritime nation, which underscores how important a strong Navy is to the safety of the country and its residents. The Navy works alongside American allies and partners to keep the seas open and free.

Air Force
The Air Force has five core missions: air superiority; global strike; rapid global mobility; intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance; and command and control. The Air Force defends the country and its residents in air, space and cyberspace and is capable of delivering forces anywhere in the world within hours.

Space Force
The existence of the Space Force may come as a surprise to many Americans. Organized under the Department of the Air Force and established in 2019, this branch of the military organizes, trains and equips space forces in order to protect the interest of America and its allies in space.

Coast Guard
During peacetime, the Coast Guard is part of the Department of Homeland Security. In times of war, it operates under the Navy. The Coast Guard provides law and maritime safety enforcement as well as environmental protection. In addition to promoting national security, border security and economic prosperity in the maritime environment, the Coast Guard saves those in peril on the sea.

National Guard
The National Guard is comprised of the Army National Guard and the Air National Guard. The National Guard has a diverse array of responsibilities that range from supporting combat missions to responding during domestic emergencies to assisting in humanitarian efforts and more.

The U.S. military is made up of various branches, each with its own unique missions and responsibilities. Veterans Day marks the perfect occasion to celebrate the many individuals who have served and continue to serve in the U.S. military.

Charities Whose Missions Support Veterans, Active Military and Their Families

The support Americans have for their armed forces is evident in how much they donate each year to charities with military-related missions. According to Charity Navigator, Americans donate more than $2.5 billion annually to charities with missions dedicated to the military.

Individuals who want to donate to a charitable organization with a military-related mission may not know where to start, and that can be daunting given the number of organizations that fit that criteria. Charity Navigator indicates there are more than 40,000 American charities with military-related missions, which underscores how difficult it can be to find one to support. Thankfully, Charity Navigator, which has provided donors with free access to data, tools and resources to guide their philanthropic decision-making since 2001, has curated a list of highly rated organizations that provide a variety of services to military members and their families. The following is a brief rundown of that list that can serve as a solid foundation for prospective donors. The full list can be found at charitynavigator.org.

Grundy County to Launch 'Operation Green Light' in Support of Local Veterans

In advance of the upcoming Veterans Day holiday, Grundy County announced that county buildings would be illuminated green November 7-13 as part of Operation Green Light, a new national collaborative initiative of the National Association of Counties (NACo) to support military veterans, as well as raise awareness about the unique challenges faced by many veterans and the resources that are available at the county, state, and federal level to assist veterans and their families.

The new national collaborative is spearheaded by the National Association of Counties and the National Association of County Veteran Service Officers, building upon the successful efforts of the New York State Association of Counties and the NYS County Veteran Service Officers' Association in 2021.

"Since the tragedy of September 11, 2001, our nation's voluntary military force members, and their families, have made immense sacrifices for our safety and security over a two-decade period," said Ken Buck, Superintendent of the Grundy County Veterans Assistance Commission. "Similar to the sacrifices of previous generations of our armed forces, this service to country also often results in significant stress to many of the veterans who served in times of war and conflict. We want to make sure our veterans and their families know that their service mattered, that we are grateful for their sacrifices, and that it is now our turn to make sure they are served by their county government and our community."

In addition to lighting county buildings, residents and businesses are encouraged to participate by simply changing one light bulb in their house to a green bulb. This can be an exterior light that neighbors and passersby see, or an interior light that sparks a conversation with friends.

By shining a green light, we let veterans know that they are seen, appreciated, and supported. While this event is focused around the week of Veterans Day (November 7-13), participants are encouraged to continue shining the light year-round. Residents can share their participation on social media using the hashtag #OperationGreenLight.

"Operation Green Light is a simple way to express our collective appreciation for the public service of our veterans," said NACo President Denise Winfrey. "We encourage everyone to join us in displaying a green light for our veterans and to also reflect on how we, as a nation and at the county level, assist our military service personnel back into civilian life upon completion of their service to our country."

Contact the Grundy County VAC at vac@grundycountyil.gov or 815-941-3152 for more information about benefits available to veterans.

Celebrating Our Veterans

Did You Know?

Veterans Day in the United States and Remembrance Day in Canada are celebrated annually in November to honor the many individuals who have served in each country's military. That figure is a sizable one in the United States, as data from the Department of Veterans Affairs indicates there were around 19 million U.S. military veterans in 2021. Population estimates indicate that Canada has a little more than one-tenth the total population of its immediate neighbor to the south, so the number of living Canadian veterans is significantly smaller than it is in the U.S. However, analysis of Veterans Affairs Canada data estimates there were just under 618,000 veterans of Canada's military in 2021.

Carol Dippon/VFW Auxiliary will give an Operation SOS update, with a guest speaker to follow – Ed Voss, U.S. Army (Retired), of the American Legion.

How to Show Your Support for Veterans

Supporting veterans is a worthy endeavor at any time of year, though such efforts tend to be more prominent in November. Veterans Day is celebrated annually on November 11 in honor of the millions of individuals across the United States who are military veterans. The day coincides with holidays such as Armistice Day and Remembrance Day, which are celebrated in other countries and also honor military veterans.

There's no denying that veterans need the support of the people whose freedoms they protect. According to a 2021 study from researchers at Brown University's Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs, the percentage of veterans with disabilities is significantly higher among post-9/11 veterans (40 percent) than it was with veterans from previous eras (25 percent for Gulf War I veterans and 13 percent for veterans of previous wars). Veterans can benefit from support legislated by elected officials in Washington, D.C., but there's also many things ordinary citizens can do to show how much they appreciate the sacrifices veterans and their families have made and will make in the years to come.

• Visit wounded veterans.

The United States Census Bureau reports that more than one-third of the nearly 3.8 million men and women who have served in the U.S. Armed Forces since September 2001 have a service-connected disability. Many of these individuals are fighting to overcome physical injuries sustained while on active duty. Individuals who want to show their support for veterans can contact their local VA facility to arrange a visit to wounded veterans. Such visits can lift veterans' spirits and reassure them that their sacrifices are both acknowledged and appreciated.

• Support legislation that supports veterans. Though it might seem like a no-brainer, legislation to support veterans often faces an uphill battle to get passed. By supporting legislation that ensures veterans get the support they need, individuals can send a message to veterans that they haven't been forgotten and that the very democratic principles they fought to protect are alive and well. Citizens can write letters to their elected officials, urging them to support veteran-friendly legislation, and raise awareness of bills and laws through social media.

• Help raise awareness about homeless veterans.

the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development estimates that approximately 40,000 veterans are homeless on any given night. But that figure doesn't tell the whole story, as the National Coalition for Homeless Veterans notes that, over the course of a year, roughly twice that many veterans experience homelessness. The NCHV believes that programs to assist homeless veterans should focus on helping them reach a point where they can obtain and sustain gainful employment. In addition, the NCHV feels that the most effective programs are community-based, nonprofit, "veterans helping veterans" groups. Individuals can offer their support to such groups through financial donations or other means so they can continue to ensure no veteran sleeps on the street.

Veterans Day is a time to show veterans that their service and sacrifices are not taken for granted. Visiting wounded veterans and supporting efforts to ensure veterans get what they need to live full, healthy and happy lives is a great way to send the message that veterans are appreciated.

Gas Prices For This Week

Despite fewer U.S. drivers fueling up, the national average pump price rose four cents over the past week to hit $3.80. Rising oil prices fueled by worries over Russian oil production cuts have renewed concerns about global supplies. But the rise could be short-lived as reports of new Covid-19 restrictions in China signal a potential economic slowdown for the world's top oil-consuming nation. Tighter supply and fluctuating oil prices have put upward pressure on gasoline prices. Pump prices could increase if supply remains tight alongside rising oil prices. Today's national average of $3.80 is nine cents less than a month ago and 38 cents more than a year ago.

Pet of the Week

I might not be the major player in the Scooby-Doo gang, but I do play a major role in finding out who stole all the tuna. I did my own investigation and found that Beef Cake is not who he says he is. He is actually (rips off mask) Mr. Buck, the dog from the Main Dog Room. Mr. Buck stares at Hot Dog Water and says, "I would have gotten away with it if it wasn't for you meddling cat. I'm Hot Dog Water and I might be an extra character but when it comes down to it, I am everything I need to be. I'm smart, playful, loving, and can hold up to any challenge you give this 3-year-old gal. Scooby, and his friends better watch out!!"

Holidays in Historic Riverview Christmas House Walk December 4

Kankakee's Riverview Historic District will once again feature five homes, including Frank Lloyd Wright's first Prairie-Style house, during its annual Holidays in Historic Riverview Christmas House Walk Sunday, December 4, from 11:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. Funds raised will continue to support neighborhood events, promotion, and improvements. Tickets are available in advance for a fee. Credit card orders can be placed online at riverviewhistoricdistrict.org. Day-of-the-event ticket prices increase. The tour begins at the Trolley Barn, next to the Railroad Depot in downtown Kankakee, 197 South East Avenue. Riverview is a nationally-designated historic district comprised of approximately 160 unique homes built between 1890 and 1950. Each home is architecturally distinct from the other. Mature oak and maple trees line the streets to give a cozy, boulevard feeling from the tree canopy. The neighborhood is set along the Kankakee River with sweeping river views from Cobb Park.

For more information, visit the website or contact June Boisvert at boisvertjune@gmail.com. Tickets are on sale at these Kankakee-area merchants: Busse & Rieck; Madame St. Vintage; The Flower Shoppe; Moon Cookie Gallery; Kankakee County Museum; Tholen's Garden Center; Ba Da Bloom Flower Shoppe; and Joy's Hallmark.

Gardner Area Band, Pantherettes Spiritline Earn Awards

ful fall marching season – winning every award in their division and beating bands in the division above them.

Auxiliary with a 9.8 out of 10. The Horn Line was rated the second best overall group out of every band at the parade with a 9.

The Drum Line took fourth place overall.

There were 17 bands in the parade.

Dwight Lions Club Hosts Breakfast, Receives Donation

The Dwight Lions Club held their twice-a-year pancake, sausage, biscuits and gravy breakfast November 6, which was well attended, with good food served and eaten.

The Lions wish to publicly thank Brian Perschnick for donating his winning 50/50 raffle prize of $222 back to the Lions Club for their funding of new children's playground equipment at Lions Lake.

Usually they would show a picture of the person donating the funds, but when they called Brian to notify him of his winnings, he immediately said to keep it for the kids.
